BREVITIES.

A child on being shown the picture of "Daniel in the lion's den," was affected to tears. "Don't grieve pet," Warren Hussey & Co., Bankers, Denver and Central City, Colorado. "I am not crying for that," was the reply: "but do you see that little lion in the corner, mamma? Well, I'm afraid he won't get any, for Daniel is so small be won't go around!

Newton invited a friend to dinner and forgot it. The friend arrived and found the philosopher in a fit of abstraction. Dinner was brought up for one. The friend, without disturbing Newton, sat J. B. Kimball. down and dispatched it. Newton recovering from this reverie, looked at ally, if it wasn't for the proof before my eyes. I could have sworn that I had not yet dined."

Science threatens us with the extinguishment of "the dusty miller." A method has been discovered of making bread without grinding the grain, and a patent has been taken out for the process. In making bread from flour there is much waste: 100 pounds of grain yields only 112 pounds of bread. By the new process the same amount of grain will produce 150 pounds of bread. Moreover, the decomposed and lost gluten in the old process is preserved in the new.

John Allen, known as "the Wickedest Man in New York," has received another solemn warning in the death of his wife, who dled from the effects of standing the efforts of the missionaries, John "backslid" last winter and returned to his old business, at which, it is stated, he has amassed a fortune of Sou, 000. It is barely possible that the death of his wife may have the effect to again reclaim him.

A letter with an undecipherable superscription was lately received at the Nashau, N. H., post-office. Postmaster Swain concluded that the country contained only one man capable of this chirography, so he endorsed the envelope as follows, and remitted it to the mail: "Returned to the writer, supposed to be Horace Greeley, for a more legible direction." After the lapse of three days the letter reappeared, legibly addressed to a relative of H. G.

When Issac Hopper, a member of the Society of Friends, met a boy with a dirty face or hands, he would stop him, and inquire if he ever studied chemistry. The boy, with a wondering stare, would answer, "No." "Well, then, I will teach thee how to perform a curious chemical experiment," said Friend Hopper. "Go home, take a piece of soap, put it in water, and rub it oriskly on thy hands and face. Thou hast no idea what a beautiful froth it will make, and how much whiter thy skin will be. That's a chemical experiment. I advise thee to try it."

We have heard of grasshoppers stop-ping trains, but in Connecticut trains are delayed on the Naugatuck road waiting for water, at the Bridgeport tank, and that cannot be produced until the eels are removed from the water pipes. Eight hundred were removed at one time. The water pipes run eels for some time after the hydrant is opened, and the water used by familiss is strained through an indefinite number of eels until it is so ropy that in pouring it out into tumblers, the walter carries a knife and cuts it off when the tumbler is

A French journal gives a "summing other performances which took place ship their goods cannot be excelled. during the recent travels of the Empress. First of all, the journey involved six official halts—at Lyons, Toulon, Bastia, Ajaccio, Toulon again, and Chamberry. There were altogether thirty-one speeches, twenty-three receptions and presentations, eight grand din-ners and banquets, two reviews, about two hundred and fifty gun salutes, four displays of fireworks, and over 8,000 petitions. The Empress left on the way, in round figures, 100,000 francs for charitable purposes. There were generally three changes of toilet per day, most of sor. which were performed in the train while traveling at the rate of forty miles marm in La Crosse, Wisconsin. A little child was guilty of the unpardonable sin of taking a bite from an apple during study hours. This Xantippe of a teacher seized the oftender and placed her on a table. She then made all the scholars disgorge from their pockets their apples, realizing about a dozen, which she compelled the little girl to eat, and until she vomited from her overloaded stomach. Among the inflictions of this inhuman teacher the favorite one was whipping the children's bare leet until blood flows, gagging her scholars with wooden plus, and switching their arms until the blood trickles owners of Town Lots, where the Town Sites down their finger ends. The troubles of an opium eater are told in a Bombay paper. A witness in he Bombay High Court while under examination told the Chief Justice that he was an opium eater, and wished to get away to eat his daily quid. The Chief Justice said: "Unless I am satisfied that it is dangerous to his health not to eat it at this time, I will not allow him to do so. If a medical man comes and tells me it is dangerous to his health that he remains here, he may go, but not otherwise." The witness was here supplied with a chair, and went on with his evidence for a time, but in reply to a question said: "I don't know, it's my time of eating opium, and I am not in my senses now-I feel giddy. I don't know what I am about now. I know that opium eaters eat at regular times, and they never fail to take it." He was not permitted to take his dose until his evidence had been given.
