Clivel connectery. Easy Ascent—A local bank official who has tramped the hills for di-vorsion's sake, says a comparatively easy ascent can be made of the big saven Mile Mill moutain north of City Creek, by climbing to the ridge at the eily gravel pill excavations above the concrete works, and follow-ing the ridge eastward. This will by easy gradients, and the heavy thickets avoided. As there use no sheep or cattle allowed on the City Cruck watershed, the brash there is in consequence growing so fast that ly consequence growing so fast that by another season or two the North Fork truth will be impassable, unless a gang is sent out from town to cut the Hickets away.
