OFFICERS CHASE HORSE THIEVES

Case of Brazen Effrontery on the Part of Some Hard Citizens of Dubois.

NOTORIOUS COLLIER BOYS.

Seal Twenty Head of Horses and Drive Through St. Anthony in Day Time—Dan in Jail.

Special Correspondence.

ST. ANTHONY, Ida., June 7.—To date no news has been received of the Collier brothers, alleged horse thieves, who are being chased by a posse of armed citizens on horseback.

These individuals have been unattractive reputations for years in the vicinity of Dubois and on Sunday they capped the climax by audaciously rounding up about 20 good horses and proceeding to drive them into the mountains west of the Jackson Hole country. The men drove this band through the streets of St. Anthony and at the time several citizens remarked that they believed the animals had been stolen, as the men have long been suspected of such business. However, they were so brazen regarding the whole performance that they were not molested. About noon the thieves placed the horses in the railroad stock yards and stabled them. One man, Frank Collier and another man eventually drove the horses out of town while Dan came upon and circled among the citizens, apparently on the lookout for a sign of a possible posse.

Two hours after Dan had followed the companions a telephone message was received from Dubois from the sheriff that the men were horse thieves and must be headed off at any cost and held until he arrived to take a hand.

As it was Sunday and there were no deputy sheriffs in the office City Marshal Buchanan and Joseph Menough were quickly sworn in as special officers and in company with the two deputy sheriffs they started after the gang.

As the chase started a heavy fall of rain occurred which obliterated the tracks, consequently time was lost in trying the chase kept on at Bridal geyser, 35 miles southeast of this place, the thieves abandoned 10 of the horses which were recovered.

Dan Collier was captured shortly after leaving St. Anthony, but the other men are still at large with good prospects of getting away for the time being.

It is believed that the balance of the stolen animals have been left in the vicinity of some of the most interesting places in the state, and the thieves rode on to the Jackson Hole country.

VOTE ON BONDING CAREY SCHOOL DISTRICT LOST.

Special Correspondence.

CAREY, Idaho, June 6.—At the annual meeting for the school district of this place to elect one trustee for three years, to vote on a special tax and also to consider whether to bond the district and build a new schoolhouse or not, a special tax of one and a half cents per hundred was voted yes. Jos P. Cooper was elected trustee in place of John Adams, retiring, for three-year term. The vote on bonding the district was lost by one vote only in majority. The meeting was the largest and most interesting school session ever held in Carey. It is the intention of the trustees to build a schoolhouse in the southern end of the district to accommodate those who have so far to go to school.

Heavy rains have prevailed during the last three days, saving much labor in planting and the people generally are jubilant. Considerable new snow has fallen in the mountains. The sowed grain is in good shape and hay is making a rapid growth.

A meeting for all interested residents is called for tonight to elect committees to arrange for celebrating the Fourth of July. Carey people have always shown remarkable zeal and patriotism in these occasions.

J. W. Farnsworth, of Mt. Pleasant, Idaho, has just moved up here, with a large family and will make his home here, having bought the ranch of Wm. C. Pliggen.

Mrs. Ann Smith reached home here from New Zealand yesterday. She left for the Orient last January, but was from the time of her arrival in New Zealand, which was the reason for her early return home.

Large loads of wool pass through this place daily, being hauled from the mountains to the railroad.

WEATHER REPORT FOR LAST WEEK IN IDAHO.

THE climatological service of the United States weather bureau reports the following summary for Idaho during the week ending June 4:

The week opened with cool weather, and the mean temperature was considerably below the normal for the week, the average daily deficiency in some sections having been 11 degrees or more; however, though the nocturnal temperature in a few localities was sufficiently low on several dates to permit the formation of frost, the week was not characterized by extremely low minimum temperatures, so much as by low maximum temperatures from day to day; in favored localities the temperature reached 70 degrees or above on the 1st and 2nd of June, but on other days the maximum temperature ranged generally between 50 degrees and 60 degrees. The weather was mostly cloudy except on June 1 and 2, which were generally clear, and the heavy rains of the previous week continued over most of the state till May 20, in many localities the rain is reported to have been the heaviest ever known at this season. Some rain fell on Sunday, the 4th of June, but it is believed that this was light in most places, some scattered showers are reported. During the rainy period some of the higher mountains, particularly the Sawtooth range, received a heavy coating of snow, adding to the large supply that remained from winter. The fall in some instances having amounted to 18 inches. Streams are carrying a good flow of water, but most of this water is from rain, as the weather has been too cool to permit a considerable melting of mountain snow. The winds were mostly light and variable, though in some eastern districts a strong south wind is reported to have prevailed during the period of precipitation.

PROSPECTS AT REXBURG WERE NEVER ANY BETTER

Special Correspondence.

REXBURG, Ida., June 7.—After two weeks of almost steady rain, the sun is again shining and the mud is fast disappearing.

The crop prospect was never better. It is reported that on the farm on the bench south of town, the grain is a foot high and already in the boot. The beets are growing nicely, but with the heavy rains there is a danger of rotting.

As it is Sunday and there were no deputy sheriffs in the office City Marshal Buchanan and Joseph Menough were quickly sworn in as special officers and in company with the two deputy sheriffs they started after the gang.

As the chase started a heavy fall of rain occurred which obliterated the tracks, consequently time was lost in trying the chase kept on at Bridal geyser, 35 miles southeast of this place, the thieves abandoned 10 of the horses which were recovered.

FRANKLIN CITIZENS HAVE WATER TO SPARE.

Special Correspondence.

FRANKLIN, Ida., June 7.—In the face of the prevailing rains and the fact that nearly every year this section is visited by a frost as late as June 12 people here are somewhat anxious regarding the outlook for crops, fruit and garden produce. As it is the crops are well advanced although on some low spots the grain is under water and will be damaged materially. This also holds in regard to beets in the low lands.

Indicative of what had been accomplished by the citizens of Franklin during the past few years at the last meeting held here the bishop presented to the congregation a synopsis of the growth of this place and the improvement that had been instituted. After praising the ability of the people of this settlement he went on to review what had been accomplished. Among the improvements mentioned was the remodeling of the meetinghouse which included new floors, seats, windows and a tower. There is the new opera house which is considered by traveling companies to be one of the best of its kind in the state. The new fence around the public square and the new city hall and the waterworks system installed, one and all received notice.

On Monday an unusual occurrence for this peaceful settlement occurred. Three young men who had been celebrating attempted to forcibly enter the telephone headquarters in a boisterous manner. The sequel was that they appeared before Thomas Durant, judge of the court, and were fined sums ranging from $4 to $10 for their unseemly conduct.

DAMAGE TO THE BIG IRRIGATION DAM.

Special Correspondence.

WHITNEY, Ida., June 7.—The damage occasioned by the going out of a portion of the irrigation dam located near this place last week turns out to be not so heavy as was first reported. The dam proper did not give way, but a portion of a hill that was thought to be the strongest part of the embankment went out. About 12 feet of surface water was lost, and three feet remained. Since the affair the shareholders have been working, and it is now anticipated that the water will rise another five feet, allowing plenty for irrigation during the coming summer. The shareholders in the enterprise are James Johnson, Joseph Johnson, William Hawkes, Joseph Moser, John E. Dailley, P. F. Balfour, J. W. Winward, Geo. T. Benson, and Mrs. Jane Ogden. The damage is believed to be not so great by one-tenth as was first expected, of course, this does not apply to the water that was lost.

More stock and men will arrive in a few days.

Ground was broken and work commenced on the new village theater yesterday. Manager Goldstein had expected to open the playhouse next Monday but it has been postponed until June 11.

The commencement exercises of the High school were held at the Devaney Palace assembly hall Thursday evening, May 31, and a very pleasing program was given by the graduates and talent of Nampa, to a very appreciative audience.

Mr. Jones, whose condition was critical, was taken to Salt Lake City Saturday where he underwent an operation, having broken some small bones in the neck, which were interfering with the spinal cord. Strong hopes are entertained for his recovery.

DEDICATION OF L. D. S. MEETINGHOUSE AT SUGAR.

Special Correspondence.

SUGAR CITY, Fremont Co., Idaho, June 7.—The dedication of the new L. D. S. meetinghouse of Sugar ward took place this week. The auditorium was crowded with Saints, and the services were impressive, and will be long remembered by those privileged to attend. Much praise has been given the Saints of this ward for their ready response that has been made in the erection of the building. Just two years ago the Sugar City townsite was a patch of lucern. One year ago the plans for the erection of a meetinghouse were placed before the people, and work on the building began. At its completion, and before one meeting was held in the house, the building was dedicated and set apart as a house of the Lord. The work of the ward choir was good, and the songs that were sung were inspiring.

After opening song by the choir and congregation, prayer was offered by Elder James Blake. Report of the building committee was given and was unanimously accepted. The committee was honorably released, and a vote of thanks was given for the valuable services and untiring efforts in overseeing the building of such a beautiful house.

The dedicatory prayer was given by President Thomas E. Russell. After which addresses were made by the following: President Albert Heath, Patriarch John Donaldson, Elder John A. Gardner, Elder Ezra Christensen and Bishop Harris of Salem. Benediction by Patriarch A. J. Hansen.

The evening services were under the auspices of the Y. M. and Y. L. M. I. A., which consisted of a musical program by the state Y. M. and Y. L. M. I. A. associations, opening prayer by President Mark Austin, lecture on "Brigham Young as a Pioneer" by President Albert Heath, violin solo by Miss Chloë Sharp, "Brigham Young as President" by Elder Ezra Christensen, solo by Miss May Anderson, benediction by President Thomas E. Russell. The evening services were well attended, and much appreciated by those who were present.

There was a very large attendance at the funeral services held at the meetinghouse on May 30, at 10 o'clock, but owing to the heavy rain storm, which had been pouring for eight days, only a few visited the cemetery. People have been going out between showers ever since.

Miss Ellen Jardine was taken with an attack of appendicitis on the 1st. On the 2nd her father took her to Ogden, her mother having gone to Provo to attend the Young reunion. Last evening a telephone message came saying the operation had been successfully performed yesterday afternoon.
