Imeral of Mrs. Lawson-Two Suits For Divorce-New Passenger Track-News Briefs,

Ogden, March 22 .- One of the larga gatherings for many weeks turned it Sunday afternoon at the taberacle when Professor Wilford M. cKendrick principal of the Weber endemy, was the speaker, his adess being logical and able throughit, the title of which was "Mormon--The Gospel of Intelligence."

The speaker's remarks were based apon the old-accepted version given by orthodox Christianity for the sins Adam, condeming him for having fallen" and for the punishment which ollowed, not only for himself, but or all the following generations of

for all the following generations of mankind.

Prof McKendrick spoke first of mormonism's attitude toward the fail as compared to that of Christianity, saying that Adam's mission on earth was as sacred and important as that of Jesus Christ, the Savior and tratit was not a fail but a rise Adam, he said was placed at the forks of the road and left to choose the right path. The speaker declared that 'Adam fell that man might be, and man is that he might have joy,' quoting from the Book of Mormon. 'The purpose of life,' said Mr. McKendricks, "is joy and joy is the result of overcoming and subduing that which is not pure and good.

The fall, he said, was as much a fact to present the foreknowledge of God as was the redemption. Mormonism's attitude toward the redemption wrought out by the speaker.

Beautiful music was a feature of the service.

Elder Rudger Clawson referred to the Apericanes of Oliver Cowdery as ac-orth in the revelation, section 9, in the forth in the revelation, section 2, in the Doctrice and Covenants, of which he recod from the seventh to minth versus. The words, the security said, wordwary pointed. Although Oliver Cowdery had a gift, he could not exercise it without an effort on his part. The same thing applies in all the affairs of life. If a blessing is desired, an effort must be made to secure it. As an illustration, the case was mentioned of a man who prayed for health yet made no effort to secure it. On the contrary, he broke the laws of health and alid not take proper care of his body, by
