

MOUTH ORGAN IS IN SORE STRAITS

Making Desperate Though Feeble Effort to Fatten Crime on "Mormon" Church.

DECENT PEOPLE ARE DISCUSSED

Sheet Stands Self-Accused in Its Distorted Statement of the Case—A Few Samples.

The dastardly attempt on the part of the organ of the American party to drag the "Mormon" Church into the unsavory Campbell case, is acting in the nature of a boomerang. A prominent railroad man this morning stated that while he had heretofore felt inclined to vote for some of the men on the American ticket, he was so disgusted with such methods as indulged in by those who were endeavoring to make political capital out of a palpable lie, that he would vote differently—he could not endorse any such methods.

Several other Gentiles expressed themselves in the same fashion. "I do like to see a good scrap," said one, "but when it comes to such tactics please excuse me from being associated with anything of the kind."

Those who have taken the trouble to read the "News" and Tribune's accounts of the case can draw their own conclusions.

IN DESPERATE STRAITS.

It needs no argument to convince the discriminating public that the Tribune is in desperate straits. This morning's two column wriggle in a very fancy piece of high and lofty tumbling containing some contradictions that would make any prosecuting attorney turn to the jury with a smile and say, "We rest."

It will be recalled that Mrs. Campbell, in an interview with the "News," told a story of an alleged contract that had been drawn up and signed by herself, her sister and the man who is now in the state prison serving a term of three years for carnal knowledge of a girl under the age of consent. She emphatically stated in answer to a request from the "News" representative that the paper had been destroyed, in fact, that the children had got hold of it and cut it up.

A FEW SAMPLES.

Now follow the contradictions as they appeared in the Tribune this morning in the same story of the Mormon. Utterable committing to make a 10 strike by accusing the "Mormons" of having stolen this mythical document. Here is what the sheet says:

"The contract, which contained the names of Mr. and Mrs. James Campbell and Mary Cry, and which was signed by all three while they were up on the mountain, was taken upon them selves, the only obligations to a marriage ceremony, the command of the command, has disappeared. When I seen it occupied a place between the leaves of a Bible, but it is not there now, and the two sisters do not know what has become of it. It may have been lost. It is barely possible that it was stolen. At any rate the valuable paper has disappeared."

TRIBUNE SELF-ACCUSED.

In the next column of the same story it goes on to relate the court proceedings and the statement of the accused man to the judge, and says:

"Then coming down to the gist of the matter, Campbell said that he had lived with his sister-in-law with the consent of the girl and her sister—his wife—but that he was not married to her. He had been living with her about six months, he added, having come to Salt Lake about the middle of October. NO CEREMONY OF ANY KIND WHATSOEVER, HE ADDED, HAD EVER BEEN PERFORMED."

At this point District Attorney Loofbourrow interrupted to ask if the agreement mentioned was in writing. Campbell replied that it was not.

In conclusion, Campbell said that his wife was not in good health and that she and their five children were dependent on him for support, and he hoped the court would be as lenient as possible.

District Attorney Loofbourrow, when asked by the court if he had any comments to make, replied that Campbell's statements in the court were substantially THE SAME AS HAD BEEN MADE TO HIM by the defendant, and he only wished to add that, in his opinion, three years in prison would be about the proper sentence."

"WIFE" WITHOUT CEREMONY.

The Daily Venom persists in calling the girl in the case the second wife, Campbell a polygamist and otherwise attempts to bolster up its case, but its anxiety to throw mud at overreaching the court is evident.

The boy, however, remains that Campbell is in prison, his wife, five little children and Mary Cry are thrown upon the county for support and through the wilful malice of the Tribune not only the "Mormon" people but the whole State of Utah has to suffer for their offense. The Denver Post and other papers to hand today contain the Tribune's story rehashed under black headlines to the effect that a case of polygamy has been unearthed in Utah.

IDAHO AFFECTED BY COAL FAMINE

Shortage of Cars Brings Gov. Frank R. Gooding on Flying Trip to Salt Lake.

COMES FOR NEEDED RELIEF.

Says Gem State Was Never More Perplexed Than at the Present Time—Irrigation Schemes.

Gov. Frank R. Gooding of Idaho is at the Wilson from Boise. The main occasion for his trip is the serious shortage of cars for the coal trade, so that southern Idaho people have become sadly inconvenienced, and in cases there has been some suffering that while he had heretofore felt inclined to vote for some of the men on the American ticket, he was so disgusted with such methods as indulged in by those who were endeavoring to make political capital out of a palpable lie, that he would vote differently—he could not endorse any such methods.

Several other Gentiles expressed themselves in the same fashion. "I do like to see a good scrap," said one, "but when it comes to such tactics please excuse me from being associated with anything of the kind."

Those who have taken the trouble to read the "News" and Tribune's accounts of the case can draw their own conclusions.

STATE PROSPEROUS.

Gov. Gooding said to a "News" reporter that now, that his state was in the heyday of its prosperity, and in fact is going ahead by leaps and bounds. There are many excellent chances in prospect of a union between the northern and the southern parts of the state by reason of the extension of the P. & L. N. road which will reach Meadows by next spring, midway east in Washington county, which will afford relief; and then the Northern Pacific is to build south to Grainsville, which will afford further relief. It will not be long before people can go between the two sections of the state without going outside into other states to get around.

IRRIGATION SCHEMES.

When asked as to the outlook for irrigation, Gov. Gooding said that within 10 years the entire southern part of the state will be under irrigation. The Payette scheme is pushing eastward, the Mountain Home people have completed their great reservoir, and from the Twin Falls country, the ditches and canals are stretching out to the west. But there is a wide stretch of territory between which is still available to irrigate, and the superstructure.

The dealers in agricultural implements in this city are taking account of stock, as this is their quiet season.

The walls of the new First Methodist church are up to the roof, so that building will be under cover before winter really sets in.

Shipping of guano from Birds' Island in the great lake is actively under way, the guano going to southern California for consumption.

STRENGTH IN UNION.

Gov. Gooding said that one blessing which his state enjoyed was the fact that all of its inhabitants joined their strength for the state's advancement, and forgot all about their political differences when the welfare of the commonwealth was called into question. He looks to see Idaho become one of the greatest states in the Union in a few years.

READY FOR THE FRAY.

High School Students Exercise for Tomorrow's Big Football Game.

There was a stirring demonstration on the High school grounds this afternoon when close upon 1,000 students and others gathered south of the main building and indulged in a jollification, which included anything from addresses from the steps to the rehearsal of school yells and songs preparatory to tomorrow's big game against the Pueblo, Colo., high school for the intermountain championship. The grounds were ablaze with red and black, the school colors, and pennants, ribbons and flags were flaunted to the breeze with gusto as a thousand hands held the tokens aloft and a like number of mouths cheered everything and everybody from the janitor up to the Sept. Christensen.

The city school superintendent was the first speaker and addressed the assembled enthusiastic multitude on "School Patriotism." He was followed by Atty. Mai Thomas, who made a ringing and characteristic speech along the same lines. He dwelt on the influence the High school exerts on all who attend to set forth the necessity of physical training. He concluded by prophesying the new High school would be the proud owner of a splendid gymnasium and promised his influence to bring this about.

Mont Allen was the last speaker. Mr. Allen refers the game tomorrow, and he incidentally dwelt on the necessity of the students supporting the team and helping it along with voice and song.

At the conclusion the big choir of young enthusiasts started all the doors looking for blocks around by rendering the Red and Black with full vocal and gesticulatory accompaniment. Following all combined to make the welkin ring with school yells both old and brand new.

Judging from the demonstration this afternoon the referee will encounter considerable difficulty in making his whistle heard above the din tomorrow afternoon.

The following contracts were let last evening in connection with the building of the new Masonic hall: Masonry, Marren & Baker; carpenterwork, Oliver Hodgson; plastering, Abrams & Sullivan; can. These were the lowest bidders, and their figures were printed in yesterday's "News." Construction was begun.

An amendment to the articles of incorporation of the South Jordan Can. company was filed in the county clerk's office today, by which its officers shall hereafter be elected biennially instead of annually. The first election will take place at West Jordan on the second Monday in January.
