FORTY-SIXTH CONGRESS

CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, 6.—The bill facilitating negotiations, bills of lading and other commercial instruments was placed on the calendar. The Senate considered the calendar.

Maxey's bill, authorizing the retired list of non-commissioned officers of 30 years' standing, Messrs. Logan, Hampton and Burnside favored it, Beck opposed it.

The morning hour expired and the Ute bill was taken up, Pendleton advocated it.

The Senate insisted on its amendments to the Census bill and Harris Pendleton and Morrill were appointed conferees.

The resolution allowing the printing office employes certain holidays passed.

Pendleton went over the history of the negotiations with the Utes and stated his belief that wrongs were committed on both sides, and irritation existed up to the time of the massacre. To-day 46,000 enterprising settlers are pressing upon these 4,000 Indians. The government has either to make war upon the Indians in the interest of the settlers, or on the settlers in the interest of the Indians. The only alternative is to make an arrangement advantageous to both Indians and settlers, as is attempted in this agreement. It observed treaty rights and inaugurated what is now required, viz.: a new Indian policy. The old policy of large reservations and recognition of tribal organizations was suitable to the time when vast areas of land lay unoccupied and seemed not likely to be needed for settlement in at least a century.

Pendleton showed that a large appropriation was made in the bill for schools, but after all he thought the most powerful and effective method of education was to grant property rights.

Morgan asked the Senator whether the committee on Indian affairs thought there was any reason for making the treatment of the Utes an exception from the general Indian policy.

Pendleton thought that he could properly state that the committee was likely to present the bill and might hereafter do so to extend the principle of this bill to all the Indians and thus obviate the necessity for further legislation on the Indian question. But there was urgent necessity for immediate action in regard to this particular tribe.

Morgan understood that the real urgency was the controversy between the Secretary of the Interior and the Secretary of War.

Teller made some remarks in which he took a different view from that of Pendleton concerning the treatment of the Utes by the whites, and claimed that they were not maltreated by the people of Colorado. He reiterated that the trouble was due to the maladministration on the part of the Interior Department, and alleged that the Secretary had not sent all the information to the Senate that had been called for.

Hill said the bill was not claimed to be perfect, but it was the best settlement of the Ute question he thought practicable. He denied the statement of Teller that the Interior Department had concealed facts concerning the treatment of the captive women with a view to creating sympathy with the Indians, and said the information was withheld at the urgent request of the women, and for their benefit, and no other course could honorably have been pursued. The policy of educating the Indians was a good one, but it required time. This bill was to meet a sudden emergency. Adjourned.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, 6.—Night sessions are ordered for Wednesday and Thursday, to consider bills reported by the naval committee.

MacMahon, from the appropriation committee, reported back the special deficiency bill, with the Senate amendments. A point being made that it must be referred to the committee of the whole, McMahon withdrew the bill, and it was recommitted.

Night sessions are ordered for the 21st and 22d inst. for the consideration of District of Columbia business.

Atkins, chairman of the appropriation committee, reported the naval appropriation bill; referred.

The report says the Navy Department's estimate amounted to $14,600,000. The committee reduces the amount $218,000 from the estimates, making it $855,000 larger than last year's bill.

By Washburne, from the public land committee, authorizing the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad to extend its road through Dakota; referred to a committee of the whole; also a bill authorizing the Fort Worth and Sioux City Railroad Company to extend its line to the Missouri River.

By Shelby, from the railroad and canal committee, authorizing the Secretary of War to contract with the San Antonio and Mexican Border Railroad Company for the immediate construction of a railroad from San Antonio to a point near Leardo.

Shelby moved to refer to a committee of the whole.

McLane wished it referred to the committee on Pacific railroads.

Pending action, the morning hour expired.

The Senate resolutions giving the printing office employes certain holidays, passed.

Clymer moved that the House go into committee upon the army appropriation bill, which motion was antagonized by Springer, who desired to call up the Curtin-Yocum contested election case.

Clymer's motion was agreed to, however, and the House went into committee, Springer in the chair, on the army appropriation bill.

AMERICAN.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Bribery Attempted.

WASHINGTON, 6.—H. H. Finley issues a card and says of the charge of Representative Springer "that a certain anonymous letter dated March 4th, and mailed March 8th, in which $5,000 was offered him if he would support W. D. Washburne in the Donnelly contested election case, was written by me or by some one for me; I desire to state unequivocally and positively I never wrote any such letter or employed any other person to write it, and did not know of its existence until after Mrs. Springer had shown it to Hon. Julian Springer. At the time he made the charge he also read a letter of mine dated March 7th, in which I strongly urged him to support Donnelly. There is nothing in that letter I regret. I did not speak or pretend to speak for Tilden. I spoke as a democrat in the name of the democrats. I believed the State of Minnesota to have been stolen away from the democrats by unparalelled briberies and intimidation, and I was in favor of restoring it to the democratic column of States where it properly belonged. I had many times conversed with Springer on the subject, and he had as repeatedly assured me he agreed with me in those views and would vote the State to Donnelly. One week before the anonymous letter, Springer volunteered the remark to me that the republican party had already received as much abuse for the Donnelly-Washburne case as it could receive, and he was in favor of going ahead and at once seating Donnelly." I was astonished beyond expression when I learned a few days afterwards that the republicans were claiming Springer as upon their side. I wrote, therefore, earnestly and warmly because I did not wish to see Springer injure his own reputation, and at the same time oppose the great interests of the democratic party. If I spoke too strongly in that letter or in any other way was guilty of any impropriety, I regret it. I have no hostility towards Springer and no desire to do him injustice. I do think, however, it would only have been fair upon his part, when he made so serious a charge against me, if he had demanded a committee of investigation and given me an opportunity to have defended myself."

Evarts Displeased.

It is learned in diplomatic circles that Secretary Evarts has gotten into difficulty with Sir Edward Thornton, and has also greatly strained his relations with President Hayes, on account of certain curious circumstances growing out of his holding views antagonistic to the general sentiment of the country on the Inter-oceanic Canal question. It appears that he took it for granted that he would shape the policy of the administration on this question, and that he assured the British Minister on a number of occasions, that nothing of any importance or in the least way obnoxious to the British government should be said in the President's message to Congress on this subject. When, therefore, the President surprised him one day by reading the very emphatic Monroe doctrine message which he (the President) had himself prepared, and which, in spite of Evarts' persuasion and protestation, he refused to modify, the Secretary's amazement, mortification and chagrin were unbounded. And when it was sent to Congress, he had to explain matters to Sir Edward as best he could. It is quite generally understood that a breach has already been opened between the President and Secretary Evarts by the latter's ill-disguised contempt for the abilities of most of his official associates, including the President, and there is no doubt whatever that the occurrences noted have widened the breach very considerably.

Census Supervisors.

The Senate Executive Session was mainly occupied with a long animated discussion over two Mississippi nominations for Supervisors of Census, which were finally rejected by a strict party vote in each instance. John R. Lynch, nominee for the supervisorship of the third district, is a well known colored man who preceded General Chalmers as representative in the Congress of the so-called "Shoe String" district of Mississippi. The majority of the census committee reported adversely on his nomination, and it was likewise opposed in the Senate on the ground that he is a politician, and would be likely to make use of the census supervisorship to promote his election to Congress. John S. Burton, now deputy collector of internal revenue, was reported against on similar grounds.

The House elections committee had a secret meeting, presumably on the Springer-Manning affair, this morning.

Chinese Relations.

NEW YORK, 6.—The Commercial Bulletin, commenting on the interview between Secretary Evarts and Congressman Willis respecting the resolution of inquiry on the Burlingame treaty, says Secretary Evarts is trying to perform an impossibility. He is essaying to carry water on both shoulders. He is desirous of securing the approval of the California people, and at the same time preserving our commercial relations with China. The thing cannot be done. California's approval is only to be had by expelling the Chinese from the Pacific Coast altogether, and that if that expulsion is permitted by the Government, we may as well abandon all expectation of preserving our commercial relations with them in their own country. The interests of the whole country are paramount to the mere prejudices of California, and paramount also to whatever political or partisan considerations are entering into the controversy in connection with the Presidential election.

Heavy Failure.

The Times has the following details of the reported failure of P. Mish & Son, wholesale straw goods merchants of San Francisco, who have an agency at 405 Broom street, has caused the greatest surprise in the straw goods trade in this city. Bradstreet's agency has received a dispatch to the effect that local attachments to the amount of $36,000 have been filed against the firm, and a mortgage to the wife of the senior partner for $54,000 was put on record a few days ago, purporting to have been made in December last. The total liabilites are reported at over $200,000, of which more than $100,000 are due to creditors in New York City. It is said that every house in the straw goods trade in this city, except one, are creditors.

An Irish Election.

A Cork special to the Telegram announces the following result of the Parliamentary elections: Daly, Home Ruler, 1,023; Parnell, 1,500; Goulding, Conservative, 999. Murphy who is defeated and against whom Parnell directed his entire hostility, accepted the Home Rule platform with cautious reservtion compatible with the integrity of the United Kingdom.

Shot in the Nose.

Dr. Theophius Steele, a prominent up-town physician was shot and hit in the nose on the corner of Seventh Avenue and Fourth street this morning by the well known electrician, W. E. Sawyer. The quarrel arose from a misunderstanding between the wives of the two men. The families of both parties are boarding at 261, Fourth street, the husbands taking part in the quarrel.

Fight with Indians.

DEADWOOD, 6.—The Times special from Terry Port, Montana, under the date of the 3d inst. says: Capt. Huggins with three companies of the Second Cavalry, who started out after the hostile Sioux on the 25th ult., overtook them yesterday (Friday) 35 miles south of here. The troops charged the camp and captured 40 ponies, but the Indians got into a ravine and could not be got out. Sergeant Johnson, Company C, Second Cavalry, was killed during the charge. Gen. Miles, who was on the way east, hearing of the fight, stopped at Falcon Creek where he now awaits the arrival of reinforcements which left Fort Keogh on Friday night under Lieut. Clarke.

A later dispatch says that two Indians were captured, the remainder getting away on foot.

Woman's Missionary Society.

MARSHALLTOWN, Ia., 6.—The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the States of Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Colorado, Arkansas, and the Territories of Dakota and Wyoming, met in convention on Friday and adjourned sine die to-day. There was a large attendance. The meeting was the most interesting and profitable in the history of the society. Ten thousand dollars was raised for missionary purposes during the year, and it is expected the amount will be doubled the ensuing year. The next convention will be held at Marysville, Missouri.

Outrage upon a Cadet.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., 6.—At 6 o'clock this morning, Johnson C. Whittaker Cole, the colored cadet in the West Point class of 1876, was found bound hand and foot in his room at the barracks, with a piece of one ear cut off, the other ear was slit and his head bruised. He stated that three masked men attacked him while he was in bed some time after midnight, and committed the outrage. General Schofield and Commander Luzzelle are investigating the affair. It is believed the outrage was committed by cadets.

Negro Privileges in Indiana.

CHICAGO, 6.—The Times' Shelbyville, Indiana, special says: A negro offering to vote, was told "no d—n nigger could cast a ballot," and he was run off the square. Lee Amsden, county treasurer, commenced to club another negro, and was himself clubbed by a white republican, tearing his scalp open five inches. Amsden led the mob which attacked the negro emigrant train in December. The excitement is intense over the introduction of the Yazoo idea.

Blaine Ahead.

DES MOINES, 6.—The republicans have elected county delegates to the State convention from 14 counties, giving 137 votes. All are for Blaine and so instructed. Five other counties were for Blaine, but not instructed.
