IMPORTANT TO THE TRAVELING PUBLIC.

It is the duty of all persons before starting on a journey to ascertain by what route they can reach their destination with the least trouble, and if there are two or more roads leading to the same point, to decide which is the safest and pleasantest to travel.

We take pleasure in stating, that the CHICAGO & NORTH-WESTERN RAILWAY is the shortest, and several miles the shortest, route between Omaha and Chicago. Within the past two years the road bed has been put in admirable condition, and almost the entire line has been re-laid with steel rails.

The Depot in Chicago is centrally located, and as their trains arrive there thirty minutes in advance of all other lines, passengers can always be sure of making Eastern connections.

Close connections are made at Chicago with the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, Michigan Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago, Kanabek Line and Pan Handle Routes, for all points EAST and SOUTH-EAST.

If you are going to Chicago, or East, you should, by all means, purchase your tickets on the Old Pioneer Route—

The Chicago and North-Western. You will find on all through trains Pullman Sleepers, new and magnificent Day Coaches, and the best Smoking and Second Class Cars now on any road in the United States.

Particular information with maps, time tables, etc., may be had at any of the Through Ticket Offices in the West, or upon personal or written application to J. W. Irons, Ticket Agent, Salt Lake City, or to J. H. Earl, Ticket Agent at Ogden, or to J. H. Mountain, Western Traveling Agent, Omaha, Neb., or to W. H. Shonoff, General Passenger Agent, Chicago. d34

EVENING NEWS.

Tuesday, December 28, 1875.

Local and Other Matters.

Thermometer 11 degrees F. in the shade at 1 p.m. to-day. Cloudy, breezy.

Early Commencing and Closing.

Yesterday there was a social party at the First Ward Schoolhouse, under the auspices of the Retrenchment Society of the Ward. The recreation commenced early in the afternoon and closed precisely at ten o'clock at night, and we are informed by some who attended that they never enjoyed themselves so well at any previous gathering of the kind.

LEVAN, Dec. 23d, 1875.

Editor Deseret News:

I notice, in the WEEKLY NEWS of December 22, an account, taken from the Beaver Enterprise, dated Dec. 14th, of the arrest of John Christensen, of Levan, which should read John Christian Christensen, as the former is a young man residing in Fort Ephraim, Sanpete County, and the latter does reside here, and has been in custody in Levan.

Yours, &c.,
AN OBSERVER.

More Specimens.—Brother Johnson, Prof. Barfoot's assistant in the Museum, has returned from Cache Valley with a very fine collection of fossiliferous rocks, mandibles, silver and iron ores; specimens also of a curious and minute insect, which he discovered in Ogden Canyon, upon the snow. It appears to be a variety of "flea beetle," which has not been described, so far as books within reach give information.

Disastrous Snowslide.—The reported snowslide mentioned in yesterday's News occurred in Little Cottonwood Canyon, at one p.m. on Saturday. James Moore, superintendent of the Highland Chief Mine, and John Douglas, one of the workmen for the same company, who were on their way to Alta at the time, were carried down by the slide and buried, and so also was another man, named John Gusten. The body of the latter was found, and between fifty and sixty miners were at work for the purpose of recovering the other two.

Accept our Thanks.—By letter, received this morning, from the travelling agent of this office, Mr. Wm. Bramall, now making a tour of Southern Utah, we learn that, as the representative of the Deseret News, he has been received and treated with marked kindness and courtesy by the Bishop and the visiting officers of the several cities and settlements which he has visited. We are extremely gratified at receiving this report, and take pleasure in acknowledging the same, and extending our warmest thanks to the brethren therefor.

Information Wanted.—J. T. Adair, Magnolia County, Iowa, is desirous of hearing of the whereabouts of the following parties, supposed to be in Utah, and who left Council Bluffs in 1850 or 1851: Samuel Adair (father of the inquirer), John Adair, Newton Adair, George Adair (the latter a half brother), and Catherine Adair. When last heard from the parties named were at Washington, Washington County, Utah.

Mr. Adair also wishes to hear from B. P. Maynard, who, when last heard from, was in Dry Canyon, Tooele Co. Any person, or persons named desiring to communicate with Mr. J. T. Adair, should address as above.

That "Leaded Pig" Story.—This morning we had a call from Mr. Richard Margotta, in reference to that "leaded pig" story copied from a city contemporary in yesterday's News. Mr. Margotta assured us that the brutal part of the story, which "amused" the writer of the article, referred to, was entirely the creation of his own disordered imagination, and that instead of there being twenty persons present and one hundred shots fired at the "butcher," there were some four or five of his own boys, himself and one of his men, that seven or eight shots of which took effect, that the pig escaped from the corral, rendering it necessary to fire more than once or twice; that in a few minutes the entire affair was commenced and forgotten, and he has not the least idea that the "sensational" extended as far as the premises of his next door neighbor.

Still Extending.—The co-operative institutions of Brigham City are still extending and increasing. A large farm at Portage, Malad Valley, belonging to the Association, is being fenced, all the poles and most of the posts having been got out for that purpose. A number of men are also at work on a canal, which will take the water to a distance of fifteen miles. The sheep herd is doing exceedingly well, business in all the departments is flourishing. The business done by the boot and shoe shop in 1875 amounts to $35,000, and the profits resulting therefrom amount to $4,000; the hat factory in the same time, did business amounting to $4,000, and cleared $900; the cabinet shop did work amounting to $16,000, and cleared $3,500. We understand there are now thirty-two departments in all.

A new Social Hall at Brigham City is nearing completion, the roof being up and the cornice now being put on.

A new rock building, 33 x 50 feet, a story and a half high, with cellar underneath, is being built. In this building the boot and shoe, hat, and harness business will be carried on. The association had concluded to purchase a steam saw-mill, which is to be located twenty miles north of Franklin, at a point about seven miles from the Utah Northern railroad, where there is abundance of good timber.

Concentrated Lye.—One more addition has been made to the home productions of Utah, in connection with the 10th Ward United Order of Manufacturers, concentrated lye is being made, by Mr. Clarence Barrett. Quite a large number of orders for the article have already been filled, and it is pronounced of good quality, at least equal to the imported. It can be made and sold as cheap as the latter, if not cheaper, and doubtless importation in that line will soon be among the things of the past. We understand there are only three houses in America, besides this in Salt Lake City, where the stuff is manufactured. The consumption of the article in this Territory amounts to in the vicinity of 17,000 pounds monthly, which is quite a consideration. Most of the materials for the manufacture of concentrated lye can be obtained chemically pure and in any desired quantities from the sloughs of Salt Lake.

The caustic soda used in this branch of manufacture in America, is all imported from England, but it has been practically demonstrated by Mr. Barrett that it can be made here without difficulty, and the manufacture of that portion of the materials will be commenced before long, probably in a few months, which will give Utah a decided advantage in this branch of industry, and with proper management, will probably enable her to secure the western trade outside of this Territory.

The dreamer of putting up the lye are also made here, which is another encouragement to home trade, and thus the introduction of one branch gives material aid and encouragement to another.

Concert.—There will be a concert in the First Ward School-house, on Monday evening, January 2nd. The programme is extensive and varied, consisting of songs, choruses, recitations, &c.

Theatre.—"Cherry and Fair Star," with the beautiful juvenile ballet, grand march of Amazons, and magnificent transformation scene, was presented last evening in the same excellent style as on Christmas Day. This evening this attractive spectacle will be repeated.

CIRCULAR.

To The Relief Societies, Retrenchment Associations, and the Women of Utah Generally.

We, the undersigned members of the Women's Centennial Executive Committee for Utah, respectfully solicit your active and energetic co-operation in preparing for the approaching National Centennial, by furnishing creditable specimens of all useful and ornamental home industries of women's work, from a needle, artificial flower, and the most delicate embroidery, to a pet, also natural curiosities of our own collecting; and, as soon as practicable, have them sent either to the Post, Lion House, or the Treasurer, opposite the Lion House, and adjoining the Historical office, Salt Lake City. Our specimens must be forwarded to Philadelphia by the first of March, which affords us very little time; but, with energy and promptitude, and united effort, much can be speedily accomplished. To expedite the work, we suggest that committees be appointed (forthwith) in each ward of our city, and in each settlement in the Territory, whose business shall be to collect specimens already made, to assist out women of artistic skill and stimulate them to assist and, where will, talent and ability are found with insufficient means to apply them, we recommend that the necessary material be provided, either by donation or otherwise, and the latest skill brought into exercise for the object in view.

Every article furnished must be distinctly labeled with the name and place of residence of the contributor, and, inasmuch as persons from other countries might wish to purchase Utah specimens, those articles which the others are to be disposed of should have the prices plainly specified; all others are to be returned, after the close of the exhibition.

Mrs. ELIZA R. SNOW, President.

Mrs. EMELINE B. WELLS, Secretary.

Mrs. BATHSHEBA W. SMITH, Treasurer.

Dr. Mary H. Baker, Mrs. Ellen G. Haydon, Mrs. Priscilla M. Staines, Mrs. Mary I. Horne, Mrs. Byron Geo. H. C. Goodspeed, Mrs. Eliza A. Smith, Mrs. Eliza H. Howard, Mrs. Zina D. Young, Mrs. Sarah M. Kimball.

Correspondence.

Editor Deseret News:

No matter how far an American may be from the seat of Government, he is always interested in what is going on at that point. The interest is quite natural, and, because of that singular fact in political which, with equal surprise to both parties, places the control of the House for two years in the hands of the Democracy. Since the sixteenth day of the present month the representatives of that party in the House have been preparing for the winter campaign of legislation, and their preparations have culminated in the appointment of the usual forty-four committees to-day. Only fifteen States are represented in the chairmanship of the committees, nine of these being Southern States, four Western, and two Northern. The East is left out in the cold, for the first time in many years. On the forty-four committees Alabama and Maryland have each a chairmanship each; Louisiana, Tennessee, North Carolina and Georgia, two each; Virginia and Kentucky three each; Ohio and Missouri, four each; New York and Illinois, five each; and Pennsylvania has seven. The nine Southern States have seventeen chairmen; the four Western have fifteen; and the two Northern have twelve. The South has the control, so far, and the fact will do good through the members of the House of Representatives, think of the House of Representatives, with the West as its right bowler. It is, so far, a good piece of strategy for the time being, for it will result in more than a date predict. The most of the old clocks and employees have been benighted, and in their places the South is abundantly represented, mostly by men who cannot take the "ironclad" oath. It looks a little to an old soldier like an advance from Maine. But, after all, if we are to live together in peace and prosperity, perhaps the answer we begin to put away on both sides, the feelings engendered by the war, the better it will be for us all in the end. I do not see that the democratic public can be blamed for taking the fruits of victory; it is the republican party which is to blame for giving them.

Now that the House is fully organized, it may be worth while to record the confirmation it gives in its political aspect to an opinion I formed while travelling through some of the Territories two years ago. I thought then that the day was not far distant when the States along and west of the Mississippi would rule this country, with those yet to be formed of existing Territory. I think now that the latter of power has gone west of the Capital, never to return. If the democratic party should obtain still further control of the Government, the South will hold the balance, with the aid of certain Western and some time. If the republican public party recovers from its recent partial defeat, the West will hold, with the aid of certain Northern States, the balance of power, which it is sure to achieve ultimately. There are many geographical, political and economical reasons for this, and some reasons reason upon the nature of our government, which a thinker will find out. The winds from the Rocky Mountains will yet blow through the Union with renovating force; and it is not impossible that in some far-off day the country will be saved by its literal backbone.

For over two years I have had a nodding acquaintance with the Delegate from your Territory, Mr. Cannon, and have found him in all respects a courteous gentleman. I do not think there is a man in Congress who is less assuming, or has more friends and well-wishers. I hope that he has, during the brief hours of this session, already introduced several bills; and I am sure he is always alive to the interests of his constituency. I think, after all the airing which various members have given their public morals, there is a feeling growing in favor of the early admission of Utah as a State. There is room enough for a great deal of belief in these United States, so long as it does not aim at the destruction of them.

Yours, DESERET.

Picnic Social.

Cedar City, Iron County, Utah, Dec. 20, 1875.

Editor Deseret News:

The evening of the 8th of December was the season of the Elders' Quorum picnic dance in this city, and by half past six o'clock the social hall, which was nicely decorated for the occasion, and which, by the way, has been greatly improved and enlarged by the removal of the old stage, was crowded to excess, as the adult population of the whole town, with but few exceptions, turned out to enjoy themselves. After singing and prayer, the brethren and sisters tied off in the merry dance, and dance and song followed each other in rapid succession, until eleven o'clock, when the tables were laid for supper, and a most sumptuous repast was partaken of by the guests, appropriate toasts were given by our worthy Bishop and others, and general good feelings prevailed, after which dance and song were continued until one o'clock, when all returned home, more than satisfied with the proceedings and their credit in due season. Brother James Davis for his efficient assistance in making the Elders' Quorum dance a complete success.

Yours respectfully,
