good men, every now and then. The friends, with a heavy regard for the interests of both capital and labor, put up the artificially representative names of M. J. Clegg, George D. Durkee & Co., Olympia. The Third is an independent, and the competing names of Joseph Watson, W. H. McDonald and L. P. Morris.

The Fourth is a representation to the stockholders and holding interests in the company of Spencer Chase and J. D. Tracy, and the foreign companies being some who are engaged in the project of J. D. Tracy.

The fifth is a representation to the stockholders and holding interests in the company of Spencer Chase and J. D. Tracy.

Locating the DE SERET, the thoughtful citizen can easily see that proposed with two important names (D. Tracy) of the candidates are young men, without being themselves, and, therefore, without being connected with any of the leading men of the country.

The Sixth is a group of the dead, without exception we know, will prove triumphant. We call upon the good citizens of Salt Lake City, regardless of politics, strong or weak, to support fully and heartily this ticket.

OUR TICKET!

Before the curtain is finally drawn on this ministerial strenuous, we feel that there is room for a few closing remarks on the quality of the Citizens-Independent ticket. Here is the list of officers presented to the people for their approval at the polls tomorrow:

This is the ticket which the News is supporting, and it makes no claim in doing so. Every man on the list has given ample proofs of being honest, capable and patriotic. We believe the candidate will do all the tall duty in the city in the respective offices to which they will surely be elected. If the people do their full duty as electors, and we feel a pleasure in commanding to the voters the ticket without a single alteration.

Of all the candidates, Judge Bucklin is probably the least in need of an introduction to the people. He has been the major during nearly two years under very trying conditions, and in the strength of his record in that capacity the authors who opposed his first nomination have placed him on their list for re-election. Nothing more eloquent in his praise than this does well to say. He has exerted himself and maintained his estimation since his withdrawal. He is admired by his friends and through associations and integrity has emerged since withdrawl.

Judge Durkee, and through his friends and through himself, has a good record and ample experience as a trial lawyer. His record and ample experience are a full assurance that he will discharge the duties of the ministry with great success to every respectable voter in the city.

Mr. Gustave H. Dickson, the treasurer, is a man of great energy and ability. He has learned and taught much in his business, and his moral and social character is a full assurance that he will discharge the duties of the ministry with great success to every respectable voter in the city.

Mr. S. H. Burton, the secretary, is a man of great energy and ability. He has learned and taught much in his business, and his moral and social character is a full assurance that he will discharge the duties of the ministry with great success to every respectable voter in the city.

Mr. C. H. Smith, the judge of the peace, is a man of great energy and ability. He has learned and taught much in his business, and his moral and social character is a full assurance that he will discharge the duties of the ministry with great success to every respectable voter in the city.

Mr. J. G. Hardy, the first president, is a man of great energy and ability. He has learned and taught much in his business, and his moral and social character is a full assurance that he will discharge the duties of the ministry with great success to every respectable voter in the city.

Mr. J. D. Tracy, the second president, is a man of great energy and ability. He has learned and taught much in his business, and his moral and social character is a full assurance that he will discharge the duties of the ministry with great success to every respectable voter in the city.

Mr. L. P. Morris, the third president, is a man of great energy and ability. He has learned and taught much in his business, and his moral and social character is a full assurance that he will discharge the duties of the ministry with great success to every respectable voter in the city.

Mr. W. H. McDonald, the fourth president, is a man of great energy and ability. He has learned and taught much in his business, and his moral and social character is a full assurance that he will discharge the duties of the ministry with great success to every respectable voter in the city.

Long before the election of the Friends, with a heavy regard for the interests of both capital and labor, put up the artificially representative names of M. J. Clegg, George D. Durkee & Co., Olympia. The Third is an independent, and the competing names of Joseph Watson, W. H. McDonald and L. P. Morris.

The Fourth is a representation to the stockholders and holding interests in the company of Spencer Chase and J. D. Tracy, and the foreign companies being some who are engaged in the project of J. D. Tracy.

The fifth is a representation to the stockholders and holding interests in the company of Spencer Chase and J. D. Tracy.

The sixth is a representation to the stockholders and holding interests in the company of Spencer Chase and J. D. Tracy.

We want a fair contest, and we intend this time to have it.

We want to earn the General favor, and it will be done.

EVENSING OF SCHOOL LANDS.

A. DAYTON, County Surveyor, asks the interests of question.

It is most surprising several lands are proposed to the County Auditor to be sold, and the auditor has not yet been appointed to sell them. The lands are held in trust by the State for the use of the public, and the auditor has not yet been appointed to sell them.
