But the Court couldn't see it in the same calcium light of consistency, and therefore Mr. Dilley, being convicted, will receive sentence to-morrow.

A Pleasant Surprise.

On Wednesday Brother Brimley, who recently resigned the Bishopric of the Fifth Ward, was made the recipient of a pleasant surprise from the children of the Primary Association in that Ward. At the regular meeting of the Association, President Clark presiding, after the usual programme and exercises, an elegant writing desk, handsomely furnished, was presented to ex-Bishop Brimley, with an address expressive of the love and respect of the children, and their gratitude for his past interest in them and the good counsel he had always received from him. Brother Brimley was very much affected, and for a time unable to reply, though subsequently he made a few remarks expressive of his appreciation of their kindness and his desire for their present and eternal welfare.

That Sudden Death.

Mr. Robert Brune, of Kelton, father of the boy Jonathan Brune, who died suddenly yesterday, has arrived in town, and says he feels satisfied that Mr. Wilcox and his family did all they could for the boy while at their place. When about five years of age he fell and hurt his head, which caused the fits to which he has ever since been subject. An eminent physician of New York said it was the result of an affection of the brain. The deceased was born Nov. 1st, 1872, in New Jersey, where he was also hurt. Mr. Brune does not deem it necessary to hold a post-mortem over the remains. He says that sometimes the boy would have seven or eight fits in a night, or in the day. Sometimes he would be noisy and at other times quiet, and occasionally become entirely insensible. He was, aside from his fits, in perfect health, but turned over and smothered in one of these attacks. Mr. Brune states that he has had frequently to turn him in bed under such circumstances. The father came to the city in answer to a telegram sent yesterday, as stated last evening. The funeral will be held at 10 a. m. to-morrow from the residence of Mr. Wilcox in the 10th Ward.

Arizona has a usury law which provides that any one loaning money at a greater rate of interest than 5 per cent. a month becomes liable for three times the amount loaned. This shows consideration enough for the Shoshonis. Any man who is to do something with a per cent. a year would demand pay in advance for relief to a starving Arizone exploring party.

VERDICT OF SUICIDE.

CONCLUSION OF THE INQUEST UPON THE BODY OF WILLIAM B. GOODWIN.

The examination into the cause of the death of William B. Goodwin, whose body was found on the hill near the Warm Springs Bath House on the 17th inst., was resumed yesterday afternoon. Three more witnesses, viz: C. C. Little, J. A. Ross and J. M. Goodwin, were sworn in and turned testified.

Mr. Little, the broker, who sold a Smith & Wesson revolver to a certain person about the middle of August, said: "He handed me $10 in gold and I gave him back $3 in silver, as change. He was of medium height, heavy build, and had a dark mustache. He had on a thick black coat, not very light color. He was about 25 or 30 years of age. It was just after 12 o'clock (noon) when he came in. He seemed ignorant of pistols. I put four cartridges in the pistol he bought. He asked if I thought the police would arrest him if he carried a loaded pistol. I would not know that particular pistol again, but I would know the kind. I have seen only one found with the body and it is of the same make as the one I sold. The cartridges in it resemble those I put in, having little or no grease on it. It was reading the account in the Chronicle of the finding of the body, that led me to think of the Smith & Wesson pistol."

Mr. J. A. Ross, engineer on the D. & R. G. Railway, testified: "I reside at Pleasant Valley Junction, and have known the deceased for over a year. He had been working for me as fireman since last January. His character was stable and as moral as you find. I never heard of any trouble between him and anyone. I saw him last on the evening of the 13th of August, from 2 o'clock to 3:30, in the round house. He said he was going home to get clothes. He had been absent, and got up about 1 p. m. and took dinner at the round house before going up town. He said to the caller who met him on the way, that he needed call him, as he would be down in time to go out with the train. I waited from 10 to 10:45 p. m. and then sent for another fireman and got away about 11. There was but one lady in the household, V. Junction that he knew: her only as a passing acquaintance. He had perhaps $3, or $3.50 when he got in. About a week before he said he thought he would have to get a job somewhere else. His engine had been ditched about thirty days before. He was getting about $2.40 per day. Eighty-five miles was considered a day's work. Any thing over that he got extra pay for. I don't think it possible that he could have got up town to purchase the pistol, as stated. He was a taller man than Mr. McKinnis and not much heavier. He had on a dark suit, and I don't think he had an enemy. I never knew him to gamble. He paid 50 cents for his bed and breakfast that morning."

J. M. Goodwin, father of the deceased, stated that the hotel keeper told him his son said in bed till noon and paid 50 cents for bed and breakfast. I had been seen at about 8 p. m. August 18th, on Walker Brothers' corner. He frequently stood there. I have seen him there. He was familiar with fire-arms. He was 23 years old, and had been here two years. He was at Bingham, where he got loaded and was then home for two months. He lived in Omaha some years. He was right-handed. He was only at home occasionally. His runs were east of Pleasant Valley. He always wanted a companion. He had no enemies, and never did anything that I know of to make enemies.

The evidence all being in, the jury were left alone and in something over an hour rendered the following verdict:

TERRITORY OF UTAH, County of Salt Lake.

An inquisition holden at the Sexton's office, in the Fifth Precinct of Salt Lake City, Territory of Utah, on the 24th day of September, A. D. 1884, before George J. Taylor, Coroner of said County, upon the body of William B. Goodwin, there lying dead, by the jurors whose names are hereunto subscribed.

The said jurors upon their oaths do say, that the deceased came to his death by the firing of a pistol, a ball or bullet, fired from a .38 calibre pistol, passing through the brain of the deceased, and from the evidence presented we have reason to and do believe that the said pistol was held in the hands of the deceased.

In testimony whereof the said jurors have hereunto set their hands, the day and year first above written.

JETER CLINTON, MARK McKINNON, CHAS. O. WHITTEMORE, Jurors.

GEORGE J. TAYLOR, Coroner.

A MISSIONARY'S EXPERIENCE.

ROTTEN-BODIED AND HOUNDED BY THE "CHRISTIANS" OF INDIANA.

ELDER Vance Sheffer, of Los, Platte County, returned last Sunday evening from the Northwest States mission. He started from here on the 12th of last April, and has labored while away in Montgomery, Park and Putnam Counties in the State of Indiana. The first month he was a co-laborer with Elder Reuben B. Farnsworth, and the rest of the time with Elder James H. Heywood. He traveled 855 miles on foot, and attended 36 meetings. He was mobbed twice, once with Elder Farnsworth and the other time with Elder Heywood.

On the first occasion the brethren were on their way home, after holding a meeting, with a young man who had invited them to pass the night at his house. As they were going through the crowd and were about a rod from the school house, a mob of about 200 men, armed with shotguns, struck Elder Farnsworth in the back. The young man who they were with was hit by a goose-egg on the back of the neck, where he was suffering from a boil, with such force as to almost knock him down. He went back and took hold of one of the assailants and shook him right heartily, showing fight and telling the cowardly gang that they had "jumped up the wrong man" when they threw eggs at him. Several others in the crowd had also been struck. The mob threw no more, but got into a row among themselves and several were locked up. Elder Sheffer heard afterwards that a number of the more prominent of them, fearing the Grand Jury would get hold of them, went and complained of themselves to the sheriff for the part they had taken in the disgraceful transaction. This affair happened at Oakland School-house, Montgomery County.

The next time, when Elders Sheffer and Heywood were assaulted, was at Smartsville in the same county. They had held a meeting in a school house in the town, and not being permitted with anyone, obtained permission from the young man who held the key to stay in the school-house over night. About half an hour after the congregation had dispersed, four young men entered the building, one of them pretending to be looking for a pocket knife. But this was only a pretext. The common thing with such a crowd is to do something that is shameful, and pretty soon they informed the Elders they had come to look up the house and wanted them to get out.

Arger's Aque Cure not only affords immediate relief, but it eradicates the cause, such as colds, coughs, the disease, without leaving any injurious effect, as is the case with quinine and many of the aque medicines advertised. It is the only medicine in existence which may be considered an absolute antidote for fever and ague, and kindred diseases.

THE floral decorations on the Sacramental stand in the Tabernacle, designed and constructed by George Hamilton, for the funeral services of the deceased Elder W. S. Berry and John H. Gibbs appeared so pretty and unique, that I photographed the same, and to perpetuate the memory of the above Elders, I thought that the portraits of these martyrs would be considered in their place. Consequently I applied to Mrs. W. S. Berry of Kanab, Iron County, and Mrs. J. H. Gibbs, of Paradise, Cache County, for the portraits of their husbands, which I have responded to by sending. The portrait of W. S. Berry that I copied from was found in his pocket at the time of his death. That of J. H. Gibbs was photographed with Elder W. H. Jones, the missionary that occupied the same position as they on sale at my gallery, corner of Third South Street and Main, or they can be mailed to any address at the following prices, viz.: 8x10, 50 cents; cabinet or stereoscopic, 35 cents; album size, 15 cents; good in post paid stamp.
