A servant girl, named Augusta Kassan, aged 19, to-day confessed that she poisoned Charles Hayne, aged 7 years, son of her employer, by mixing oxalic acid with milk. The child had had the scarlet fever, and it was supposed had died from a relapse. The girl tried to poison herself to-day. She says she did it herself to-day. She says she did it because Mrs. Hayne had threatened to discharge her.

EASTERN. The Delayed Appropriation Bill. NEW YORK, 19.—The delegates are tetting alarmed at the prospects of the delayed appropriation bill. It is probable an effort will be made in a day or two to break away from the narrow leadership of Randall and Holman and agree to the general appropriation bills in such a shape as they will be acceptable to the Senate and meet the approval of the President. If this cannot be done in time to save the government from threatened disorder, an effort will be made to pass such a joint resolution as is pass such a joint resolution as is afternoon that congressman Hurl-proposed in the President's mes- but, of Illinois, will be nominated festation of your approval of the Blaine under any circumstances. It convention's work." Blaine under any circumstances. It is complimentary to Blaine that Cameron could not count on obtaining from him the consideration for delivering the Pennsylvania vote, and so he withheld it. The general agreement for Hayes came upon the spur of the moment. The imminent danger of Blaine's success, indicated by the sixth ballot, railied all his opponents to an in-raffied all his opponents to an instant combination. Bristow was impossible. Hayes had no ene-mies; had a record in which there was no danger; had a hundred votes already, so Hayes was taken. There seems to have been very little plan or concert about it. It was an in-stinctive fusion of a desperate opposition, Biaine's original friends steed firm to the last. Some pre-dictions of a break in Blaine's vote were realized. His last vote was the highest, and within thirty of success. Hayes' nomination, while it did not provoke the favoritism that Blaine's would, has smoothed away the bad feelings that would have followed that nomination in some quarters. The nomination of Hayes, like oil on the troubled waters, all elements seem sat-isfied. The Blaine men bear the defeat with the utmost good nature. The nomination is acquiesced in on every hand. The convention smashed the political rings.

The President will be quite as good as his word, and if the democrats continue in their obstinate ourse the entire machinery of the government will probably be sus-pended on the 1st July. As the situation looks now, it does not seem possible for the House to pass the appropriation bills before the end of the fiscal year.

The Caldwell-Knot Dispatch The Western Union Telegraph Co. produced some telegrams before the House judiciary committee to day. From these it appears that the dispatch from Josiah Caldwell to Knott about Blaine was sent t Caldwell from Washington with the request to cable it immediately to the chairman of the House judi giary committee.
