BANFORD DIVORCE CASE.

Sensational Developments After a Brief Marriage of a Few Months.

Hold-up Story Confirmed—Wants to Instruct Deaf-Mute Pupils the Art of Knitting—Court Notes.

Divorce proceedings have been commenced by Margaret Ann Banford against Samuel Banford, both well known residents of Ogden. The allegations as set forth in the complaint are that the parties were married on December 6th, 1900. That since said marriage the defendant has treated the plaintiff in a cruel manner causing her great mental and bodily distress, to wit, that on or about Jan. 1901, the plaintiff had her arm broken, and was unable to use it for a long time, but notwithstanding this condition of the plaintiff, the defendant compelled her to do the house work, to milk two cows and do other work, and when plaintiff complained of her inability to do said work the defendant used abusive language to her.

The plaintiff further alleges in her complaint that the defendant has wilfully neglected to provide the plaintiff with the common necessities of life. Plaintiff alleges that she is in indigent circumstances and unable to pay costs of this action; and prays that the bonds of matrimony existing between herself and defendant be dissolved, and she be given a legal and just partition of the property and for $400 attorneys fees. That a restraining order be issued to prevent the defendant from disposing of his property until the action is decided. The restraining order was granted.

HOLD-UP STORY CONFIRMED.

Last evening Chief of Police Conkling and Officer Tuck returned to Ogden from Terrace where they went in company with Ed Clark the 16 year old boy who was arrested with the three other men who held up Helman Campbell. The purpose of the visit to Terrace was to locate the men of the crime, and the watch which was taken from Campbell. The officers secured the watch, which was found by a section hand near where the boy said it was thrown by. The officers also found a suit of underclothes and the sack which contained Mr. Campbell's clothing near the place where they were thrown away. The pistols could not be found, as the place where they were put has been filled with coal. The story as told by young Clark in his confession, has been proven by the officers to be true, and they are confident that they have sufficient evidence to convict the men of the crime. The boy according to his story, has been afraid of "Reddie" Scott, and has been his tool to accomplish his crimes. Clark says he went through Campbell's pockets because he was forced to, and knew what the consequences would be if he refused to comply with the demands of "Reddie" and the rest of the gang.

It is expected that the three prisoners will be taken to Brigham City, as their crime was committed in Box Elder county, but it is thought Clark will be left in Ogden as it is feared the trio would perhaps kill him if an opportunity presents itself.

WANTS TO INSTRUCT.

W. C. Haines, a teacher of knitting hosiery, socks, etc., to blind pupils, is in Ogden endeavoring to interest the officers of the State school for the blind in this city to interest themselves in the work and give him employment at the school instructing the blind in the work. Mr. Haines is from Colorado Springs, had some samples of his work along which is excellent, and he says the students can be taught how to do the work in six weeks, the giving them the place by which they can make a good living.

LOGAN.

DEPUTY SHERIFF BELNAP

Testifies in Malors Case—Saw Defendant Shoot Officer Brown.

Special Correspondence.

Logan, Sept. 25.—Deputy Sheriff Joseph Belnap, of Ogden, was the only witness on the stand in the Malors case Wednesday afternoon. He told the jury that he saw Officer Brown shoot at the defendant, and that he saw the defendant shoot at Officer Brown.

Belnap testified that he saw Officer Brown shoot at the defendant, and that he saw the defendant shoot at Officer Brown.

He was put through a severe cross-examination by Attorney McGarrin, who tried hard to confuse him and to bring out points contradicting each other and former witnesses. He tried to prove that witness was mistaken as to who fired the fatal shot at Brown, as to where the robbers' pistols were lying, and on other points, but the witness adhered generally to his original story, although this witness differed with Sheriff Carlson as to the exact time of Major's death and Brown's death. The afternoon passed wearily enough with many stops for counsel to argue points of law, read authorities, and criticize each other. The admission of evidence as to conversation between officers and defendant was strongly opposed by Attorney McGarrin and an exception noted in this and many other instances.

"It seemed it would strangle before we could get a doctor, so we gave it Dr. King's New Discovery, which gave quick relief and permanently cured it. We always keep it in the house to protect our children from Croup and Whooping Cough. It cured me of a chronic bronchial trouble that no other remedy would relieve." TROPIC.

Abundant Harvests—Bless the Husbandman—Plenty of Fruit.

Special Correspondence.

Tropic, Garfield Co., Sept. 23.—Harvest is in full swing, and the husbandman is now busy in unison with the melody of hearts made glad by a bountiful harvest. The fruit crop is a surprise; abundant and excellent in quality. Vegetables of all kinds are above the average, as instance a squash grown by our justice of the peace measures over five feet in circumference.

We were glad to see the face of our old stake president, Jesse W. Crosby Jr., on our streets again. He gives a good account of the Big Horn country—but thinks Tropic a southern gem, and recommends a saving home to stay by them.

CAINEVILLE.

Never Had Better Crops in Wayne County.

Special Correspondence.

Caineville, Wayne Co., Sept. 23.—The cane crop is excellent, both as to quality and quantity, not a poor gallon has been made, and the yield to the acre has been remarkable for high dry temperature. The main feature of the function, perhaps, was the elegant spread of which 60 people partook.

Weekly Crop and Weather Bulletin

United States Department of Agriculture, Idaho section, climate and crop bulletin of the weather bureau.

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 24, 1901.—Though the mean temperature for the week was below the normal the first part of the week was remarkable for high dry temperature. However, the nights were cool and frosty. Fair weather prevailed until the 21st, when general showers commenced throughout the western section, and continued for high dry temperature. The 13 year old daughter of Thos. Macdonald is very sick with kidney trouble in the eastern counties.

CROPS.

The crop season has practically closed since all the staple crops are safe against inclemencies of weather. The haying season is over and threshing of grain is in nearly complete. The wheat being done only in a few localities. Apples, prunes and pears are still being shipped, but activity in the shipment of all apples will not begin until about October 1st.

It is thought that the hay crop of the State averaged better than that of 1900. Two heavy cuttings of clover were secured in the northern and western sections. Three heavy cuttings of alfalfa were harvested in the southern and western counties, and two to three fall cuttings in the east and central sections. Native hay yielded well in the northern counties.

Wheat and grain yield about average in the northern counties and average to less than average in the remaining sections of the State, depending upon favorable conditions for irrigation. Where water was available the wheat and grain crops were fully matured and the season was unfavorable for "dry farm" crops.

Melons had tomatoes are still being shipped market, but they are of inferior quality. The season for fruit in consequence of cool nights and frost. Fall potato digging has scarcely begun, but the prospect is for a yield below the average.

Recent rains have softened the ground and enabled general plowing to be done. In some sections some seeding of fall grain was accomplished during the past week and may be expected to be prosecuted with activity during the succeeding ten days.

The long continued drought materially impaired the mountain ranges, and the scarcity of water and grass in sections removed from the main water courses, were a disadvantage to the stock, but cattle and sheep are in fair to good condition.

Owing to the staple crops having matured and haying and harvest terminated, it is thought advisable to discontinue the publication of the Weekly Climate and Crop Bulletin for this season.

INTERESTS OF THE WEST.

Attacked by E. B. Dunn Through His Hot Wave Theory.

Special Correspondence.

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 23.—In an article by Mr. E. B. Dunn, published in the Washington Star of Sept. 19, 1901, the interests of the entire west are attacked through the setting forth of the theory that irrigation is the cause of the phenomena known as hot waves, and on this account the benefits of irrigation are more than outweighed by the evils resulting therefrom.

The chief editor of the Standard and his entire professional staff, having examined this article, have singly and collectively condemned the theory as absurd, unsound and as calculated to injure the sub-aria west, if accepted. The author states that the heat waves

People Are Well Pleased With Stake Organization—Home Missionaries.

Special Correspondence.

Leigh, Fremont Co., Idaho, Sept. 20.—Threshing is about half done. The yield is fair. The weather has been very windy for about two weeks. The 13 year old daughter of Thos. Macdonald is very sick with kidney trouble in the eastern counties.

The High Council has been called as home missionaries in the new stake. All of the new officers in the Teton Stake are working with a determination to make the stake a model of organization. We believe it will be very best thing that has happened in this valley. We were forty to sixty miles from the Fremont Stake headquarters, and few ever attended conference.

The Relief Society having had a working meeting appointed for the 19th met at Sister Clair Clawson's home, out on account of the death of our honored stake president, William McKinley, they turned their meeting into memorial services.

Late visitors to the Basin were E. R. Miles and wife and J. Mickle of Smith River, Ore.; Lamoreaux and Geo. Robinson of Logan, Utah. Priesthood meetings will be held at Driggs the last Saturday in every month.

Two of the Stake presidency are expected here to instruct the Saints in Sunday school and meetings.

PRESTON, IDAHO.

According to the latest report of the smallpox all the flags have been taken down in the village of Preston, but there are a few cases in the surrounding country. The schools all opened this week and all public gatherings resumed.

Elder Nephi Larsen returned home Sunday from Great Britain, where he has been laboring for the past two years as a missionary. James Hyatt, of Fairview, returned from the South on Sunday. Both are well.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Halstrom on the 17th. Mother and child doing well.

STAKE CONFERENCE.

Visit of Elders Cowley and McMurrin—M. I. Convention.

Special Correspondence.

Mesa, Maricopa Co., Ariz., Sept. 18.—The district school and the high school marched with flying flags draped with mourning to the court house, which had been appropriately decorated for the occasion. Forty-five little boys with flags marched by the platform upon which rested a large picture of the President, each depositing his flag upon the platform. They were followed by forty-five little girls in white dresses carrying a bouquet of beautiful flowers which were strewn and banked about the picture. There was music and speeches, the whole being a very pretty and appropriate tribute to the late president.

(low pressure areas) that develop over the plateau region of the Rocky Mountains lack moisture, consequently move more slowly than other low pressure areas and subject the people, stock and crops to the eastern states to a prolonged period of intense heat. If such be true, then the addition of moisture through irrigation would tend to quicken the movement of the heat waves, and irrigation in the east would be a benefit to the people of the east rather than an evil, since the heat waves receiving moisture would move rapidly and shorten the duration of the heat period.

The efforts of the author to convey the impression that heat waves that linger over the plateau region are the result of irrigation must fail, since the records of the weather bureau extending back to the time when irrigation was in general practice in the west prove that heat waves have ever developed in the plateau region and drifted eastward, much after the fashion of those of the past season. Furthermore, they are likely to keep developing in the future as in the past without alteration. Man's attempts to change nature's plan as to climate are puny and profitless.

It is my impression that the generally accepted theory that irrigation has a tendency to temper the climate and make it more habitable through increased evaporation of water is true. No material climatic change is likely to take place in general practice in the west, and certainly no amount of moisture distributed over the west will affect the climate of the east in the least.

ACCIDENTALLY KILLED.

Geo. P. Burnham Meets Shocking Fate—M. I. A. Convention.

Special Correspondence.

Manco, Colo., Sept. 18.—An extremely sad accident occurred here on the 13th inst. in which Brother George P. Burnham, formerly of Richmond, Cache Co., Utah, lost his life. He was coming down from the mountain with a team and wagon loaded with poles, and when descending a steep hill his brake gave way, and the wagon was thrown to the ground, striking on its left side, one wheel passing over his left shoulder. From all appearances he was instantly killed. Funeral services were held on the 16th inst. A large cortege followed the remains to the cemetery.

Elder Burnham was a man of sterling integrity and was universally respected. He leaves a numerous posterity to mourn his sudden departure.

TO DREDGE SNAKE RIVER.

The dredge boat, which has been building here for the last four months, is nearing completion. It will cost between $25,000 and $30,000, and has given employment to a number of men and put considerable money in circulation. The boat is 30x120 feet, with its cargo load, after outfit of machinery on it its weight runs up into the hundreds of tons. It has quite a business appearance, and will no doubt, for the expectations of its builders, Rasmussen & Co., and secure for them the shining glory of the Snake river.

Threshing is on in earnest, and prices are running high for the crop. Potatoes are eagerly sought after at present, and those who have grown plenty of the tubers have a smile that reaches from ear to ear.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

Citizens Honor Memory of President McKinley in Solemn Assemblies.

At Mendon.

Mendon, Cache Co., Sept. 18.—Memorial services in honor of the late President McKinley were held here today beginning at 11 o'clock a. m., with programs as follows: After opening exercises Elder Peter A. Sorenson gave a speech upon the administration of our deceased President, which was listened to with marked attention. The choir then sang "Farewell All Earthly Honors."

Bishop John H. Andersen then gave a very interesting biographical sketch of our late chief executive, showing him to be a faithful, worthy, wise, and honorable man.

Sister Mariah Richards and company sang in a sweet and pathetic style the favorite song of President McKinley, "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

Following this was a poem to the memory of our President, read by Jas. Whitney and written by Newell K. Whitney, which was highly appreciated by the audience.

The choir then sang "I Need Thee Every Hour," and a benediction closed a beautiful and well rendered program. A large audience was in attendance.

At Vernal.

Special Correspondence.

Vernal, Sept. 21, 1901.—On Tuesday evening last the people of Uintah county met in mass meeting in the court room of the county court house at Vernal to give expression to their feelings over the assassination of President McKinley. Short speeches were made by a number of the prominent men of the county, all speaking in favor of the late President and denouncing the deed of the murderer.

Resolutions of respect and condolence were passed, a copy of which was forwarded to Mrs. McKinley and entered published as widely as possible.

All business houses in Vernal were closed and work suspended on Thursday and the day generally observed as a holiday. At 10 o'clock the children of the district school and the high school marched with flying flags draped with mourning to the court house, which had been appropriately decorated for the occasion. Forty-five little boys with flags marched by the platform upon which rested a large picture of the President, each depositing his flag upon the platform. They were followed by forty-five little girls in white dresses carrying a bouquet of beautiful flowers which were strewn and banked about the picture. There was music and speeches, the whole being a very pretty and appropriate tribute to the late president.

At 2 o'clock people from all over the county assembled in the large court room, which was filled to its utmost and very many stood in the halls and upon the stairs, and even out upon the grounds, to witness the funeral services. The services were beautiful and impressive and the expressions of sorrow and regret for the untimely death of the President were universal and heartfelt. It had been almost a week of mourning in this county.

The old folks' committee had arranged an entertainment and outing for the old folks for the 19th and all visited Utah last summer, ever since. She was a faithful Latter-day Saint, and died strong in the faith. Her funeral was held in the tabernacle, Elder Chas. Peterson and D. S. Lewis preaching the funeral sermon.

The Maricopa Stake of Zion is just now rejoicing over one of the most pleasant and we trust profitably spent weeks in the history of the Stake. Thursday night Apostle Matthias F. Cowley and President Joseph W. M. Murrin arrived, and on Friday at 10 o'clock a. m. the convention of the Y. M. I. A. convened, two sessions being held. The program was arranged by the general board was carried out by members of the association, supplied and enlarged upon by the visiting brethren, and much good instruction was given by them, covering the entire range of the subject.

In the evening President McMurrin met with the presidents of the 90th quorum of Seventy, and a council meeting was held. At 10 o'clock a. m. a general Priesthood meeting was held and instructions were given calculated to inspire the people to a renewal of diligence in the requirements of the Gospel. Special stress was put upon the necessity of the Saints being contented here and maintaining this stake of Zion. The roll call of the 90th quorum, showed 40 present 11 on missions, 16 away from home and excused, and only 3 absent without excuse.

STAKE CONFERENCE.

At 2 o'clock p. m. the general conference of the Stake opened with a large attendance. The reports of the Bishops showed a good condition of the people. The following changes were made in the Stake organizations: Collins R. Hakes, Jr., was sustained as second assistant to Superintendent Isaac D. Dyer, in place of F. C. Johnson, removed. Mrs. Marie Hilbert was sustained as superintendent of the Young Ladies' M. I. A. of the Stake, Mrs. Jeannette Johnson, resigned, and Mrs. Vernie Johnson, resigned, and Mrs. Hilbert was sustained as her successor. The other organizations of the Stake remain as they were before. At the meeting on Sunday the large tabernacle was crowded to suffocation, and some were not able to gain entrance. In the forenoon President McMurrin spoke on the subject of marriage.

At the 2 o'clock p. m. service Apostle Cowley delivered a powerful discourse upon the principles of the Gospel. He told the people that it was the will of the Lord that this Stake of Zion should be maintained. Whenever the Lord wishes the Latter-day Saints, he said, they will remain until called to another place by the authority of God.

At the close of the afternoon meeting the visiting brethren were taken to the Temple where they took train for Thatcher, Arizona.
