of the Council of Apostles was the speaker of the afternoon. He said the occasion and the day were suggestive of a theme upon which he should speak, if so led by the Spirit of the Lord. Wheth-Taylor Residence Robbed - The dwelling of Samuel Taylor was enter-ed by robbers Saturday evening, while members of the family were at the theater. Just what the thieves took er the day observed as the anniversary of the resurrection of the Savior was of the resurrection of the Savior was the exact day or not matters but little, the fact remains that that event was the most wonderful in the history of the world. After He had given up the ghost, His body was placed in the tomb, but on the third day He arose from the dead. For a period of 40 days He was at intervals with His dis-ciples and He then ascended into heav-en Third Presbyterian church, with these contestants, Mamie Brown, Nong Mar-tin, Lonnie Wilson, Hazel McKinney, Gladys Robinson, Mary McCarthy and Eleanor Belknap.

Severciy Injured-William Pepper of Waterloo was knocked down and rendered unconscious Saturday night, at Main and First South streets, by a wagon, while about to board a street car. He was attended to by Dr. Bene-dict and sent home. It is said that a man named Ray Smith was the driver of the vehicle which knocked Pepper down. Figer Penrose read the account of the resurrection of Jesus, as recorded in Matthew xxviii. The testimony of that Evangelist is corroborated in its chief particulars by Mark, Luke and John. The four writers agree that the body of the Savior was brought forth from the tomb by the power of God. Not only was the Son of God seen after His res-wrection by the 11 Aposties and that

To those who be-lieve, repent and are baptized for the remission of their sins the Holy Ghost will be given, and the Spirit will testi-fy that the Gospel of Christ is true. Jesus is the great exemplar and Him we should follow. The message of sal-vation, said the speaker in conclusion, must be preached to all nations, that earth's inhabitants may be prepared for the coming of Him whose right it is to reign. DR. TALMAGE'S LECTURE.

Part of Time Devoted to Explaining The Meaning of Easter.

The University Sunday school convened as usual yesterday at 12:30 p. m. in Barratt Hall, Mr. Horace S. Ensign again visited the school and delighted the large audience with three beautiful musical selections, well fitted to the day and the theme discussed by Dr. Talmage. In the first two solos, "The Holy City" and "Hail, Glorious Morn," Mr. Ensign was accompanied by Mr. Ed. Kimball, and in the last, "The Shepherd King," by Prof. Evan Steph-ens ens.

In view of a number of questions that had been submitted respecting Easter and its lessons, Dr. Talmage devoted a part of the lecture hour to the meaning of the day--the Easter Sabbath. He explained that no departure from the plan of the lecture course had been provided for, as interruptions in the order of subjects would be otherwise unavoidable able. In the preliminary remarks, attention was paid to the origin of the Easter fes-tival, and to the explanation of the changing date. Its connection with the Passion date, its significance in contrib-uting to the change of the Sabbath from Saturday to Sunday, also received attention. The solemnity of the Scrip-tural record attesting the resurrection of the Lord was impressively portrayed. The address of the day, as previously announced, was presented under the The address of the day, as previously announced, was presented under the title "The Shepherd and the Sheep-herder." This was made to include a continuation of the discourses and min-istry of Jesus while at Jerusalem after the last Feast of Tabernacles and pre-ceding the last Feast of Dedication at-tended by Him. The crucifixion was brought about before the next anniver-sary of these statutory observances. Jesus had proclaimed Himself as the means by which the life-giving spring could be reached; and as the light by which alone could the path to salvation be followed. Now He adopts the fig-mative character of the Good Shepherd, and in gentle language pictures a con-trast sharp and tertible between the Shepherd and the hireling herder; and yet more piercing is the character, as

Shepherd and the hireling herder; and yet more piercing is the character, as presented in metaphor, of the thieves and robbers who seek access to the flock, yet are afraid to apply at the door, where they would have to meet and pass scrutiny of the Shepherd or the authorized representative. The speaker portrayed in graphic out-line and by impressive comparison, the shepherd who leads the flock, and the herder who follows and drives. The shepherd who leads the flock, and the herder who follows and drives. The Shepherd loves the sheep, therefore has he a title of relationship, of owner-ship, indeed; the herder cares for them only that he may win his wage, and is ready to flee at the first danger; the thief who tries to reach the flock other-wise than by the door sees in the sheep only mutton, and fleece, or the gold that may be grasped through the sale of the lambs unto death. lambs unto death.

lambs unto death. The lesson of the discourse is clear-er in the unity of the incidents than in the strained exegesis of any single part. It is the lesson, the proclamation, part. It is the lesson, the proclamation, the official decree, of authority specific and definite. Through Christ alone could and can the boon of salvation be attained. It is the acceptance on the basis of the soul's testimony re-ceived of God, that Jesus is indeed the Christ, that He is the sole medium of salvation: that He lived and died and rose argin that He is in use for

Then the sheepmen have considerable Jucern left over, and are offering this to local dealers, so that prices are weakening, and will fall from now on. Fresh grass is coming up on the va-cant lots about town and in the fields, and cows are finding there good pasturage.

Blessing in Disguise-A communication has been received by Gov. Cut-ler from Tom Richardson, manager of the Commercial club at Portland, in which he stated that the recent fire which destroyed the Commercial club which destroyed the Commercial club building in that city will no doubt prove a blessing in disguise as a much more suitable building will be erected on the property. The letter was in response to a telegram of sympathy over the destruction of the club build. over the destruction of the club building sent by Gov. Cutler.

Attempted Burglary-An attempt was made early Sunday morning to burglarize the grocery store of Antapio Ferro, 589 west Second South street. Officer Phillips, who was near by at the time, heard the sound of falling glass and hastened to the scene. The would-be robbers were frightened at the noise made by themselves, and ran away from the premises, followed by the officer. The latter fired several shots at the flecing men, but did not succeed in stopping them. Officers from headquarters answered a summons for help to run down the thieves, but no trace could be found of the latters' whereabouts.

Church Scats Arrive-The seats for the First Presbyterian church were re-ceived here "knocked down" and crat-ed, which saved a good deal on freight charges. The seats are now being put ed, which charges. together, and in 10 days will be set in position. The stained glass windows position. The stained glass windows are all in place and are attractive and artistic. The west window represents the nativity, the east window the arrival of mary at the tomb and the south window represents the prayer scene in the garden of Gethsemene. The small windows on the west side on the audi-tanting does be a set of the source of the second terms of the second seco torium floor, represent notable scenes In the Savior's life. The glass work is American manufacture and is well done, noticeably the combination, with sheen effects, of emerald and gold. The light as filtered through the win-dows is pleasant and soothing to the eye, and the artistic merit of the designs will be much admired.

Work is Completed-The G. A. R. Work is Completed—The G. A. R. general committee in charge of the ar-rangements for the state encampment of May 10 next, completed its work last Saturday night, and decided to have the parade at 9:30 a. m. on that day. The procession will include the G. A. R. and Women's Relief corps, Stantish war, voltarant, the Mational Spanish war veterans, the National Guard, High school cadets, the All Hallows' college cadets and the Fort Douglas garrison. Corp. James Tan-ner and staff will arrive here on the evening of the 9th inst, and at 6 p. m., on the 10th a banquet will be served in the state armory to the G. A. R. and W. R. C. ladles, and Corp. Tan-net will deliver an address. A public ner will deliver an address. A public reception will be held later in the parors of the Commercial club. A com-nittee of prominent citizens has been named who are expected to meet with committee of the G. A. R. at the Commercial club Tuesday, April 17, at 1 p. m. This committee is composed of the following: Heber M. Walls, T. G. Webber, J. W. Houston, J. G. Mc-Donald, Fisher Harris and Raymond Naylor. Special trains will be run to this city in connection with the en-campment.

THE C. S. MARTIN COAL CO are filling orders promptly for all kinds of coal is essential to salvation and is a prin-cinple of power. By it the worlds were created and are controlled. Jesus came to atone for the sins of men, and through faith in Him and obedience through faith in Him and obedience to the precepts He taught, individuals may be redeemed from their own transgression. "As in Adam all die, so in Christ shall all be made alive." The resurrection will be partaken of by all. As we had nothing to do with the transgression of our first parents, so we have nothing to do with the plan by which the dead shall be made to live again. Man is responsible for his live again. Man is responsible for his own acts, as a free agent, and in the resurrection brought about by the Savior of mankind, each one will arise in his own order from the grave. There is a conviction in the soul of man that death does not end all. The intelligence and experiences of mortality do not pass away. Every true principle is eternal, it never was created. The material elements may be scattered to the four winds, but not one particle of matter can be annihilated. Matter may be disorganized, but cannot be destroyed. The elements can as easily be brought together as they can be scattered. Mortals cannot comprehend how it will be done, but men do not understand the nature of many things that are of daily occurrence. The powers by which the earth makes its diurnal rotation and by which it revolves around the sun, gravitation and other forces, are but empty names as far as the understanding of man goes. The power of an omnipotent God is behind it all.

Why, asked Elder Penrose, should there be a death of the beauliful hu-man body? Why should it not live forever? Man, as first created, was forever? Man, as first created, was to live for all time. By breaking a com-mandment of his Maker, he planted in his own body the seeds of death, and these were hereditary. While this was, doubtless, compatible with the design of God. He did not compel man to sin or to refrain. The power to do or not to do was in man. Death was considered in the divine program, but it must come through the exercise but it must come through the exercise of man's free agency. Each soul is free to receive truth or to reject it; each has the making of his own future. Mortals may for a time subdue, even will all be resurrected? Yes. That all should be made partakers of the resurrection is but just and fair. But each will arise in his order. The glor-ies will differ as do the sun, moon and stars. The words of the Savior Himself to His disciples of old were to the effect that the hour would come when "all who are in the graves shall hear the voice of the Son of God and shall come forth." Christ came and suffered pain and sorrow and finally the pangs of death, that He might justly judge his brethren and sisters and extend mercy unto them. Man is responsi-ble for the sins he himself commits, and through obedience to divine lay he can be cleansed therefrom, and this through the atonement of Christ. Elder Penrose read from the book of Job certain passages which seem to Job certain passages which seem to argue against the principle of the res-urrection. The speaker read not only the text but the context, and harmon-ized the sayings of Job, showing that the latter was not a disbeliever in but a strong advocate of the doctrine that there is a resurrection of the dead. The dospel of Josus Christia is the

there is a resurrection of the dead. The Gospel of Jesus Christ is the Gospel of resurrection, continued El-der Penrose. With that body with which the Savior ascended into heaven from the Mount of Olives shall He come again in the clouds of heaven. In that body he was seen by Stephen, by John, by Joseph Smith and Oliver Cowdery and Sidney Risdon. God hea-Cowdery and Sidney Rigdon. God has provided redemption for all, for life God has comes from Him and Jesus came not to destroy but to save. The Gospel of faith, repentance, baptism and the gift of the Holy Ghost is being preached. Men should ccase to do svil, learn to

of salvation; that He lived and field and rose again, that He is in very fact the risen Redeemer-this testimony and sacred knowledge is the distin-guishing characteristic of Christianity; and the living of a life in harmony with this testimony is the true mark of the Christian.

Christian, As a sublime epilogue to the dis-course, the Master declares His com-bined mortality and immortality. He has the power to die: yet none can take His life except as He yields it up, for, as the Son of an immortal Sire, He was able to hold death in check. The crandeur of the speak acceleration was able to hold death in check. The grandeur of the great sacrifice lay/in its voluntary character. A new topic in the course will be presented at the next gession, April 22.
