LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

PRESIDENT YOUNG AND PARTY.—By telegram from Franklin, Cache Co., per Deseret Telegraph line, we learn that President Young and party stayed at Clarkston last night, and will stay at Oxford to-night. To-morrow he will reach Soda Springs, where he will probably stay two or three days.

OBITUARY.—Janet Thane died in the last Ward of this city, June 6th, at 2 a.m. She was born in 1792, in Eldersley, Scotland, was baptized in Canada West, in 1835, and emigrated to these valleys in 1861. She died in full faith of the gospel, in the 78th year of her age. The funeral service took place in the 5th Ward School house, on the 8th inst.—Mt. Star please copy. (Cont.)

NEW BRIDGE.—By letter from Henry Raper, of Oak Creek, Millard county, we learn that a new bridge has been built across the Sevier river near that place, and a good road made, to accommodate the southern travel. This new route will materially shorten the distance of travel between this city and our southern counties, besides being better supplied with feed for animals. Coming from the south, the traveler will leave the old road at Holden, or Cedar Springs, and taking to the left, pass through Oak Creek settlement, cross the new bridge, and thence on north through Parvart, Tintle and Cedar valleys, and come out on the old road again near Lehi. The road is good all the way. At Oak Creek there is a prospect of raising a good crop the present year, as the spring grain looks very well, as also does the corn, cane, etc. The grasshoppers have not visited them yet, the health of the people is generally good and peace prevails throughout the little settlement.

THE BIG HORN EXPEDITION.—The Omaha Herald, of the 7th, contains a letter from "Vindex," dated Fort Steele, W. T., June 3rd, stating that the long-talked-of Big Horn Expedition reached Fort Steele on the afternoon of the 2nd inst. and encamped on the east bank of the Platte. They crossed the river, and expected to start for the Sweetwater, via Rawlins Springs, on the 4th inst. The members of the party were in excellent health and spirits.

OBITUARY.—Elder Samuel Gould, one of the members of the Mormon Battalion died at Parowan, Iron county, the 30th of December 1869. He was born in Litchfield County, Connecticut, August 15th, 1778.

In a letter published in the Millennial Star of May 10th, written by President George A. Smith, at Tokerville, Kane county, in relation to President Brigham Young's visit to Kanab, we find the following notice of this veteran pioneer:

"We then visited the brethren at Virgin City, where we preached, and on Thursday started for the Indian mission to Kanab, visiting on our route several ranches which had been abandoned temporarily in consequence of the hostility of the Navajo and other Indians. The first of these was the ranch occupied by Elder Samuel Gould, about eight miles from this and about the same from Virgin City, about 2000 feet above either place. It offers good grass and water for stock and sufficient to irrigate fifteen acres. The old gentleman, above eighty years of age, did not scruple to move his wife and a family of small children to this isolated locality where he built a house, walled in a field, put in cultivation, and herded his own stock and that of any others who came to him to his care, for all knew he could not protect it from the Indians if they had a mind to take it. His friends remonstrated against his taking his family to such an exposed position, but all in vain. His wife was fearful, but what did he fear, who had braved three wars in defence of his country's flag? He had fought against the corsairs of Barbary, for three years he had served in the army in the late war with Great Britain, as a volunteer he had served one year in the war with Mexico, he had smelt powder and smoke and blood in many a hard fought battle, and why should he fear a few half naked Indians? He laughed at all remonstrances, but after the killing of Dr. Whitmore and brother McIntyre by the Navajos at the Pipe Springs, and of Robert Berry, his wife and brother at Shosh Creek by about 30 Pinos, Mrs. Gould utterly refused to live at the ranch any longer. The disappointment, annoyance and worry of abandoning the ranch told heavily upon the old hero, who stuck to the ground some time after his family had left, but the infirmity of old age, which will come some time, compelled him to follow his family to Parowan, where he became paralyzed, and after lingering some time he died last winter, in the 92nd year of his age."

EUROPEAN MISSION.—By the perusal of letters from President Albert Carrington to his family, we learn that he has just been making a tour of the continent and has had a very agreeable time. At the time of writing the last letter, dated Copenhagen, May 14th, he had been absent from Liverpool nearly five weeks and had traveled by land and water 3,456 miles. He was accompanied by Elders Jesse N. Smith and L. Shurtliff. The weather had been exceedingly fine during the whole of their journey, and they were not affected by sickness as they usually were when traveling by sea. Brother Carrington seems to be in high spirits and excellent health and speaks in warm terms of the reception extended to him by the Saints among whom he has traveled. He has found them feeling well generally, though the poverty of many will prevent them from emigrating this year.

EDITORIAL CONVENTION.—The members of the editorial fraternity of Montana are going to hold a convention, and, according to the Helena Herald, they will have "politics ignored, personal piques set aside, a bond of union formed, fraternal feelings cultivated and the best interests of the profession subserved." If such an end can be effected by holding a convention, we think it would be advisable for the editors throughout the East, who have been boring their readers lately with their petty assassins on each other through the columns of their papers to follow suit. We would suggest to them to do so, and settle their quarrels, either by making peace or fighting it out.

NEW ZEALAND.—We have been favored with the perusal of a letter from Elder Robert Beauchamp to President Brigham Young, written April 28, 1870, from

New Zealand, where he is at present laboring as a missionary. Though he has met with some opposition, he has generally been listened to attentively, and his impression is that a good work will yet be done in that land. He has succeeded in converting and baptizing quite a number, and has organized several branches. He feels quite encouraged with his success and says that "many have come to the meetings to put down 'Mormonism,' but have gone away convinced of the truth of the preaching. All have gone from our meetings more or less impressed with the fact that 'Mormonism' is not the silly thing that they thought it was."

LINES
In memory of Sister Mary Jane Merrill, who departed this life May 11, 1870.

Young and fair and bound to life
By many a golden stay,
Daughter, mother, sister, wife,
Why hast thou passed away!
Let the weary one rest in the quiet repose
Which death to the faithful hath given,
And Hope be the angel of comfort to those
Who feel their life interests riven.
The young and the goodly are passing from earth,
From its pains, its temptations and strife,
But this death is the door to a glorious birth—
The beginning of immortal life.

Oh! who would not rest from their labors
And feel,
That their works in the flesh were complete

When God by the spirit doth plainly reveal
Other missions, celestial and sweet!
Not that the fair planet created below
For mortals to wander upon

Hath no gifts, or blessings, or light to bestow,
Our earth is a beautiful one!

Formed by the same Author, in mercy and love,
By the self-same intelligence planned
As those of more splendor and glory above
Where the righteous may finally stand;
But here there are trials so long and severe,
That the spirit, o'erburdened and worn,
From its own earthly kindred, still cherishes and dear,
May freely and gladly be born!

And the dear ones departed, our Father doth bless
In a region of infinite joy.
Oh! here is the weeping, the pangs, the distress,
There, the bliss without tears or alloy!
Though lovely and bright, yet our world hath its woes,
Let us live for a mansion in Heaven!
Let the weary one rest in the peaceful repose
Which death to the faithful hath given.

Smithfield, Cache County,
