THE FEMININE VIEW.

ONE favorite idea of those who are anxious for the overthrow of "Mormonism" has been that the "women here are held in some kind of galling bondage, and that if they were only given fair opportunities they would repudiate their bonds, turn against those who hold them in bonds, and then rush joyfully into the arms of their chivalric deliverers.

It was thought that when the "Mormon" women had the suffrage they would vote almost en masse against their husbands, fathers, brothers, etc. These women have had the suffrage nearly five years, but we do not hear of anything like a realization of the above expectation. On the contrary, we have heard of repeated attempts of the enemies of the "Mormon" people to deprive the women of this Territory of their right of suffrage and relegate them to the vilest condition of savages and idiots, from which many of the most intelligent and energetic women in all the States and most other Territories are striving to escape. Indeed, had it not been for the strenuous exertions of those striving women it is possible that the enemies of woman suffrage in Utah would have succeeded in causing Congress to annul the enlightened provision in the Utah statutes conferring the franchise upon women.

The woman suffrage opposition having failed, the enemies of the people of this region now indulge the hope that if the courts will only rigorously execute the laws that may be brought to bear upon the plural wife system, the wives will rejoice with joy unspeakable and shout for very gladness to be released from their matrimonial obligations. It may be well, however, for those sanguine "Mormon" eaters not to be too forward in preparing their plans for the hoped-for hour of triumph. One thing is certain—it has not come yet. Another thing seems quite as certain—it will not come at present. In fact, there is reason to think that it is further off now than ever. So far as we have heard, the women are becoming more interested in the matter than ever, and it was always a subject of great interest to them. Some of them are getting rather worked up about it, but the opponents of the "Mormons" may think they are getting worked up the wrong way. Said a woman the other day, speaking of recent indictments in this connection: "This will make hundreds of women plural wives. If I were not one, I would become one right away." So it seems that the women do not propose to lose heart upon this connubial subject or repudiate their marriage system just at present, notwithstanding the action of courts of Congress.

WINTER HERE.

AFTER considerable meteorological threatening, and a little occasional rainfall, to day we have a slight forecast of winter weather, with enough underfoot. If too much moisture does not come, the roads may be very much improved by it, after a few days shall have solidified their surface. The snow on the mountains will be in constant sight henceforth for eight months, and canyon and mountain travel may not be quite so agreeable as it has been, though more so in regard to being free from dust. Farmers, gardeners, persons building, and others doing out-door work will be likely to take a hint to hurry up their business of that kind, before winter sets in and in earnest, though that may not be much before Christmas, for immediately after the present stormy time we may have some weeks of fine, dry, beautiful weather, as is often the case at this time of the year. Of this, however, there is no certainty.

One thing we may make a suggestion about, and that is concerning taking proper care of the children. Now is the time when warmer, woollen clothing should be brought into use—woollen underwear clothing, as well as over clothing, especially not forgetting thick, thick-soled boots or shoes, if wooden soled shoes can not be had, so that the feet may be kept dry and warm, for this is a very great advantage in the battle for health. A bad cold taken now by reason of wet, cold feet, before the body has become braced up and seasoned for the winter's cold, may stay all winter, and lay the foundation for other diseases, or otherwise prove a serious matter. Therefore it should be prevented if possible. Adults may know and think of all these things for themselves, but children are comparatively ignorant and thoughtless, and the duty devolves upon their elders to think for them, and give useful and pertinent thoughts shape in action for the benefit of the little ones.

THE NEXT HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

MANY of the newspapers are figuring upon the probable results of the elections on November 2 and 3, and most seem to "anticipate" marked republican losses and corresponding democratic gains, and not a few anticipate a democratic majority in the next House of Representatives, so that the returns next week will be watched with more than common interest. The Sacramento Union of October 20 estimates in this way:

"The House contains 293 members. In the present House there are 190 Republicans, 88 Democrats, 4 Independents and 5 vacancies. That is to say—leaving the vacancies out of the count—Republicans, 185; Democrats, 92. The October 1897 election resulted as follows: Republicans, 185; Democrats, 92; Independents, 10. On the 2nd and 3rd of November, 1902, the House will be re-elected. It is estimated that the proportion of Republican losses in the October for the November election, or 20 per cent. will be made. The House will then contain 211 of 42 members. That would change the figures as follows:

Republicans, 180 minus 42, equal 138; Democrats, 107 plus 42, equal 149; Independents, 10 minus 42, equal 0. That is to say, an opposition majority of 11 in the next House, and of 6 allowing the Republicans all the vacancies. If the same ratio of losses had been sustained by the Republicans in the October elections be applied to the November elections—32 per cent.—the House would be as follows: Republican, 112; Democrats, 122. It is not likely, however, that this proportion of loss will be experienced. But it is, we think, probable that the Forty-fourth House of Representatives will have an opposition majority from ten to thirty."

The Women of Utah.

Theresa Yelverton (Lady Avonmore), the well known traveler and author, is at present in Edinburg. She is engaged in preparing a second volume of her travels, which will be published. The following conversation with her (says the Edinburgh Courier) will give a forecast of what the public may yet expect from her pen:—

Q.—What are your impressions of the condition of the women at Utah?

A.—I differ entirely in opinion from the ordinary run of visitors to the Salt Lake. I stayed there a month and lived with different families. I went to Utah in fear and trembling, because in America the people of Utah have a more severe character than they have here. I went under the protection of a secretary, but no will befell me. As to the women, they are not what are called "ladies" in Utah, but they are all women of a month and lived with different families.
