Death from the Kick of a Horse.

SPRINGVILLE, Aug. 6, 1874.

Editor Deseret News:

On the 30th of July last George W. Brown, of Charleston, Provo Valley, died from the effects of a kick from a horse, which he received on the Tuesday previous. He was in his twenty-first year and was universally respected by all who knew him for his exemplary conduct and deportment. He died as he had lived, in the full faith of a glorious resurrection. "Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his Saints." His suffering were indeed great, but he bore them with a patience and submission that none but Saints can do.

Yours in the gospel, WILLIAM WRIGHT.

The "People's Ticket"—Contemptible "Liberal" Tricks—The Crops—Horse Struck Dead by Lightning.

SPRINGVILLE, August, 4th, 1874.

Editor Deseret News:

The election here passed off peaceably and orderly, the "People's Ticket" being sustained by an overwhelming majority.

It is, however, a deplorable fact, that persons, who assume to don the style of "Liberal," should so far be lost to dignity and manhood, as to go from house to house, threatening the gentler sex with the terrible things government intends to do in case the "Mormons" should fail to send a Gentile to Congress. Unfortunately for these intimidators, no "Mormon" lady could be found, up to the time of the election, with sufficient gullibility to swallow such doses. There are one or two here, who declare openly and avowedly that they would vote for any man who would use power as a means to oppress the "Mormons." The rings of Utah County, are interspersed, here and there, with a "Mormon" apostate, but these rings are so insignificant and imbecile that their efforts, to the present time, have been attended with vexation and disappointment.

If the election returns of the past few years have not already taught these croakers that the people are powerful, that they know their rights and dare sustain them, it strikes me that nothing short of a streak of lightning can ever do so.

The crops here seem to be ripening almost simultaneously, which is crowding farmers to the utmost, it being next to impossible to hire sufficient help to save the grain. Corn is rather more than an average crop—small grains an average yield.

The codling moth is doing some little damage to the apple crop here. This yield is rather light the present year.

Yours truly, C. D. EVANS.

P. S.—Yesterday, a fine horse, the property of Daniel Sumson, of this place, was struck dead by lightning. Himself and son were under the wagon to which the horse was tied at the time. C. D. E.

NEW YORK, 6.—The Philadelphia Press has the following, as the latest special report in the boy abduction case, which shows how little progress has been made toward the solution of the mystery:

"From news gained in police circles and from private sources, it may be set down for a certainty that Charlie Ross is in Philadelphia today, and if not, he is not very far from here. If the child had been moved from this city it is just possible that one of the men took him away in his charge, while the other remained here and endeavored to enter into negotiations with the bereaved father to return the child for a sum that seemed fabulous. It would thus seem that the idea in kidnapping the boy was to secure money, and finding that they could not accomplish their ends as easily as expected, public indignation running high, the miscreants resolved to take things quietly and wait until the storm against them died out, when no doubt further bargains will be attempted. The men who did the work are undoubtedly professional thieves, as large pecuniary rewards would long ago have induced a novice in one or the other parties to give the detectives a clue on his pal and turn state's evidence himself and escape punishment. As the case now stands, there is every reason to believe that in a short time, probably less than a week, something will turn up which will give the case an entirely new phase, and show that some one has had a hand in the matter who professes entire ignorance of the scheme, and who loudly cries innocence."

Judge Morris, counsel for Tilton, said to-day that he had never seen a case so strongly fortified at all points as his client's. He exhibited, to reporters, a variety of letters which had passed between Beecher and Tilton, to show that down to May 10, 1870, there was no vindictiveness on the part of Tilton toward Beecher. Morris also showed a receipt of Wm. Page, dated Feb. 25, 1869, for a portrait of Beecher, purchased by Tilton, and now hanging in Moulton's house, saying that, in the following year, 1870, after Mrs. Tilton had informed her mother of her guilty relations with Beecher, her mother threatened to cut the canvass into slits, and Tilton, unwilling to see a work of art destroyed, removed it to Moulton's house, where it still remains. Morris also said that Mrs. Tilton's statements concerning her husband's cruelty, his locking her in her room like a prisoner, and his freezing and starving, her will be shown to be fictitious, and if there be any insanity in the family at all the charge will be not at the door of Tilton but of his wife.

It is reported that Moulton's statement is already prepared with the help of General Butler. The services of the latter gentleman are said to have been offered to Beecher and not declined, but replied to with thanks.

Moulton said to-day that he had not said anything, by tongue or pen, to justify anyone in assuming that he was in the least degree unfriendly to Beecher. His statement to the committee would characterize no actions and interpolate no inferences of his own. There were some papers in his possession that the committee desired to obtain, and he should gratify their desire, recording the order in which they came to him, leaving the committee and public to make their own inferences. He had thus far endeavored to maintain peace between Beecher and Tilton, and should continue to do so, and by the removal of misunderstandings, and the intelligent realization of self interest, he should never despair of maintaining or renewing peace.

Mr. J. I. Steadwell, fruit importer, and former publisher of the Revolution, said, to-day, that Moulton told him at the St. James Hotel, Jacksonville, Fla., almost directly after the Woodhull convention at Washington, that there was no truth in the rumors about Mr. Beecher.

GALVESTON, 6.—A special says that a captain just returned from Fort Worth, states that Indians had captured two mail stages, one going and one coming, between Wichita and Fort Sill; there were only three passengers, all of whom, with the drivers, were killed and scalped.

WASHINGTON, 6.—The Secretary of the Treasury, having notified inspector General Smith, of the bureau of steamboat inspection service, that his resignation would be accepted, he resigned this p.m., to take effect September first. Of the appropriations for boiler experiments, of one hundred thousand dollars, sixty thousand have been expended under his direction, and it is held that no good has been accomplished.

CINCINNATI, 6.—Three bodies of victims of the Pat Rogers disaster were recovered to-day; it is believed that 25 persons perished with the boat in the water.

WILMINGTON, 6.—The election passed off quietly here till just before the closing of the polls, when James Heaton, backed by several hundred negroes, created a disturbance and successfully resisted arrest; there is great excitement.

NEW ORLEANS, 6.—The proceedings in the republican State convention were interrupted, to-day, by a fisticuff, in which about a dozen persons participated; nobody was hurt.

TORONTO, Ont., 6.—Adamson's warehouse on Esplanade St., containing flour, grain, hay, tea and miscellaneous goods, was burned to-day; the loss is estimated at $125,000, insurance small.

WASHINGTON, 7.—General Howard has left Washington for Oregon, to take command of the department recently under General Davis.

NEW YORK, 7.—A letter from Ireland says that John Mitchell had a brilliant reception in the city of Cork; the whole town was aflame with excitement. He was waited on by crowds of his old associates of '48 and young disciples of '67. At night the streets were alive with bands of music and bonfires, and there was a torchlight procession to his residence, in which five thousand people took part.

RALEIGH, N. C., 7.—Large Democratic gains are reported in every section of the state; the legislature will be largely Democratic. There is great rejoicing among the conservatives, business being generally suspended and every one anxious to get the news.

CINCINNATI, 7.—The following bodies were recovered from the water at Aurora to day: Charles Dittman, Pilot; Charles Reissenger, stoker; Shelley Snyder of Miss.; Kate Eckenworth of Cincin.; Miss Faumer of Madison, Wis.; W. Brown, of Cincin.; one fireman, and two unknown ladies.

The steam towboat, Samuel Roberts, blew up at 10 o'clock in Guadotte, West Virginia Shoals, Ohio River; a watchman was killed, one man dangerously scalded, and six severely, but not dangerously injured.

EASTON, Md., 7.—Edward Smith, colored, aged eighteen years, convicted in May last of rape, was hanged to-day. He protested his innocence to the last.

TORONTO, Ont., 7.—The first elections in Canada under the ballot system took place yesterday, and resulted in favor of the government.

NEW YORK, 7.—The Brooklyn Eagle publishes an interview with Henry C. Bowen who is represented as saying of the Beecher-Tilton case—

"This entire business has caused me much pain. I have had no hand in it and do not wish to have. The public will yet learn that the attacks on me were brutal and unjustifiable. I only keep quiet under them in deference to my family. Although my name has been mixed up in the scandal, I have not made any charges against anybody yet, and therefore I have not been invited by the committee to appear. Subpoened into court, I will have to appear."

Bowen alluded to the agitation shown by Mrs. Hooker in Plymouth church, caused by her belief in Beecher's immorality, and but for the fact that she was restrained she would have announced it to the congregation.

Being asked if he, Beecher, ever did him injury, he said—

"I could consider his course unkindly. I consider it among my duties, nevertheless, to retain my position and pew in the church, because I intend to be there after him, as I was there before him."

As to Tilton, Bowen said he did not care which way it went with him. "The end must necessarily justify me before the public and I will never go down to my grave without saying something concerning my relations with this scandal. Moulton," continued "Bowen, is placed in an awkward position, but I believe he will tell the truth. The statement Woodhull offered the committee, should have been received. Were I a member of the committee I would accept testimony from every source."

The Tribune to-morrow publishes an interview with the parents of Theodore Tilton. They refuse to believe Mrs. Tilton guilty until she confesses to them, express undiminished faith in their son, and indignantly deny the story of hereditary insanity in the family.

To-day Mr. Moulton was busily engaged in the preparation of his statement to be submitted to the investigating committee. Several members of the committee having intimated their intention to leave the city to-morrow afternoon for the country, requested their chairman, Mr. Sage, to make arrangements with Mr. Moulton to postpone the statement till Monday. Accordingly Mr. Sage wrote Mr. Moulton, laying the above facts before him, and suggesting that he present his statement on Monday afternoon, which proposition was acquiesced in by Mr. Moulton. He will appear before the committee at three o'clock on Monday p.m.

In the evening the committee of investigation met in consultation, lasting about two hours, and at its conclusion they visited the residence of Beecher, where they remained closeted until a late hour. There will be no session of the committee to-morrow evening.

The Tribune to-morrow publishes the following—

"Sir—Until recently I had supposed that the secular and especially the religious press would maintain the sacred rule of justice that an established character is full evidence against unproved attacks. I had supposed the charge against such a character would be treated as slander until fully proved. I am the elder sister of seven ministers of Christ, of whom I can say that from their early childhood I never knew an unpure word or act from them, and therefore when one who, from early youth, has proved a model lover and husband, was accused by a hapless woman tortured into self accusation in temporary insanity, I supposed his established character was his sure protection and felt it an insult to him, his family and his church, that 'investigation' was demanded to prove his innocence. It has been with a sense of danger to every delicate and pure woman that it is so often claimed in this case, that there must be a suspended judgment. I regard this treatment of my brother as a declared war on womanhood. It is practically saying, Let any vile woman and vile man accuse any innocent woman of the most disgusting crime, and she shall be suspended before the public as guilty till she proves her innocence. In the public papers already pure and distinguished ladies are being assailed as my brother has been, and I ask every honorable man who has a wife or sister to come to the rescue, by maintaining that all persons shall be treated as slanderers, who circulate unprovoked attacks on established character. This is not written in aid of my brother, who is sure to be still more beloved and respected than ever. It is an appeal for the protection of my sex."

"CATHERINE E. BEECHER."

The Sun's Vicksburg special says Cordozo, State superintendent of education, and late circuit clerk of that county, and Dorsey, his successor, have forged a number of warrants of the county. Dorsey has been arrested, Cordozo has gone north. Both are colored.
