HOW ARE WE TO KNOW.—Dealers say how are we to know that Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder and Flavoring Extracts are unsophisticated? Know it, because they know that they never fail to give satisfaction. Know it, because they know the other kinds are bought at a less price than the materials for pure articles can be had; a price so low that it points at once to adulteration. If the seller would inform his customers that he could not answer for the quality or purity of the cheap kinds sold, there are very few persons who would prefer the adulterated articles to Dr. Price's genuine, although the former might be apparently cheaper.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

THERMOMETER 80 degrees F. in the shade, at 1 p.m. to-day. Fine day.

The Members of the High Council are requested to meet at the City Hall on Wednesday morning at ten o'clock.

Tabernacle Meetings.—Bishop E. D. Woolley and Elder Orson Pratt preached yesterday forenoon, and Elder Erastus Snow in the afternoon.

Supreme Court.— The Supreme Court of the Territory will meet tomorrow morning, according to adjournment.

Nearly Drowned.—At a few minutes to four o'clock this afternoon a year old baby fell into the water ditch, a little below Z. C. M. I. retail grocery, was carried down the stream, went under nine packing boxes and three foot bridges and was picked up opposite Dye's Millinery store.

Pressing Forward.—The Ladies' Relief Society of the Fifteenth Ward is about to build an addition to their co-operative store, in which new portion they purpose having a millinery workshop, where various kinds of goods in that line will be manufactured, and a showroom will also be connected with it.

Sickly Exhibition.—The passengers on the train from the south yesterday were subjected to the ordeal of having to witness the "slobberings of a "sickly" couple, who hugged and kissed each other all the way from Provo to this City, making themselves the subjects of uncomplimentary and jeering remarks. We understand the pair were on their way to the Eastern States.

From Montana to Utah.—Capt. T. C. Bailey, long connected with the Surveyor-General's office in the capacity of Chief Clerk, takes his departure by coach for Salt Lake City to-morrow morning. The Captain has been a most efficient public servant during the several years that he has uninterruptedly discharged the duties of his position, and probably has no superior as "an authority" in the West in all matters pertaining to Government surveys and the multifarious matters of the Surveyor-General's office. He is offered advantageous inducements to go to Utah by Surveyor-General Kimball, of that Territory, which he has deemed it well to accept. While, in common with very many of our people, we regret to lose Capt. Bailey, we are glad to know that he will continue to remain identified in interest with the country, and that he is not unlikely to be as well taken care of and appreciated in Utah as in Montana. —Helena Herald, June 9.

Brighton.—Brother Robert Hazen sends the following:

"Pursuant to appointment a meeting was held in Brighton Ward yesterday (Sunday) morning, at 10 o'clock, for the purpose of organizing a branch of the United Order. A. H. Raleigh, Bishop of the Ward, and Elder Elias Smith were present. Much valuable instruction was given by these brethren, and a good feeling predominated. The names of officers elected by the people, for this Ward, are—President, A. H. Raleigh; 1st Vice President, Henry Sutton, Sen.; 2nd Vice President, Robt. Hazen; Treasurer, William W. Camp; Secretary, Frederick Schoenfeld; Directors, Peter Bell, James Lane and John Hirst. They were unanimously elected."

THAT OUTRAGE.

That there might be no mistake in the public mind concerning the facts connected with the outrage committed on Tuesday, by Major D. S. Gordon, we publish the statement of parties who were eye-witnesses of the affair, being in the room at the time it occurred—

"SALT LAKE CITY,
"June 13th, 1874.

"We, the undersigned, certify and can do so under oath, if required, that a military officer, whom we understand to be one Major D. S. Gordon, did, on the 11th day of June, force an entrance, by breaking in the door, to the sleeping compartment of the engine house of the Fire Department; that after getting inside the room he demanded of Mr. Thos. Higgs that the latter should give up a certain prisoner; that when said Higgs stated that he had nothing to do with any prisoner, the said Gordon leveled a loaded gun at the breast of Mr. Higgs, saying to the latter, "G—d d—n you; get out of here, or I'll shoot you;" and that Mr. Higgs then immediately left the room.

"We saw the said Gordon lead his gun after he got inside the room and before leveling it at Mr. Higgs.

A SOLDIER HAS HIS HEAD GASHED!

He Claims the Protection of the Police.

At a late hour on Saturday night a soldier ran into the City Hall building, and called upon the police for protection. He presented a fearful spectacle, his clothing being covered with blood, which was gushing from a deep wound in his head, from which the blood fairly spouted from the gash. He stated that he received the cut in Metz's saloon, and charged the proprietors, Messrs. Metz & Scott, with inflicting it, besides giving him an unmerciful beating.

Dr. Thompson was called in and dressed the wound, an officer from Camp Douglas was also called in and the injured soldier, whose name is stated as being Geiger, was taken to the post by some of his companions.

Meantime Messrs. Metz & Scott had been promptly arrested by the police, and the trial of the case was set for two o'clock to-day, with the understanding that the soldier would be in court at that time to testify.

The accused tell a very different story to that given by the soldier. They state that Geiger was in their saloon, and, being very quarrelsome and noisy, they were under the necessity of putting him out; that he afterwards returned and went into one of the small drinking rooms in the establishment, where he quarrelled with another party, receiving a blow on the head from a tumbler, in the hands of his antagonist, which, they say, inflicted the severe cut already mentioned.

It is to be hoped that the truth will be clearly shown at the trial, and if the parties charged did unwarrantably and unmercifully maltreat the soldier they deserve to be severely punished, for in all cases we suppose the civil authorities purpose to vindicate the majesty of the civil law, not only for the protection of citizens, from abuse, maltreatment and injury that may be inflicted upon them by the soldiery, but also to protect the soldiers from any abuse and ill-treatment from the hands of citizens. There is no difference between the two classes in the eyes of the civil law, which is the supreme law of the land, both are alike amenable to it, and both have an equal right to claim its protection.

Private Geiger was perfectly right to claim the protection of the City police, which he promptly received; but what a terribly, foolishly, ridiculously one-sided state of affairs it would be could a citizen not claim the same protection were he attacked by a soldier. Such a position bears the mark of absurdity on its face, yet that is the position assumed by the opinion of Judge Advocate Holt, and those who sustain it.

An Uninviting Place.—A gentleman who has been in Bingham a few weeks, and who returned from there on Saturday, doesn't care about living up there long at a time. He says the kanyon road is lively at this season with traffic, there being a constant stream of teams on it, hauling ore, &c., and the stream of profanity from the lips of the teamsters is equally as continuous. He thinks that the most of those fellows must have spent the best of their days inventing new strings of blasphemous oaths, for the way they belch them out is something tremendous.

Our informant was only a short distance from the bloody occurrence which took place there last Tuesday, at the time when Tim O'Brien killed O'Maley by chopping him up with a knife. He saw deceased a few minutes afterwards, as he lay on the road with a rock under his head and a couple of pebbles over his eyes, placed there by some acquaintance, saw the body dumped into a wagon and taken to the place where the inquisition was held.

He says it is well known that O'Maley was not armed at the time he was killed. O'Brien received the cut in his leg several paces away from O'Maley and with his own knife, on which he fell, being drunk at the time.

O'Brien is one of the men who were hired to fight by mining proprietors, in the notorious mining dispute at Pioche about two years ago. There are six others of the same gang in Bingham, including a brother of O'Brien. The other day the latter and another of those fellows armed themselves and started out after two witnesses who testified against O'Brien at the inquest, with the intention of killing them. Some friends of the witnesses informed them of the designs of the two men, and they secured some extra arms and left their cabin. Had they remained at the cabin till the arrival of the two ruffians a bloody fight and more inquests would have been the result, and the Pioche men swear they will kill them yet, and thus one sanguinary tragedy leads to another.

Not only have these parties been on the track of the witnesses, but also that of the deputy who summoned them. They broke into his house the other night, but luckily he happened to be absent, and nothing came of their visit.

Our informant also states that in a little mine-jumping affair, the other day, a Frenchman, whose name he did not learn, had a bullet sent into his body, but as the wound was not thought to be dangerous, the matter was considered as being scarcely worthy of notice.

A short time since a mine in which Mr. Stephen Goddard had an interest was sold to a gentleman named Clayton. The latter sent two men to work in it and protect it from "jumpers." Four of the latter fraternity put in an appearance a short time since, armed to the teeth, and, presenting their guns, offered to Mr. Clayton's employes the complaints admonition of "git." They did "git," just as fast as they could perambulate, being unwilling to accept of an invitation to a "ball," at such an unseasonable time, which would have been the inevitable result of their not "getting." Mr. Goddard, in behalf of the present owner of the mine, visited the four men, as a kind of adviser or conciliator, but as soon as he was seen he was invited to look down the ferocious throats of a few breech-loaders. He ventured a gentle demurrer and craved the privilege of a parley, which, after some hesitation, was granted. He explained to them how the mine had been located and worked by certain parties, and informed them that he didn't know but they were getting themselves into a kind of a "snap," to which they answered that he could go to a certain supposed overheated, sulphuric region, for they considered themselves entirely capable of taking care of themselves.

It will be seen that for the rough or desperado Bingham is a kind of congenial paradise, but to the prudent and peace-loving it would be somewhat akin, as a permanent abiding place, to one of the worst sections of the lower regions.

Theatre.—"Macbeth" was played to a fair sized audience on Saturday evening. Mr. Chaplin made a creditable "Macbeth." Mr. Sawtelle was a very excellent "Macduff," the best we have seen on the Salt Lake stage, says a critical friend at our elbow. Miss Walters played "Lady Macbeth" with vigor and ability. Other characters were also well presented. The music went off with pretty good effect.

This evening the popular "Joe Murphy" commences an engagement in Maeder's great play of "Help," in which Mr. Murphy will appear as "Ned Daly," "Pat O'Shaughnessy," "MickleMcGaff" and "Christoff Von Liebenstein," with songs, dances, etc. Mr. Sawtelle appears as "Tracy Randall," Mr. Crosbie as "Amos Wireback," Mr. Lindsay as "Nubbles," Mr. Thorne as "Captain Waldo," Miss Colville as Eleanor," Miss Adams as "Fanny Small," Miss Cogswell as "Lillian," Mrs. Bell Douglas as "Mother Kit."

Mr. Murphy also appears in his magic changes — "The Peerless Peeress, The B-flat Carionet, The Beautiful Market Girl, The Tyrolean Love-Letter, The Gay Horse Jockey, The Imitation Horse Races, The Marvelous Bone Solo."

LIME! LIME! LIME!

EMPIRE KILNS.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC. I HAVE just opened a New Limestone Quarry, which makes a Superior White L. It makes more and better Cementing Mortar than any other offered to the public. It is equal to the California Lime for every purpose—Plastering, Cornicing, Block and Brickwork. The latter look nicer white between the bricks. Very cheap for cash. Just call at my

Depot, City Market Square,

And see. Try it for yourselves.

I will deliver it to any part of the city, or by car load to any part of Utah.
