STAKE ACADEMY COMMENCEMENT

Splendid Program Given in New Lecture Hall—Addresses To Graduates.

PROGRAM AT HIGH SCHOOL.

Names of Graduates—City Schools Commencement and Graduates Of the Public Schools.

Ogden, May 29.—The nineteenth commencement exercises of the Weber Stake Academy were held last evening at the spacious new academy lecture hall, which is one of the largest and most conveniently arranged halls in the city. There were present over 1,000 people to welcome the graduates with rounds of applause as they filed into the hall just previous to the opening of the exercises. The decorations were purple and white, the class colors.

The academy choir under the direction of Prof. Ballantyne, opened the program with the chorus, "The Call to Arms." Invocation was pronounced by President L. W. Shurtliff. The academy band, directed by Prof. Nichols, played the "American Cadet March."

The conferring of diplomas was done by Principal David O. McKay, who in well chosen words portrayed the real meaning of the word commencement and told of the true aim and purpose of life, viz., to carry out the purposes of the Master, to bless the world and to give the world all that lies in man's power, to bless humanity and to shed sunshine of morality throughout the world.

Mr. Frank Chamberlain sang two solos. Elder John Henry Smith delivered an eloquent address to the graduates, telling of the possibilities for them in life after having laid a firm foundation in education and of learning with it the principles of morality and love for God. Of all things he advised honesty in all obligations, and called the attention of the graduates to the fact that there is no excellency without honesty.

The academy band played a serenade. George C. Ensign gave the valedictory, which had been prepared by him, telling of the possibilities for them in life after having laid a firm foundation in education and of learning with it the principles of morality and love for God.

A chorus, "Our W. S. A.," composed by Miss Jennet McKay, and set to music by Prof. Joseph Ballantyne was rendered by the choir. Benediction was pronounced by President C. F. Middleton.

DEATH OF A PIONEER.

Wm. Watterson has just returned from Cassia creek, Idaho, where he was called to the death bed of his sister, Mrs. Margaret Watterson Parke, wife of the late Charles Parke. Mrs. Parke passed away a very short time after her brother reached her bedside on the 14th inst. The cause of her death was spotted fever. Mrs. Parke was one of the pioneer settlers of this state and was a faithful Latter-day Saint.

She was born in Peel, Isle of Man, in 1824, came to America when she was 19 years of age, reaching Nauvoo, where she met the Prophet Joseph Smith, and came to Utah in 1850 with her parents and settled in Bountiful. In 1856 she was married to Charles Parke, being in various parts of Utah and Nevada until 1872, when she moved with her husband and family to Cassia Creek, Ida., where she resided until the time of her death. She was a good, kind mother and loving wife, which is testified to by the four children, to whom she was the same as a mother, after the death of their own mother. She was the wife of Mr. Parke, also, and the three children whom she leaves behind. The funeral was held at her residence under the direction of Bishop Ida, and interment took place at Albion, Ida.

ROSY TEACHERS.

Look Better in the School-Room Than The Sallow Skin.

Young folks naturally like comely objects, and a good looking, healthy teacher can do vastly more with pupils, everything else considered, than the skinny, dyspeptic teacher can. The instructor in Latin and mathematics in a young ladies' seminary had an experience worthy the attention of any teacher.

She kept running down a little more each year until finally a genuine case of nervous prostration set in and she was confined to her bed for eight months, a perfect wreck physically and mentally. She and her friends thought it was due to overwork, but now know it was due to improper food.

Of course the physicians were called in, but there is almost nothing they can do in such cases, except to rely on well selected food and proper care. She was put upon Grape-Nuts, all medicines also tea, coffee, and food drinks were given her. The larger part of her food was Grape-Nuts, for this food is made with special reference to rebuilding the gray matter in the brain and nerve centers.

The lady says: "I had been reduced to 95 pounds in weight when I began using Grape-Nuts. I gained 15 pounds, and I feel like a new woman. I have now developed into a perfectly healthy, happy, contented woman, weighing 110 pounds, and I feel like I never attained and have a wonderfully clear, fresh, rosy complexion. Instead of the sallow, bilious hue of the past."

Now I never have a symptom of dyspepsia nor any other ache or ail. Am strong physically and I particularly notice strength of mind. I never experience the weary, weary feeling after a hard day's labor that used to appear. My brain seems as clear and active at night as it was in the morning, and I am doing twice the amount of work I ever did. "There's a Reason." Read, "The Road to Wellville," in plgs.

KAMAS.

FLOODS IN SUMMIT.

Heavy Fall of Snow—Outbreak of Whoopingcough.

Special Correspondence.

Kamas, Summit Co., May 27.—Snow began to fall here last night at 11 o'clock and has fallen almost without cessation until this evening. It is estimated that a foot at least has come down, and several inches now cover the ground, which is surprising, considering the lateness of the season, and the warmth of the ground.

The water in both the Provo and Weber rivers is unusually high, creeks are overflowing, their banks everywhere. Beaver creek looks like a river and in some places has overflowed its banks causing considerable trouble to people in the west side of town.

Snow still deep in the hills and it is thought by those who are acquainted with conditions, that the highest water is yet to come.

A little son of Bishop Lambert had his foot badly mashed by a large boulder, which rolled on to it while the little fellow was on a picnic with the Primary association of the ward.

Whoopingcough has broken out in the place, and one or two cases are particularly serious.

SIXTY YEARS AGO TODAY.

SATURDAY, MAY 29, 1847.

In the forenoon of this day it rained; wind was still in the east. At 10:30 o'clock the thermometer stood at 48.5 degrees. About noon the people were called together and addressed by President Brigham Young, Hober C. Kimball, George Pratt and Wilford Woodruff. The speakers dwelt chiefly upon the necessity of a prayerful, faithful and upright course before the Lord; and in the afternoon, and it was found that they would "repent of their follies, cease their evil and serve God according to His laws." In doing this the Latter-day Saints according to their faith in the Priesthood, and it was found that there were present eight apostles, four bishops, 14 high priests, 78 seventies and eight elders. The apostles voted first and then the bishops and high priests, then other members of the Church. Two of the brethren were away hunting and one at least (Benjamin Rolfe) was not a member of the Church. All concurred with uplifted hands without a dissenting vote.

About 1 o'clock p. m. the pioneers resumed their journey, and traveled eight and a half miles. There was no creek or any consequences except near small streams, one of which, about 12 feet wide, ran near the camp. A little to the east of this place the road passed near the bluffs, in which the pioneers saw some soft grey sandstone; many of the hills here consisted of large quantities of cobble stone. One of the sandstone rocks projected from the bluffs, very much resembling the stern of a steamboat, and from this circumstance Orson Pratt called it Boat Rock.

The pioneers camped for the night at a level spot of barren ground, close to a creek, near the present boundary line between Nebraska and Wyoming. A thunder shower passed over the camp in the evening.
