

DOINGS IN THE
NATIONAL LEAGUEBrooklyn and Boston Each Take a Game—Kennedy's Good Work.

SHUT OUT SEVEN INNINGS.

St. Louis Played in Miserable Form and Was Defeated by Chicago—Phillies Won from Giants.

The Beantowners and Brooklynites divided honors in a double header yesterday. The first game was a swift one and lasted eleven innings, and ended with a score of four to three, in favor of Boston. In the second game Kennedy pitched with great power and with good hitting behind him, succeeded in keeping Boston's bases clear for seven innings and allowing but two hits on account of darkness the game ended in the seventh. The Phillies had an easy time of it with the Giants and won in a walk. St. Louis' defeat to Chicago was the result of miserable fielding. This is how the clubs now stand:

DARING ROBBERY AT OGDEN

Silver Club Saloon. Held Up by a Lone Footpad.

SPECIAL TO THE "NEWS."

Ogden, Oct. 2.—A daring robbery was committed in this city at an early hour this morning by a lone footpad. The robber was masked and entered the back door of the Silver Club saloon on 25th street about 2 o'clock. Bartender Charles Mater was the only man in the saloon at the time the robber invaded it. The latter carried in his hand a formidable revolver, which he immediately presented at the saloon man's head, at the same time commanding him to throw up his hands.
There was no hesitation on the part of Mater, as he quickly recognized the fact that he would be taking desperate chances in offering resistance of any kind. He was compelled to stand by in silence when the robber made his way to the till and took therefrom a sum of money amounting, all told, to $25. This done, the intruder backed out of the door and took to his heels, making good his escape, and leaving between five and six hundred dollars in the open safe. The police were immediately notified and spent the early morning hours and much of today in looking for the robber, but have thus far obtained no clue as far as known.
Mater gives a very meager description of the man, saying that his principal distinguishing feature was a very large head. The mask worn was made from a handkerchief in which eye holes had been cut.

FEDERAL COURT.

The United States court has adjusted until Monday, October 23.

Judge Marshall yesterday handed down an opinion in the Jerome Hirschman bankruptcy case, in which he decides that the petitioners in the case will be given leave to file claims before the referee, for the several sums received by the bankrupt on sales of their respective goods. The opinion states also that the referee shall determine the respective amounts received by the bankrupt, and the petitioners may prove the sums so determined.

In the case of Patrick Sheridan vs the Southern Pacific company, the demurrer to the amended answer was argued and taken under advisement.

In the case of the Pabst Brewing company vs the Salt Lake Brewing company, the demurrer to the complaint was argued and taken under advisement.

Democratic Gains in Connecticut.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 1.—It was "town-meeting" day today in Connecticut, and 162 towns held elections and selected for the coming year officers, Hartford, New Haven, Bridgeport, Ansonia, Derby and Naugatuck did not. Returns at midnight have been received from 138 towns of the 162 voting, and the tables show Republican majorities in 105 and Democratic success in 25. Full returns from all the towns from the elections of 1899 gave the Republicans 135 and the Democrats 37. Comparing those of the last year with those today the Republicans have lost 22 towns and the Democrats 2. Of the 24 towns missing tonight 16 went Republican last year and 8 Democratic. If the missing towns remain firm in their respective colors of last year, it would be a total of 119 towns Republican and 43 Democratic, net Republican loss of 6 towns.

CROWING WINTER WHEAT.

Press Bulletin of the Utah Experiment Station, by Prof. L. A. Merrill.Preparation of Seed Bed—Selection of Varieties—Date and Method of Sowing—Harrowing.

Dairying and general stock farming should and will gradually replace special wheat farming in Utah. Wheat, however, is one of our principal crops, and since the rotation and fertilization of fields, which come with the keeping of stock, provide the best soil conditions for wheat, this crop is likely to continue to be an important one on wheat farms. The average yield of wheat in Utah for the past seven years is but 21.4 bushels per acre. With the opportunities we have for a proper crop rotation and fertilization, and with the natural fertility of our soils and a proper selection of varieties, this yield should be very much increased.

PREPARATION OF SEED BED.

To secure ideal conditions the surface soil should be made fine and loose, and the sub-surface soil fine and fairly compact. For winter wheat the ground should be plowed as early in the season as possible. It should be immediately harrowed, rolled and harrowed again. Before seeding it should be tilled again with any implement best suited to the particular soil. This frequent tillage tends to compact the sub-surface soil, form a fine seed bed, conserve moisture and set free plant food.

SELECTION OF VARIETIES.

The choice of seed is important. Experiments conducted here during the past two years, 1899 and 1900, indicate that we have a large number of varieties which are good yielders, good millers, and reasonably certain to stand through the winter without injury. The past winter, though not unusually rigorous, was rather severe on the wheat crop as there was very little snow protection and considerable freezing and thawing was especially injurious to late sown wheat. The wheats here in recommended, however, went into the winter in vigorous condition and came through without injury. The following wheats head the list of our winter varieties for the past two seasons and are given in order of greatest yield: Sonora, Ancient Mound, Canadian Wonder, Siberian, Early Red Clawson, Mediterranean, New Zealand, Tasmanian Red, Martin's Amber, Winter La Salle, Red Lothhouse, and Odessa. All of these wheats are classed as "hard" wheats, and the milling quality is about equal to the best spring wheat. With the exception of a limited quantity of the seed of these varieties to farmers making application.

DATE OF SEEDING.

The experiment station has conducted tests during the past two seasons on "Time of Sowing Wheat." Weekly seedings have been made from September 7th to November 17th, the same variety of wheat being used. The experiments conducted along this line all point to the conclusion that in districts where the land can be irrigated before seeding, there is practically no difference between early and late sowing. Where irrigation is not practicable early seeding is recommended.

METHOD OF SEEDING.

It has been demonstrated by repeated experiments that wheat drilled in the fall of the year yields better than that sown broadcast. With a drill the seed can be planted evenly in depth, insuring the germination of all the seeds together. We have found a difference in favor of drilling of 14 bushels for every one hundred acres planted. The depth at which wheat should be planted will depend largely upon the amount of moisture in the soil. Where the ground is compact and moist quite as good results will be obtained from planting only an inch deep. The young wheat plants can come up through three inches of very loose earth, and if the soil is very dry it may be necessary to seed at a depth in order to get moisture enough to start germination and that the roots may at once enter into moist soil where they can secure food as soon as the leaves have expanded sufficiently to use it.

HARROWING AFTER SEEDING.

It is often beneficial to harrow the ground immediately after the grain is sown, so as to make the seed bed more compact below and fine and mellow at the surface. Some of the experiment stations have found that harrowing the grain after it has come up is dangerous in that it lessened the yield in proportion to the amount and lateness of the harrowing. At this station we follow the practice of harrowing the wheat in the spring to destroy weeds and to break up the crust which has formed, before the plants are high enough to shade the ground. The light harrowing establishes a fine mulch on the surface, thus retarding evaporation, and we believe that in the arid region this practice is certainly to be commended.

WHEAT IN ROTATION.

The history of nearly every wheat farm in Utah which has been farmed for from fifteen to twenty years is similar in that, while good yields of wheat have been secured for years, the decline in yield and in quality has begun. There are numerous reasons for this decline, principal among which are, that in raising wheat after wheat the soil has been left in poor mechanical condition, the store of available plant food has been greatly reduced, and weeds have become so numerous as to crowd out the wheat plant in many instances. Wheat, if grown at all, should form a part of a systematic and profitable rotation. The advantage of using a cultivated crop to prepare the land for wheat has been most clearly demonstrated by the North Dakota experiment station. By bare fallowing one year the yields of wheat were increased four to six bushels per acre for the two succeeding years. By growing a crop of corn or potatoes, or by sowing clover or timothy, the yields were increased six to eight bushels. Briefly, the experiment showed an increase of wheat of thirty to fifty per cent by alternating the wheat with other crops. Those who have the most live stock can produce the largest and most profitable crops of wheat, and they, having an abundance of manure, can best afford to grow those crops which exhaust the fertility of the fields.

TO BURN AMERICAN COAL.

British Steamships and Railroads
Are Negotiating for It.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—British steamships and railroads are expected to burn American smokeless soft coal in the near future. Negotiations for the sale of 500,000 tons of the American product have practically been completed between a Chicago firm of bituminous coal mine owners and operators and an agent of a London brokerage firm who is now in this city. The purchasing parties will send their agents to inspect the coal. The present deal is one of the largest on record.

Gold from Nome.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 2.—One hundred and thirteen passengers and $500,000 worth of gold were brought to Seattle by the steamship Senator which arrived from Nome today. The Senator sailed September 21st. Captain Patterson of the Senator says there was still a chance to save the steamship Orizaba, when he left the scene of the wreck, Sept. 22. The vessel was hanging hard and fast to the rocky point reef. St. Michael Island, with six feet of water in her hold. Several pumps were at work and it was the belief of Captain Randall that the Orizaba would soon float off with a high tide.

Embezzled $100,000.

New York, Oct. 2.—A dispatch to the Herald from Valparaiso says: It is estimated that the amount of money alleged to have been embezzled by the former Spanish minister, Salvador Lopez y Gallardo, is more than $100,000. The money belonged to Spanish subjects who are very indignant. Lopez received the funds from the Chilean government to pay damages sustained by Spaniards during the revolution of 1891. Having presented his papers of retirement, the minister disappeared without paying a cent to the claimants.

A big fire occurred in the center of Valparaiso. The loss was very heavy.
