The shooting then became general on both sides. Sheriff Miller was shot in the hip, dying from the wound.

Miller was shot in the hip, dying from the wound. Five Indians, including the notorious Eagle Feather, were killed and five hadly wounded of whom three are not expected to live. The Indians then reattered and struck out for the Dako-ta line. There were 22 bucks and 36 squaws and children in the party. Sheriff McDermott, of Weston cour-ty Deputy Cook and a posse of 20 rowboys from Douglas and Lusk, all heavily armed, are in hot pursuit of the Indians, and may possibly overtake them before they reach the state line. The dead Indians were buried, while the bodies of Sheriff Miller and Deputy Eakenburgh were taken to Newcastle. Sheriff Miller was well known here as a brave man. Falkenburgh was for a number of years employed by sheep-men here and was well regarded.

MIKADO'S BIRTHDAY.

Japanese Are Celebrating the Event in This City Today.

Today is the birthday of the Mikado of Japan, as well as election day in this country, and the local Japanese, 48 in number, will celebrate their sovereign's natal day, with a public meeting in old K. of P. hall on Richards street. The Japanese and American banners were hung from the outer wall this noon, and the hall inter-or decorated with the colors of the two nations as far as the colors of the two nations as far as the limited means of the Japs would al-low. There will be speaking, sing-ing, such as it is, perhaps some or hes-tra music, and a distribution of favors in the way of sandwiches. But the feature of the evening, will be the oratory—all in the oriental vertacular, Every American who knows five words oratory—all in the oriental vernacular. Every American who knows five words of Japanese is invited to be present. The Japanese dynasty claims to be 2,500 years old, having descended from a gentlema— vamed Jemimu Tenno (Japanese ~mes Tenney). James is claimed to have been of divine ori-gin—more or less, and to have eventu-ally turned out to be the progenitor of the entire Japanese nation.

WEALTHY PANTRY WOMAN

Frugal Domestic at the Miller Hotel Dies of Appendicitis.

Mrs. Jennie Robinson, the pantry woman of the Miller hotel, who died the other day from appendicitis, was thought to have been penniless, but now turns out to have been worth nearly $10,000. Her sister, Mrs. Adam Duncan, after burying the unfortunate woman, states that Mrs. Robinson had that amount, most of which was loaned out at interest, but there was $1,500 in Zion's Savings Bank and Trust com-pany of this city. The fortune will be divided between Mrs. Duncan and an-other sister, Mrs. Jessie Robb of Og-den.. Mrs. Robinson's husband was drowned 30 years ago in the Weber river, leaving the widow, and two children who afterwards died. After this, the poor woman lost all desire to mingle with society, and worked out. By her frugality she managed to save ap money and increased it by judicious investments, with a view to retirit shortly to take things easy in her old age. But death called sooner than she was anticipating. The deceased had worked at the Miller for seven years, for seven years, and was so retiring that even her employers did not know her name. She was known as Jennie, and that was all, The people at the Miller were astonished on learning that the $15 per month pantry girl, was a wealthy woman.

"The Hills' of California" was seen here for the first time last night, and the Grand was well filled to greet it. The star of the occasion was Mr. Frank Bacon in the role of Uncle Amos, and he played the part of the old farmer with quiet feeling, not at all after the fashion of the usual stage "hay seed." Another special feature was the intro-duction of a realistic farm scene, in luction of a realistic farm scene, in which a real calf, real chickens, and two roosters induiging in a very good mitation of a real fight. Ogden, Nov. 3.-Polling started out very slowly nere this morning with the result that by 1 p. m. in the majority of the districts not a fourth of the vote had been cast.
