

Terrible Experience on the Columbla When She Went Down.

BRAVERY OF SALT LAKE GIRL.

Sank With Ship and Lost Clothes And Life Belt from Waist.

On the Raft She Cheered the Survivors But Two Died from Exposure-Terrible Tale of Suffering.

(Special to the "News.")

San Francisco, July 27 .- Miss Blanch Musser of Salt Lake, one of the Utah survivors of the Columbia disaster, is rapidly recovering from her experiences on the night of the wreck and is still resting prior to starting for nome.

Today she told just what happened or the ill-fated passenger steamer bound for Portland and dictated the following to Elder M. J. Greenwood of the California mission:

"I left San Francisco at 11 last Saturday morning in company with Miss Wynona White, a cousin of mine from Reaver. We steamed through the Golden Gate into the Pacific, which was smooth and glassy. We spent the day and forepart of the evening in merriment.

TOLD HER IT WAS NOTHING.

"There were about 200 pleasure-seek ers on board. My berth was in one end of the steamer and Cousin Wynona's in the other end. We retired at 10, and that is the last I ever saw of Miss White. I slept soundly but was awakened at 12:15 by a slight shock. A lady sleeping directly under me began screaming. I told her to go back to bed, as it was nothing.

CREW WARNED HER.

"One of the crew came to my door telling me to get out: I was in danger. and to put my life preserver on, which I did as best I knew how.

"I had no time to dress but put on my shoes and rushed out upon leck with my clothes and purse in my hand. I was making my way towards Mise White's berth when a sailor grabbed me, rushing me to the other end of the boat, informing me the opposite end of the boat was under water.

SANK WITH THE SHIP.

"I scrambled to the end of the boat that was above water. Many were jumping into the ocean and others were setting upon rafts. I must have been among the last to get out of bel. 1 was standing on the main deck holding to the rall when the steamer went down, as I cank into the cold sait water I closed my mouth and eyes. My life preserver came off. I let so my clothes and few belongings and held to the life preserver.

MOANS OF DYING.

"The suction of the sinking Columbia took me down but soon my life preserver which I held in my hands took me to the surface. It seemed an age that I was under the water. As soon ducted by Dean Brewster, who spoke Two Bids Received for Putting Up as I came to the surface I caught hold of a floating plank. The ocean seemed allye with floating wreckage, while the moans of the dying brought terror to my heart.

MISS BLANCHE MUSSER.

DIED IN THE MISSION FIELD.

Elder Geo. Wm. Wood of Bluff Falls

Victim of Typhold Fever.

After eight weeks of illness with a malignant case of typhoid fever, Elder

George William Wood died in the mission field, Sunday July 21, at Harrold,

Wilbarger Co. Texas. Elder Wood's

City Board of Education Will Center

Effort on Sumner School Addition.

At the meeting of the city board of education as a committee of the whole it was decided to build a six-room addition to the Sumner school, room addition to the Sumner school, Third East and Sixth South streets. The addition will cost about $13,000 and bids for its construction will be advertised for at once. When com-pleted it will greatly relieve the crowded condition of the schools in that part of the city. The board has abandoned the idea at this time of building two smaller additions, one to the Sumner and one to the Hamil-ton school, and has centered on the building named.

J. W. Motley who provided us with food and some few clothes. They sent two wagons for us. LONG WEARY TRAVEL. "We spent two nights and three days food and some few clothes. They sent

"We spent two nights and three days traveling as best we could before we reached the railroad as Sherwood. The mayor of Eureka telegraphed all along the line that we be given every comfort. Mrs. W. E. Richards, formerly of Utah, met us at Sherwood and gave us cloth ing, and food.

BRUISED AND CUT. "I took the train here for San Francisco and was met at San Rafael and San Francisco. Many friends met me at San Francisco and I was taken to the Latter-day Saints Mission where I have been cared for. I am bruised and have some cuts on me. Will remain here some time."

Elder M. J. Greenwood in a dispatch to the "News" last night adds: "One of the sailors who was in the sion heid, Sunday July 21, at Harrold, Wilbarger Co. Texas. Elder Wood's home was at Bluff, San Juan county, Utah, to which place his remains were brought for burial, June 26, Prest. Samuel Bennion of the Central states mission and Elder August L. Neison accompanied the remains as far 13 Thompson's Springs, where they were met by the brother of the deceased and taken overland to his home town. Elder Wood was born Feb. 23, 1885, in Cedar City, and was in his 23rd year. He was the son of Samuel and Jose-phine C. Chatterly Wood. He had been in the mission field since the last of April, but had shown himself an earn-est, faithful worker, quiet and unas-suming, but always willing to do his part in the mission work. During his entire illness he was devotely nursed and cared for by Elder August L. Nel-son, and part of the time by his con-ference president, Henry J. Bodily, and all was done for him that could be, but all to no avail. His parents and rela-tives have the heartfelt sympathy of all the elders in the Central mission field and the neonle at home life-boat and drew Miss Musser from the floating plank, told me that had it not been for her presence of mind she would have been lost. That while other women on the raft were in hysterics Miss Musser was calm and comforting to them. She took her turn at the oar and cheered the men on. He told me she had a spirit with her that gave courage to all. All in the party admired Miss Mussor, and when the elders in the Central mission field and the people at home. she left the party at the Ferry building they would hardly let me bring ONLY ONE BUILDING. her with me. Some have been to see her today." From the fact that Miss Wynona White's berth was located in the forward part of the Columbia which was under water when Miss Musser reached the deck there is but little hope held out that she survived the disaster. A dispatch received this morning by

A. Milton Musser from San Francisco says: "Message from E. E. Calvin, Sau Francisco, dated Friday, states that Miss Musser will leave for home in about four days. Her cousin is still missing."

SAD FUNERAL.

The funeral of Miss Emily K. Parker, HAY COMES HIGH. in St. Mark's cathedral yesterday afternoon, was peculiarly sad. It was con-

LAST NIGHT OF THE CHAUTAUQUA follows: When the Winners of the Various Contests Will Be Announced. SUPPLEMENTARY CONTEST.

May Take Place at the Salt Lake Theater on Tuesday Night as Grand Finale.

Last evening was another successful occasion in the week's series of the Musical Chautauqua, with a large attendance as usual, and the program was carried out as advertised. The contestants were seated on the platform, with the adjudicators in the center of the house under the orchestra stand. The friends of the contestants were out in full force; and while it was an occasion of "Friends are re-quested not to send flowers," the ap-plause was long and appreciative. Of course there were no encores. The work of the evening was grati-fying. True some of the performers were nervous, were afflicted with stage fright, and importantly forcer that were nervous, were afflicted with stage fright, and temporarily forgot their parts. But this was of such a nature that it could be readily seen that there had been long and arduous practising, so the omissions did not count for anything. The planists were listened to with marked interest, particularly the junior contestants, the older vlo-linists were especially good, and the singers acquitted themselves with cred-it. It was announced by Chairman Mcit. It was announced by Chairman Mc-Clellan that there might be a supple-mentary contest next Tuesday eve-ning, in the Salt Lake theater, by the three winners in each class, a per-formance which the adjudicators ap-pear to favor unanimously as fair to all contestants. There is some grum-bling over this, as it is claimed by a number of contestants to be unneces-sary and likely in instances to work hardship. But the plan will be ad-hered to as the objections are neith-er numerous nor sufficiently strong to carry much weight. It was announced by Chairman Mc

Morris Andrews was to have appear-ed in last night's junior violin contest, but he found that he was over the age, and so notified the committee. He will appear tonight. The chariman an-nounced that this evening's program would begin promptly at 8 o'clock, and contestants not present on time would contestants not present on time would be unable to get into the band wagon. All were urged to be on hand at 7:45 p. m. A banquet will be tendered the adjudicators at 6 p. m. at the resort by Managers McClellan and Graham, and while the menu will be generous it will not be likely to incapacitate them from the proper performance of their evening's duties. evening's duties.

TWO DIE ON RAFT.

"Before daybreak two in our party died, due to exposure. We rowed for 12 hours and finally reached shore. We were worn out and many were unconscious. A fire was soon made and we were made warm. We landed about 200 miles north of San Francisco on a barren, and desolate coast. Four men went in search of food. They returned in a few hours having found the family of Mr.

ducted by Dean Brewster, who spoke sympathetically of the sad burden borne by the mother in the loss of the three children upon whom she had leaned for support and comfort. Mrs. Parker ar-rived from Florida just in time for the funeral, but was overcome with grief, and had to be assisted to the church. The last words of the daughter were: "It will be so hard for mother." Mrs. Parker is stopping at the Manitou, where she is receiving the attentions of her daugh-ter's friends.

ris. He has sent out letters to all parts of the state, and from the replies he hopes to learn how general the mail or-der business is from each town. From data so far collected he estimates that the business runs to $1,000,000 every year. In addition to this there is a drain on the country of several millions a year that goes to the foreign countries from the ways of Austrian, Italian. Hun-garian and Greek labor. That the agitation against mail order houses is becoming general is shown from a news item in a Chicago paper, which indicates that the mail order busi-ness is in trouble there. The item reads: "Hereafter we will not sell goods to and Water Commissioner Frank Mathews yesterday for cutting, baling and hauling 192 tons of hay from the city's land in Parley's canyon. L. M. Naylor bid $8 per ton and Ben Harries bid $7.50 per ton. The bids will be referred to the city council Monday night for final consideration.

Mr. Murray replied that he hoped the di-plomais of the strikers would appre-ciate when a final effort had been made.
