Three Points in Advertising .-The publisher of the Chicago Dally News has issued a little book entitled vertising," which presents briefly, clearly and concisely the subject indicated by its title. The points considered are quantity, quality and price, the writer showing by apt illustrations Stephens' Concert .- One of the that the common trade principles in-

of purchase and sale apply with equal force to newspaper advertising, and that as the buyer of merchandise asks the three questions, What quantity? What quality? What price? So the advertiser may justly apply the same rule of measurement to the and on the strong recommendations of friends "who had been there," they friends "who had been there," they tried Britannia, and were at once re-lieved and radically cured. Britannia is what did it. It acted like a magic power. This secret agent quietly coursed through their velns, removed the cause of the trouble, liberated the captives from their doomed condition, and now they congratulate each other on the accomplishment of such a tri-umph, and the acquisition of the know-ledge, by which they can at any time resist the encroachments of their com-mon foe. We could give the names of the parties, but will walt a future time. tising space is offered in the market. He then deduces: First, that every publisher who offers advertising space for sale should, with his proposition, present an exact statement of the quantity of the advertising offered.

Second, that the quality of a newspaper's circulation is unerringly indicated by the quality or character of the paper itself.

condition of semi-stupidity, into as-serting their right to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." These par-ties had been bound by an influence as powerful as it was incomprehensible. They knew not the cause, yet they were victims to the result. They were enchained, but they could not discern by what means they had been manaci-ed. They had long sought deliverance in vala. Their appeals to science and the knowledge contained in books were equally unavailing. At last, relief came! It was not through any action of the President, or of Congress, for their trouble was not of a political character. Neither did the Governor's Message relieve them, nor any action of the new Legislature, for it was out of their power, and foreign to their jurisdiction. Yet they were sud-denly and effectually released from the hondage they suffered, and placed on the equal scale of human happiness. "What was their trouble?" is what our readers will ask. They had been ren-dered helpless by that universal enemy -theumatism.
