WEBER CLUB WANTS THE BIG SMELTERS

One Company at Least May be Induced to Build in Weber Co.

FORRESTERS DISORGANIZE.

City Officials Failed to Comply With Law, and Alleged Lawbreaker Goes Free.

Ogden, Dec. 21.—The Weber club and Ogden business men are leaving no stone unturned to interest the smelter owners in sites in Weber county, and most favorable indications are that this county will get at least one and perhaps three immense smelter plants.

When Judge Marshall entered his decision in Salt Lake against the smelter people, making it almost impossible to operate in that vicinity because of the restrictions placed on the kinds of ores to be smelted, the Weber club immediately got busy, and extended to the owners of the immense plants invitations to locate here, where several most desirable sites are offered. The Utah Consolidated Smelting company has already accepted the invitation and yesterday sent its engineer, Mr. F. W. MacLennan, to Ogden to inspect the sites available. In company with a committee of the Weber club he was taken to a site west of the present smelter plant near the Hot Springs about 19 miles northwest of Ogden. The surrounding land for considerable distance from the site shown him is desolate so that the fumes from a smelter could do little or no harm to vegetation, and it is but a short distance from the main line of the Oregon Short Line.

Mr. MacLennan on his return from inspecting the site, took dinner at the club dining room and to a number of business men stated that the site shown him is an excellent one, which his company will look favorably upon he is certain.

The site near the Hot Springs is not the best one the Weber club has an option on, and today Mr. MacLennan will be taken to a much better site near the shores of the Great Salt Lake, which is sure to please him. There is no vegetation for miles around this site and the east winds which blow almost constantly in that location would carry the fumes and poisonous matter far and have done so much damage near Murray over the lake, thus protecting the smelter company from danger of being sued for damages for destroying crops. This site is practically on the line of the Southern Pacific railroad so that all ores shipped to the smelter over the Harriman lines could be easily delivered, and the Rio Grande Western would only have to build a 15 mile spur to the site.

The suggestion is also being considered, if the smelter people locate in Weber county the street car line will be extended to the plants so as to accommodate the hundreds of employees in going and coming from their work.

PREMIUM DISHES HAVE ARRIVED.

All Ogden subscribers of the Deseret News who have contracted for the handsome premium consisting of a set of dishes of 47 pieces, are notified that the dishes are now in Ogden, and are being distributed as rapidly as possible by Mr. McGregor, the circulator. Owing to the Christmas crush, however, there will be some delay in reaching all parts of the city, and those who are entitled to the premium, and who wish to obtain it before Christmas, can do so by calling at the office of the circulator, Mr. John J. McGregor, 2345 Washington avenue.

The offer of this beautiful premium is open to all subscribers, old and new alike, by paying only $3 in addition to the regular subscription price of the Daily.

President Pingree of the Weber club has received letters from the Bingham Consolidated Smelter company and one other asking to be shown sites in Weber county, as they are also desirous of locating here.

Ogden is much nearer the Nevada mines, which are today some of the greatest in the west, than other places offering sites, and indications are they will greatly increase in number and output. The smelter owners realize that this business is worth looking after, and that by getting a smelter near to the great ore beds, they will be in a good position to compete for a good share of the ore. These are a few of the advantages Ogden has over other sites offered, which will be carefully considered by the smelter owners before a final decision is reached.

ANOTHER SOCIETY DISBANDS.

Forresters of America Not a Success in Ogden.

Ogden, Dec. 21.—The Order of Forresters of America, Court Wasatch 2, located at Ogden City, will disband on Jan. 1, 1907, and the charter, initiation books, etc., will be returned to the supreme lodge and the Forresters will pass out of existence so far as Ogden is concerned. The lodge when organized 10 years ago flourished for a time and upwards of 250 members were secured. After a few years of success, the members began to lose interest and the membership decreased until but 21 remained to sound the death knell to the order.

At the last meeting of the lodge this week 17 members were present, who by unanimous vote decided to disband, as all obligations and claims against the order have been paid and there is about $300 in the treasury. It was also decided to divide the amount equally among the remaining members, which will give each one approximately $15 apiece.

This makes the second lodge to disband in Ogden this year, the A. O. U. W. having taken the same step several months ago.

A CITY'S DERELICTION.

Law Not Complied With by City Fathers.

Ogden, Dec. 21.—Because the city fathers of Huntsville, Weber county, had failed to have the city ordinances published according to law, or to have them posted instead, the case of the city against A. S. Minter, charged with selling liquor without a license, was lost, Judge Howell having instructed the jury that under the law and the evidence, a verdict of dismissal must be returned. It appears that when Huntsville was made a city, the city council passed ordinances which have been regulating the city, but failed to comply with the law in posting or publishing the cause and the first time the question has ever been raised was by Minter's attorney.

JANUARY JURORS.

The following named trial jurors will serve during the January term of the Second District court: Ogden—S. H. Brown, Rudolph Van Dyke, Fago Middleton, Jacob C. Jensen, John Brown, Jr., James B. Shurt, Robert Hull, Brigham H. Goddard, Scott W. Campbell, Thomas Y. Stanford, Lamont Gris, Frank L. Wright, Charles H. Barton, John C. Carr, A. M. Van der Vies, L. D. Ensign, W. M. Little, George W. Lashus, R. M. Toy, Edwin Kerwin, Henry Keyes, Utah: William C. Critchlow, Pleasant View: Thomas E. Cottle, Plain City: John H. Brown, Liberty: William G. Smith, Huntsville: Joseph Bachman, Eden: Lyman Barker, North Ogden: William E. Staker, West Weber: Joseph S. Bingham, Riverdale: John H. Smith, Huntsville.

SUIT FOR INSURANCE.

The case of Mary J. Gosling vs George Wheelwright, brought to recover $400 on an insurance policy, was heard by Judge Howell and taken under advisement.

BURIAL OF MRS. HOLMES.

Impressive Services at North Ogden Meetinghouse.

Ogden, Dec. 21.—The last sad rites over the mortal remains of Mrs. Alta May Holmes, the young wife of Lamont Holmes, were performed yesterday afternoon, and her body was laid to rest in the family burial ground in the North Ogden cemetery. The large meetinghouse at North Ogden was filled with relatives and friends who desired to pay a tribute of respect to her memory. Funeral services were commenced at 10 o'clock. Bishop John Ward presiding. Appropriate music was furnished by the ward choir and Miss Ellis sang the solo, "Auld Pres-biter." The Rev. Mr. Ward read the burial service, and the Rev. Mr. Ward read the burial service, and the Rev. Mr. Ward read the burial service.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

Sidney R. Spring, 22, of Ogden, and Miss Edith Townsend, 21, of Reedburg, Wisconsin, and Arthur Wangsgard, 21, and Miss Jennie Olsen, 18, both of Huntsville, were granted marriage licenses.

BRIEFS AND PERSONALS.

Certified copies of the Japanese American Industrial corporation of California, who has opened a branch house in Ogden, has filed its articles of incorporation with the county clerk. It is incorporated for $50,000.

The horse that was supposed to have been stolen from Dr. Conroy's pasture was taken yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Wilson.

The remains of Mrs. Florence Hughes will be taken to Deweyville tomorrow for funeral services. The remains may be viewed this evening at the home, 872 Twenty-fifth street.

Councilman Gibson said that there was considerable criticism on the manner in which the scavenger work was being done, and he thought something should be done. On motion of Leach and Gibson the city marshal was instructed to notify Mr. Heenan that unless he did the work as prescribed in his contract, with the city, action would be taken on his head. On motion of Councilmen Rasband and Short, council was adjourned till Jan. 3, 1907.

The new heating plant in the city hall is now running in good order, and certainly is a great improvement over the stoves. This heats the city jail and fire department, besides the city hall. The cells have been cleared and fixed so that they can have the hose turned in and given a good cleaning when necessary. This renovating of the city jail has been needed for a long time, and is now so fixed that those who have to be the guests of the city will have a clean place to stop in.

There is considerable talk going on in regard to the demand of the miners for a 50-cent increase in their day's pay, to take effect the first of the new year. Some go so far as to say that the miners will walk out unless their demands are granted. This has put a damper on Christmas shopping.

Mr. Wright, father of Dr. R. E. Wright and Atty. L. B. Wright, died this morning at the Park City Miners' hospital. The remains will be taken to Governor, N. Y., for burial.

SCIENTIFIC MISCELLANY.

Summarizing the progress that has been made in electro-culture, B. Folksdore, a German, finds it fairly well proven that electricity is essential to the growth of vegetation, although the important part played is not understood. Prof. Lemstrom has found that plants soon died under a wire cage, which excluded atmospheric electricity, while freely admitting air, heat and light. In Spitzbergen and Finnish Lapland large crops are always connected with the early appearance of the Northern Lights, and in the experiments that have been made—so far on a small scale—the yield of many plants has been increased by an artificial supply of electricity and water. It is supposed that electricity stimulates the sap exchange of plants, while Lemstrom has shown that it greatly magnifies capillary power, thus probably enabling the plants to take in more food from the ground.

The idea that there is no natural death is fascinating learned biologists. In the lowest organisms, those of a single cell, the individual is reproduced by splitting into parts, each of which becomes a new living body, and the distinguished Ellis Metchnikoff has ventured the view that this form of life is immortal. Death comes only by accident. Going further, Naegeli, a German biologist, decides that there is no natural death in the plant world, and that trees living thousands of years are destroyed at last by catastrophe or some external action. Prof. Loeb sees no certain evidence of natural death, although the cessation of life in certain eggs of the sea hodgepodge a few hours after being charged may be such. Metchnikoff rejects this possible exception as accidental death, resulting from a kind of starvation, and agrees that natural death is unproven. The so-called deaths from old age, gentle and painless, prove to be violent, the action of disease microbes being revealed by lesions of the internal organs.

Mysterious poisonings that occur occasionally in farm stock have been traced to the development of prussic acid in fodder plants. Dr. J. W. Leather, in India, has found that green jowari (Andropogon Gorgum) flax, the Rangoon and certain other beans, and the taploca plant contain glucosides that produce prussic acid when acted upon by a particular enzyme, and that this ferment becomes active only under rare conditions, when the ordinarily wholesome plants become suddenly poisonous. Young jowari that had proven fatal to cattle showed 1.25 grains of prussic acid to the pound of green fodder.

A new alloy, which serves electricians as a substitute for platinum, consists of 18 1/2 ounces of silver, 4 1/2 pounds of nickel, 15 ounces of bismuth, and 53 pennyweights of gold. The cost is about one-thirtieth of that of platinum.

One apple stump of an Oregon farmer has been successfully grafted with 23 varieties of fruit, including peaches, plums, prunes, and even some nuts.

The late German fishery experiments promise quite revolutionary results. The tests extending over several months have shown that deep-sea fishes may be acclimatized in fresh water, and may be made to live and breed in our rivers. Whiting, sole, herring, boulders and other salt water fish were first placed in a pond of salt water. Fresh water was then added gradually until the salt was all carried away, but the fish continued healthy and active, with no apparent change. The effect upon habits and general characteristics can be told only after the lapse of considerable time. The extensive introduction of deep-sea fish into ponds and rivers is next in order, and with supplies near at hand in interior localities, the fishery industry is expected to be transformed within a few years.

The "rescue chamber" is a safety provision of some of the largest Australian cities. It is a strongly timbered retreat and its single entrance has a door that can be made tight against air and water by means of rubber fittings. It has three cylinders of oxygen, sufficient to enable thirty men to breathe three days. Inhalation gear is at hand for parties leaving the chamber for reconnaissance or signaling. A vegetable milk is prepared by the Japanese from soy beans, which are soaked, crushed and boiled in water, the resulting liquid resembling cow's milk, but differing much in composition. It contains 92.5 per cent of water, 3.99 of solids, 2.95 of fat, and 1.88 of nitrogen from extract. A condensed milk is now made by T. Katsuyama by adding sugar and a little dipotassium phosphate and then evaporating. The yellowish product, having agreeable taste of cow's milk with a slight odor of beans, is recommended as a cheap substitute for ordinary condensed milk.

OUR CONSTITUTION AND THE JAPANESE.

The action of the San Francisco board of education in excluding Japanese from schools attended by white children aroused resentment in Japan and excited lively discussion in this country. The question was mooted of the right of the Federal government to interfere in behalf of the oriental pupils. In the current issue of Leslie's Weekly the Hon. Hannis Taylor, a high authority on constitutional and international law, ably discusses the subject, showing that under our Constitution the states alone have a right to determine in what manner school accommodations shall be supplied both to native and to foreign children. The illustrations of the number present several special features of interest, including a reproduction of Benjamin West Cline's recent notable painting, showing President Roosevelt clearing a fence on his favorite property, photographs of scenes during the president's recent visit to Panama; views depicting the delights of the shooting season in Minnesota and the North Dakota; picturesque phases of the late "Indian War" in Wyoming; pictures revealing New York's methods of disposing of its garbage; the usual photo contents, and an attractive dramatic page. Among the more noteworthy contributed articles are Jackson Tinker's short-story study of Governor-elect Hughes, Mrs. C. R. Miller's account of a Texas ranchman's remarkable trick mules, Harriet Quimby's musical and dramatic notes and comments, E. C. Rowe's description of the great movement of mining investments into public favor, and Ogden Burnett's story of a rich new copper field. "Jasper" discourses on the perils of prosperity, and shrewdly advises his readers concerning matters financial.
