Information Wanted

of "George Gardner, who has been a member of the Mormons the past 25 or 30 years, formerly from the vicinity of Boston, Mass." Address G. W. Gardner, Green Island, N. Y.

New Bridge.—During the high water last spring what was known as the Bybee Bridge, at the Devil's Gate, Weber Cañon, was swept away, and the erection of another, under the auspices of Davis and Weber Counties, with some aid from Morgan County, has been commenced. The work will be carried on under the immediate direction of Mr. Joel Parish, of Centerville, road commissioner for the county of Davis. The new structure will be constructed of red pine timber, bolted with heavy iron. It will be self-supporting, and consist of a single span of one hundred feet. From the covering of flooring of the bridge to the top of the side timbers will measure 12 feet and it will be 14 feet wide. It is masonry work.

Ran Off With a Hack.—Last night a soldier named Callahan, jumped After this he drove off at full speed toward Camp Douglas. A mounted officer started in pursuit, caught up with the vehicle and restored it to the owner, the soldier and women being lodged in jail. This morning the two latter were taken before Justice Pyper on a charge of being loose characters, and vagrants on general principles, having been, by their drunkenness and other bad conduct, a public nuisance, and they were fined $100 each, with the alternative of imprisonment for one hundred days.

The soldier will be turned over to the military.

CACHE COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL JUBILEE.

Sept. 24, 1876.

To-day the Sunday schools of Cache county met in Jubilee under the large bower at Logan, and all present enjoyed a huge treat. There were present on the stand, President Young, Jr., Bishop Wm. B.
Preston, Bishop Wm. B. Badger from Bear Lake, and nearly all the bishops of the different settlements of this valley. We were also honored with the presence of Elders George Goddard, Assistant General Superintendent of the Sunday School Union, William Willes and Samuel L. Evans, who came from Salt Lake City expressly to be present on this occasion.

The Jubilee was presided over by Supt. Moses Thatcher, who had been the chief mover in getting it up.

At 11 a.m. the vast congregation, which consisted of over 2,000 children, besides 1,200 to 1,500 adults, nearly every Sunday school in this valley, were all present, and called to order, and the multitude of children sang the piece entitled "The Opening Hymn," followed by prayer by Bishop Badger.

The children again sang the cheerful "Sabbath School Invitation."

After Ezra D. Carpenter asked the questions, as published in the Juvenile Instructor of 1875, on the History of the Prophet Joseph Smith, and his mission to the Latter-day Saints, which were answered by the Sunday school children.

Singing, hymns, and a "Something for Me,"

Elder Wm. Thatcher addressed the children in a very pleasing and instructive manner, with remarks especially appropriate to the occasion.

Other three chapters of questions on the history of the Prophet were asked, and the children gave the same answers and on-ward as before.

Elder Goddard and Willes then sang a grand hymn, and the Instructor, entitled "Always Hear Both Sides," much to the edification and interest of all present.

The children then sang the Sunday School report of the county, which showed a steady increase in numbers of both schools and pupils.

Elder E. D. Wooley then gave a very timely and instructive address, entitled "The History of the Children of the Saints," which was much to the edification and interest of all present.

At 2 p.m. the congregation was again called to order, and the schools sang "Deseret."

Prayer by Bishop Littlewood.
Singing, hymns.

Elder Carpenter asked questions in the six following chapters of the Prophet's history, and was answered again with that same alacrity and spirit as before.

Elder Goddard spoke to the children, as he had but few others can speak, attracting the eye and ear of a standing audience, who listened with pleasure to his few words. He said he liked the Sunday schools for they taught the children to love God, and to be like good men and women.

He liked children to be manly and he liked well behaved children. He liked them to be good and obedient, and he was fond of that class of children. He dwelt on the power of the Sunday School to instruct the children in their feature minds, if properly conducted.

He was highly pleased with the county report, and hoped to see a steady growth in all the schools of the Territory. He said that the vast number present to-day certainly spoke in honor of our people, and that the bishops of the several wards were wide awake to the interests of the Sunday Schools and that the pupils had learned their lessons well.

In this great jubilee, he felt to ask God's blessing upon the children, the superintendents, the teachers, the bishops, and all the priesthood of God upon the earth.

The children sang "Guardian Angels."

Bishop Preston said that he was very much pleased with the manner in which the children answered the questions on the History of Joseph Smith, and that it must have been a pleasing sight to the fathers and mothers to see so many of their children assembled to sing and praise God, and to join their voices in the beautiful songs and responses to the questions. He contrasted the present multitude in the few people who were gathered in Salt Lake City a few years since, when such an assembly would have done credit to any city. He felt thankful to God that he was permitted to witness such a beautiful sight, and realized that this was but a small portion of the Saints in these valleys of the mountains. He said that while listening to the answers of the children to the questions on our beloved Prophet's history, he could imagine he had seen the boy Joseph Smith wending his way to the hill Cumorah, where he was to receive the plates, and upon finding them, he had seen the boy Joseph Smith holding up the Book of Mormon from them. With joy he must have taken them from that boy, and he felt that he would like to take that vast assemblage in his arms and care for and carry them through pure and unspotted from the evils of the world, and see the children grow in virtue and purity.

He blessed the children and the Saints with the blessings of heaven, and prayed God's peace to be upon them.

The children sang—"Give us room."

Prest. L. Young, jun., arose and said he certainly did enjoy the great occasion, and that it must
few years since, when such an as-

and said he certainly did enjoy the
few years since, when such an as-
listening to the answers of the children to the questions on our beloved Prophet's history, he could imag-
Smith wending his way to the hill
the plates, and upon finding them,
he had seen the boy Joseph Smith
have taken them from that boy,
children grow in virtue and purity.

upon them.

room."
