FLORENCE LEASE HAS ORE IN THE UPRAISE

Encounters Vein Fifty Feet Below the 200 Foot Level—Sacking Ore Richer Than Last Shipment.

According to a letter to John Dern of this city from Superintendent Charles Ellerthorpe of the Seven Troughs Mining company at Seven Troughs, Nevada, the Florence lease on the property is now sacking some richer ore than that which was recently sold in Salt Lake City. The ore sent in at that time contained something like 700 ounces of silver and better than $30 in gold to the ton. The superintendent declares that several hundred sacks have already been taken out.

The letter says that the upraise from the 300 foot level on the lease has encountered the 200 foot level. The upraise reached a height of 50 feet before the ore was encountered. Mr. Ellerthorpe declares that there is no doubt what the ore extends to the 300 foot level and would have been encountered had the drift been sent far enough.

The ore is of the best quality thus far encountered. Besides this there is a lot of low grade milling ore that can be handled with a good profit in the custom mills. The ore averages $30 a ton and will net a good profit to both the lessers and the company.

On the 200 foot level the lessers are putting in an upraise to block out the ore that has been found. In this way an estimate of the ore body can be made.

Considerable good ore is also being taken out of the company's workings. Superintendent Ellerthorpe is pushing the work in the new stope which is at the end of the old stope in the property. From this he is taking out some excellent ore.

STOCKS TAKE ANOTHER TUMBLE

For several days stocks have been slow with selling at the minimum, but this morning the bottom appeared to drop out of the market. The support of the Tintle stock was apparently withdrawn and stocks went tumbling to lower levels with a crash. There was some quick work in unloading and the volume of business was considerably better than for several days. Eventually security on the market suffered. No stock was able to withstand the bear movement and gradually slipped down or dropped with a crash. There was some short support some of the stocks, but they continued to slip.

Bullock was sold at 2½ cents today. Colorado reached a new low price of $1.80. Daily Judge, for which there have been many bids at $4 and offered at $1.50, sold at $3.72. The Tintle Development which looked upon as one of the coming properties in East Tintle, was selling for 13 cents. Grand Central under a heavy selling movement
