LOOK TO THE FUTURE.

Nor long since we treated at some ength on "the value of homes." The article was the product of reflection upon the situation that has prevailed this community for come time in relation to views therein received the unqualified approval of intelligent attempt has been imade, so far as we are aware, to refute its propositions and conclusions even by those who, from selfish considerations, do many thinking people, and no direct or not desire to see them prevail.

While it adds nothing to the intrinsic force of truth to have it endersed from unexpected sources, it is a cause of satisfaction to its advocates who have no thought beyond the welfare of the people, when such coincidences appear.
We have before us an expression in line from the editor of the Omaha World. We formed a slight acquaint-ance with the gentleman while he was on a visit to this city and could not help being impressed with the evidences of his native ability. The city in which he resides has been one of the most diligently and persistently boomed towns the wave has yet struck. This fact adds force to his observations upon a subject of that character, as he has had ample opportunities to consider it in its variegated phases and results. The World thus treats upon an important aspect of this topic:

"Booms' seem to be very fine things while they last but they almost invariably produce an evil two little dwelt upon—alien landlordism. The moment a boom is well started all sorts and conditions of people who live in their own houses sell out at what appears like a big advance on the cost and after putting their money into the bank, join the great army of renters. Few build because the boom makes real estate high. The purchasers are largely outside investors and the result is that hundreds of thousands of dollars made right here in the west is annually paid to non-residents by tennants and spent not in the west but in New York, Boston and Philadelphia. Booms bring a great deal of money into a city for a time, but they are apt to cause a steady drain outward for years after. The way to wealth is to sell goods, not homes. Then the long run prefits will be on our side."

The truth so tersely set forth in the "'Booms' seem to be very fine things the effect that Boulanger was aiming at a dictatorship and that the people wanted a functionary of that character, The course of Boulanger indicates that that is thevery impression that he does not wish created. He desires to impress the French people with the idea that he thinks they do not have enough freedom as it is under the constitution of the Republic as it stands, and desires it so amended that the populace may have more liberty. But Pere Hyacinthe, who is a avague theorist, evidently misapprehended the situation and sustained Boulanger on the ground that the prestige of the people should devote so much of their spasmodic enthusiasm to Boulanger is because of his professed solicitude for the estab lishment of greater freedom for the people and a corresponding relaxation of the prerogatives of the government. His professed intention is to place the French Republic more in unison with that of the United States. But Per-Hyacinthe sustains the present idol of France on the ground that he proposes to establish a condition quite the opposite of that. The venerable ex-monk is not practical. He dwells in a hazy, theoretic atmosphere, and is probably unable to catch on to the real status of an existing question. We had an opportunity of briefly studying him on the occasion of his visit to this city a few years ago He is learned, and gives forth fitte fishes of intellectual brilliancy, bu has not a great degree of practical insight into human nature. His sudder shoot on the leading topic in Franci will, however, give him considerable notoriety. If he likes that sort of thing, and he has given a good many evidences that he does, he will enjoy himself hugely for a season.

UNHEALTHFUL WEATHER.

METEOROLOGICAL extremes, especially in the way of excessive heat, are likely to affect unfavorably the health of the populace. Prognostications based upon this general rule, relative to the public health of this city during the coming summer, would be to the effect that it is likely to suffer, as such warm weather as we have been having for the last three weeks, is almost if not entirely unprecedented in this locality,

The hot sun pouring down upon the heaps of rubbish and garbage which have been accumulating during the winter, draws out of them poisonous exudations which float about in the atmosphere, endangering the health of human beings. Literary Notes.

The fourth volume of "Appleton's Cyclopædia of American Biography" (Lodge-Pickens) will be published about May 1st. It will contain articles by Justice Bradley on John Marshall, Prof. Henry Coppee on General McClellan, Rev. O. B. Frothingham on Theodore Parker, President D. C. Gilman on James Monroe, Rev. George R. Gleig on Gen. Sir Edward Pakenham, Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes on John Lothrop Metley, General Bradley T. Johnson on General James Longstreet, President William P. Johnston on General J. S. Marmaduke, Prof. Charles Ellot Norton on Henry W. Longfellow, Dr. Francis Parkman on Marquis de Montcalm, White-law Reis on Wm. N. Phéips, and Charles Dudley Warner on James Russell Lowell. Among the articles contributed by the editors are James K. Paulding and George Peabody, by Gen. James Grant Wilson; and James Madison and James Otts, by Prof. John Fiske. There are nearly 300 vignettes, including pictures of celebrated churches and other public buildings, birthplaces, statues and monuments, and ten steel portraits of Longfellow, Monroe, Madison, McClennan, Sir John Macdonald, Prof. Morre, George Peabody, Chief Justice Marshall, William Penn, and Dom Padro II, Emperor of Brazil. Two additional volumes, to be issued during the present year, will complete this most impertant national work.
