THE DESERET NEWS.

[MARCH 9, 1864.

OFFICIOUSNESS.

Experience proves that but one out of many, in any community, is able to alone manage himself and affairs to the best advantage. But, unfortunately, the many will not view the subject in this light, and are ever obtruding their advice where it is not wanted, and busying themselves about the affairs of others more than about their own.

We do not expect that objecting to meddlers' sweeping their neighbors' door-yards, while leaving their own full of rubbish, is going to at once reform that wise in-theirown-conceit class of people, but we could wish they were able to understand that men of judgment pity their weakness. They are like the fly on the coach wheel, and fondly fancy they kick up all the dust, for does not that class assure themselves that when they die wisdom will be buried with them? Often have we seen a narrow-minded whipper-snapper, with all the gravity of an owl in sunshine, or of a magpie peeping into a marrow bone, comment upon the capacity, course and remarks of men so far beyond his depth that he might as well have undertaken to sound the Atlantic with a fishline. The universal spirit of meddling spurred him on, and jected addresses? he must bark at the sun. True the sun itself may have spots, but does the carper know the necessity for, or the use of those spots? Fault fiinding, hit or miss, right or wrong, seems as easy and natural to an officious meddler, as the running of water down hill. But why can he not consider how much easier it is to find fault than to do better? Because that is not in the programme of his inclinafrom his lack of sense, almost hopeless to even invite him to break off so fond a practice. We will not weary our readers with instances and detai's of the carping, fault-finding, meddling officiousness interfering everywhere and in all matters, but will, for the present, restrict our few comments to its most foolish and odious feature-its interference with faith, conscience and mode of religious worship. Placed here by the Author of his existence, with an agency in a probation, it is man's inherent prerogative to determine, each one for himself, the relationship his conduct shall bear to the revealed will of Heaven. It was a hearty recognition and love of this right that caused our Pilgrim Fathers to forsake the comforts and endearments of the homes of their youth and, fleeing an interference the most dasterdly, grievous and unwarrantble of all-religious persecution-found new homes upon the sterile, rock-bound coast of New England. But, alas for weak humanity subject to vanity in so low a probation, they soon began to mete to each other the same odious and unjustifiable officiousness as had driven them to seek an asylum where they could unmolestedly exercise that noblest right of man-the worship of God, each in free accordance with the dictates of his own conseience. The mild and inoffensive Quakers were subjected to wrongs and violence for not preferring steeples to their meeting houses, for proin their meetings by the dictates of the spirit to them, and other minor differences of faith and notwithstanding our boasted enlighten- tice in this world, Dives was made a Bishop whereabouts in the city were not very uncerment over the narrow, bigoted, intolerant in one of the northern settlements, furnishing tain, but he escaped and made good use of his views and practices of some of our forefathers, him an opportunity of developing whatever heels. On Thursday evening a guard invested wherein is this generation in our national his- good might be in him; but out of the experitory one whit better than the forefathers ment, he did not escape like the Hebrew chil- night; but Verulam was on other business. whom they sneer at and ridicule? Did not dren, from the furnace of an eastern potentate the Prophet Joseph Smith in our day proclaim Dives had too great a fancy for getting things that he had been clothed upon with the ever- easy, and for this reason had to be ousted. lasting priesthood of the Son of God and en- For the last three years be has been about and got a clear view of his countenance-it dowed with the Spirit of revelation by High this city and was engaged much of the time was Dives. The officer continued his walk Heaven? And had not every man, woman and in gathering around him the materials for a eastward, while Dives proceded on westward child an inalienable right to believe or reject rather large dwelling-house in the Fourteenth and passed two other officers on the watch that proclamation, each without let or hin- Ward, and during that time attracted no par- for him. The officer that recognized him drance from the other? Thousands upon ticular attention beyond that of a certain turned upon his track, and fully satisfied of the thousands have believed it, but has the das- circle. Suddenly, however, some time during identity of Dives the three tried to pass untardly spirit of officiousness left them unmo- last summer, he comes before the public roticed by the north side of the market-place, lested? No, but in his day they pretended if charged with stealing some wagon tires from in hopes of making up to him and taking him we would only leave out Joseph Smith, our a lot in that ward. He fancied that he want- prisoner. Dives saw the movement and ran faith would be all right. A short time elapsed, ed a molasses mill and had taken the tire for westward, the officers pursued, calling upon and the Prophet Joseph was martyred. But that purpose. He was tried before the Pro- him to stop, to which he was heedless; after this infernal officiousness still dogs the heels bate Court and was fined $360 and costs of he had got beyond the "Rhoades House" and of the Saints. Now the cry is, "only do away Court. On the following day, Justice Miner was making a clear track for escape, the offiwith polygamy and we will gladly receive issued a warrant to search Dives' premises cers called upon him again and again to stop; you to our communion." And thus has it and there was found evidence the most com- but he was heedless, and then on the order of been ever, error either striving to overcome plete of his having stolen a large quantity of the Captain, revolvers were drawn, and, with truth by violence, or to seduce her to so far horse and mule shoes, nails, blacksmith's the aid of Colt, Verulam Dives was "stopped" blend with error as to destroy her existence. tools, lead, &c, from the premises of Mr. opposite the Fourteenth Ward school. But marriage being a civil contract, and with Standish. In his relations with Standish, he On the following day, an inquest was held us also a portion of our faith, whose consti- furnishes proof of a deep cunning, skill and and the subjoined verdict was rendered .tutionally legitimate business is it whether we material from which the vivid imagination of have each one wife or a thousand? It is a romance writers make their dashing and atmatter solely and alone between ourselves and tractive highwaymen heros. He was sympathe commandments of our God to us. And thetic over the losses of Standish, indignant aside from this incontrovertible condition of at the thief and hoodwinked so well everythe question, if two, three, or a thousand body around that he was actually engaged by women actually prefer a certain man for their Standish to watch the premises by night for husband, who will love, cherish and sustain a certain time. The property still decreasing, them and their offspring in virtue, honor and $500 were offered to the police for the apprerighteousness, how can a poor, mean, snivell- hension of the thief, and a watch for twelve Dives on 1st South Temple street, and called ing, dastardly, corrupt, officious specimen of nights was agreed upon and carried out, but humanity stoop so low as not only to interfere of course, without success. Being in the conwith his neighbors' rights, but to wish to de- fidence of the man whom he was robbing, rods, being called upon several times to stop, grade fair woman to the compulsion of his re- Dives learned of the twelve nights' watching, and for the time restrained his "weakness" and remained at home, but on the "give up" "Mighty is truth, and it will prevail." of the police, he returned to his plundering said Verulam Dives, then and there, as above ----till he had taken from first to last about 7000 stated. STOPPING A THIEF. shoes, a large quantity of nails, tools and At different periods of our history since we lead, which he managed to "trade" away to inhabited these mountains, our citizens have different persons up to the time of his apprebeen terribly scourged by bands of thieves hension. who served themselves to everything of value When the search was made upon the warthat was "lying around loose," and on cattle rant of Justice Miner, a quantity of the shoes and horses were insatiable. While the and nails were found concealed about his tions, and it appears almost too hard and, troops were at Camp Floyd, the thieves found house and in the earth on his lot, and not till a ready market for every thing they could put all of his transactions in the heavy business their hands on, but since that time there has were clearly and palpably demonstrated did been a "thinning out" of not a few of these he own to any of them. He was a dogged, gentry and we have enjoyed a comparative cunning thief of no mean calibre in raseality. respite from wholesale depredations. Of vari- He was tried and sentenced to five years ous individuals who have figured in that shady imprisonment in the Penitentiary; but was the house which he had visited the preceding Shortly after nine o'clock, a man was seen skulking from the passage way of the National Hotel; an officer disguised passed along side of life's picture much that would be in- not there over two months before he broke teresting might be written; but of no one out of confinement and stole six cows from a among the crowd has there been more of carpenter to whom he had paid them for work variety than in the history of Verulam Dives, done on his house. He returned of his own who had the last page of has history finished accord to the Penitentiary, and came out on Thursday evening, in this city.

184

G. S. L. City, March 4, 1864. We, the jury called to inquire into the cause of the death of Yerulam Dives, on the night of March 3d, 1864, between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock p. m., find by the testimony, that said Verulam Dives was an escaped convict from the Penitentiary, and that the police were called upon and instructed by the Warden of the Penitentiary to arrest the said Vernlam D ves dead or alive, and on the night aforesaid, the policemen discovered the said Virulam upon him to surrender, which he refused to do, and endeavored to escape by running. He was pursued by said police for about sixty which he refused to do, after which the Captain of the police ordered his posse to fire upon the said Dives, which was done, several shots taking effect, which caused the death of the

WM. B. WILKINSON. CHARLES CRISMAN Jurymen. B. Y. HAMPTON.

From various sources of information, we have heard of his bold deeds of daring since he left the Penitentiary, and we believe it was his intention, with the aid of confederates, to rob two stores in Main street on the night of his death.

The officers have traveled over seven hundred miles after him, in the various counties where he was reported, and by night a vigilant watch had to be kept around certain places that he had threatened with his vengeance. He was a desperate man, had threatened the lives of the Mayor, the Sheriff and the officers who had ever had relations with bim. On Friday, the two saddles stolen from Centreville, were found up a kanyon south of Emigration, and on Saturday, one of the stolen horses was found on the bench. His career was infamous and his end was blood. We should have been glad to have seen him finishing his probation with hard labor and with the ball and chain; but the officers would have had little claim to the city's confidence, if they had reported such a desperado escaped.

again at his pleasure, and broke into the City Dives had, no doubt, one or more confeder- Hall and into the Court House, and stole ates at one time or another, for even that from these two places about a $1000 and a class of persons have kindred associations for quantity of Internal Revenue stamps, and the the love of it as well as for the advantages; seal of one of the officials. The same night, but as far as we have learned, he seems to he broke into Alderman Clinton's office and have made the most of his reputation unaided took $85, and two navy revolvers.

and alone. Some, from the ability he has Through the vigilance of the police, a condisplayed in handling the property of others, federate, an escaped convict, and now a and in maintaining the utmost secrecy after- pardoned out Nevada Volunteer, was apprewards have awarded to him intellect and hended, and a considerable amount of that qualities that might have made him a hero property was recovered in the vicinity of Camp in these times, but he missed it.

Soon after his arrival here, we are told of pistols loaded were found about Dives in his calling upon a gentleman, telling his pitia- the Peni entiary. On the 31 of last month years of age-the son of Mr. Puilo Johnson. ble tale of poverty, getting immediate assist- he managed to get beyond the guards, for a ance and the gift of an ox team to start him very innocent purpose, and in a moment be in wood hauling. The first trip to the kan- had reached the door, closed it, locked the von by the young Dives ended in his hauling guards in and quietly put the key of the Peni- For two months it had been in Johnson's to the home of the original possessor a load tentiary in his pocket and walked off. He house and had been hand'ed frequently by the of wood that he had found already cut in had made a saw of a jack knife, and the boys. On the 25th ult., two of the brothers the kanyon and which he appropriated to night before this adventure he had sawn were playing in the room with the gun, and himself but was caught in the act. From almost asunder the chains from his feet. getting possession of some caps snapped that time to his incarceration in the Peniten- Once outside of the Penitentiary, a rock away playfully. They had snapped quite a fessing to regulate their speech and conduct tiary he appears to have engaged in a variety of finished the labor on the chains, and Verulam number of caps without reaching the powder, occupations, but much of the time he was Dives was again free.

consideraby engaged in doing nothing. In For a month, Dives was the object of par- was coming into the room, one of the boys and conduct which concerned nobody but eity life, where many men have "no visible ticular solicitade to the Warden and to the pointed at him, drew the trigger and the means of existence," Dives could plod along police. He made zig-zag tracks wherever he charge of the gun went right through him: be themselves. Innocent women, by far the most humble and willingly obedient portion of in the crowd without at'raction, but in the went and baffled his pursuers, so that no died instantly. We have no acquaintance humanity, were insulted, abused, imprisoned, country he had not the same advantages of trace could be had of him till three days be- with the family; but we can conceive of no tried, condemned and hung under the absurd concealment, and, notwithstanding his other- fore his career was ended. He was seen to more fearful calamity than brother slaying charge of their being witches. But let these wise passable life, he was frequently suspi- pass through the city on the Sunday morning brother and deeply sympathize with the few ins'ances, known of all, suffice as speci- cioned and charged with a "weakness" which preceding, accompanied by another person, afflicted family. mens of the intolerant religious officiousness in later times he developed to be his danger- the two mounted on horses stolen from about It seems hard for some folks to learn a litof the past, and some to the present. ous forte. Centreville. An extra night force of police tle good sense. We hope that hereaf er there Notwithstanding the wise and just Consti-From an amiable disposition, and in accord- was put on, and his suspected haunts were will be more carefulness and fewer accidents tutional guarantee of religious freedom to all, ance with a not very common faith and prac- closely watched. A week ago to-night his from firearms.

We hope that his end wi'l not be forgotten by those who live by iniquity.

MELANCHOLY ACCIDENT .- We regret to Douglas, and sometime afterwards the two learn of a fearful accident at Payson, resulting in the death of a little boy of about six Our informant states that a Mr. Oliver, of Santaquin, had sent there a gun to be repaired and gave no intimation of its being loaded. but unfortunately, as the little boy Reuben