

JOE JEFFERSON, THE ACTOR, IS DEAD.

End Came After a Day of Unconsciousness and After a Heroic Struggle of Many Days

FALSE HOPES WERE RAISED.

Doctors Said He Would Recover—
Body Will be Taken to Buzzard's Bay—Profession Grieves.

West Palm Beach, April 23.—Joseph Jefferson, the eminent actor, died at his home, "The Reef," at Palm Beach, at 6:15 this evening. The end came after a day of unconsciousness and after a heroic struggle of days which had exhausted his vitality. At his death-bed were his wife, his sons, Charles and Frank Jefferson, his nurse, Miss Mabel Bingham, Dr. R. B. Porter, and his faithful old servant, Carl Ketteler.

The end was not a surprise to his family. Ever since his last sinking spell, which came after a rally on Thursday morning, and which was followed by an apparent improvement until Friday, the family has been waiting for the end.

Mr. Jefferson's condition Saturday night grew steadily worse and the family, who had retired, were summoned from their beds and Dr. Porter was called. The doctor's condition continued to grow worse all through today and the brief bulletins from the bedside contained no words of encouragement.

The sickness of Mr. Jefferson, which ended in his death, was contracted, it is believed, upon a recent visit to his son, Charles R. Jefferson, at Hobe Sound, a few miles from Palm Beach, where he went to meet his friend, former President Cleveland. It is believed that from a slight indisposition in his eating there he suffered an attack of indigestion. Since his return to his home his condition grew steadily worse with slight rallies until the end.

The body of Mr. Jefferson will be taken to Buzzard's Bay, a special train leaving here tomorrow evening, accompanied by all the members of his family who are here. It will reach New York Wednesday morning and the family hope to reach Buzzard's Bay the evening of that day.

It was on April 1 that Mr. Jefferson went to Hobe Sound to meet Mr. Cleveland and other friends at the home of his son, Charles Jefferson. The party spent about a week there, and during that time there were frequent fishing expeditions. During that time Mr. Jefferson appeared active, but as he had been resting at his home at Palm Beach and had almost recovered his strength from the illness which pulled him down last spring, he was overconfident and over-exercised himself. He was at supper that one night when he ate something which it is thought brought on the attack of indigestion.

When Mr. Jefferson became ill he returned at once to "The Reef" and was taken to his room, which is only 100 feet from the ocean, where he could watch the sea. The weather was favorable throughout his illness. Dr. Potter, the family physician at the Florida home, lived three miles from "The Reef" and went occasionally to the bedside of his patient, feeling that Mr. Jefferson might survive.

But when the first critical period occurred he spent most of his time there and called Dr. Worley, a specialist of St. Augustine, for consultation. Dr. Worley went to Palm Beach last Monday, leaving there the following night, thinking that Mr. Jefferson might recover. It was the heroic fight the veteran actor was making against death, and his great determination to survive in order that he could reach his northern home, that resulted in the few temporary changes for the better.

On Thursday he was well enough to take nourishment and to retain it. At one time he called for chicken broth, and then thought it was well enough to eat the meat. But this was denied him. Dr. Potter was so confident Thursday at 4 o'clock that he told a representative of the Associated Press that he believed Mr. Jefferson would recover. But the next day brought most serious conditions for the worse, and from which Mr. Jefferson could not recover.

A SHOCK TO HIS SON.

Boston, April 23.—The news of the death of Joseph Jefferson came as a shock to his son, Charles Jefferson, who was to have opened an engagement here tomorrow night in the little part of "Rip Van Winkle." The play made famous by his distinguished father. Recent reports from his bedside had encouraged the son to hope for ultimate recovery.

The engagement of "Rip Van Winkle" was immediately cancelled and the Boston theater, where Mr. Jefferson was to have appeared will be dark for the week. Tonight Thomas Jefferson received many telegrams of sympathy and expressions of grief from the theatrical people in the city.

BELOVED AT BUZZARD'S BAY.

Bullard's Bay, Mass., April 23.—The progress of Joseph Jefferson's last illness was followed anxiously in this Cape Cod home, and the announcement of his death tonight was received with genuine sorrow by the townspeople, to whom he had become a familiar figure during fifteen years of summer residence here.

The usual spring preparations at the Jefferson summer cottage at the head of Bullard's Bay have been in progress for some weeks. It being Mr. Jefferson's custom to take up his residence here about the middle of May.

The house which the distinguished actor occupied is the second which he built here, the first having been destroyed by fire April 1, 1925.

Mr. Jefferson's pleasant ways endeared him to the people on the upper part of Cape Cod, who were always proud of his residence among them. His sons, Thomas and Joseph, built cottages here, and Mr. Jefferson also built a cottage here for his daughter, Josephine.

NEWS AT THE PLAYERS' CLUB.

New York, April 23.—Mr. Jefferson was president of the Players' club in this city, and the news of his death was received tonight with many expressions of regret, notwithstanding the unfavorable news that had been coming from his bedside.

The Players' club has had no member more deeply interested in its welfare than Mr. Jefferson, and none that worked more untiringly. With Edwin Booth, Lawrence Barrett, Augustin Daly, A. M. Palmer, Brander Matthews,

It is much easier for a woman to confide in the average man than in the average woman. She knows that the man will respect her character and keep her in his hands. He is strong, has more experience of the world and can help the woman who needs advice. There is every reason why women should not trust their delicate constitutions in the hands of unskilled persons. It requires a thorough medical education to appreciate and understand the womanly organism. When a woman has ill and pains that she cannot bear—when life seems dark for every woman, she should confide her troubles to a physician of standing in the community, or one who has a national reputation. Certainly it would not be the part of wisdom to confide in an ignorant person without medical education simply because he was a woman. There is every reason why she should write to some great specialist, one who has made the diseases of women a specialty for a third of a century, like Dr. R. V. Pierce, founder of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. All his correspondence is held sacredly confidential, and he gives his advice free and without charge.

So uniformly successful has Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription proven in all forms of Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, and Leucorrhea, that, after curing the worst cases of these distressing and debilitating ailments, Dr. Pierce now feels fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in cash for any case of these diseases which he cannot cure.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used with "Favorite Prescription" whenever a laxative is required.

John Drew, S. L. Clemens and several others, Mr. Jefferson signed articles of incorporation for the club in 1888, and was elected to the board of directors. After the death of Mr. Barrett, in 1893, Mr. Jefferson was elected president of the club, and has been re-elected to that office at every annual meeting since.

He presided at the memorial meeting Nov. 13, 1893, at the Madison Square concert hall commemorating Edwin Booth's sixtieth birthday, upon which occasion he delivered a felicitous and affectionate eulogy of the founder. On Founders' night, Dec. 31, 1893, he delivered an eloquent address, recalling the memory of Mr. Booth in simple and touching words, concluding with the following repetition of the founders' pronouncement of his passing:

"They drink to my health tonight, Joe. When they meet again it will be in my memory," adding for himself: "Two years ago last autumn we walked on the sea beach together, and with a strange and prophetic kind of poetry he likened the scene to his own failing health, the falling leaves, the withered seaweed, the dying grass upon the shore and the ebbing tide that was fast receding from us. He told me that he had forgiven his enemies and could even rejoice in their happiness; surely this was a grand condition in which to depart from this world to the threshold of the next."

Mr. Jefferson was at every Founders' night annually until 1898, when he was absent on account of illness. Nor was he permitted to be present on the recurrences of that occasion, which absences were sometimes caused by ill health, but principally on account of the strain of his calling. His sympathy and interest in the "Players" was always expressed either by letter or telegram, and embodied sentiments in accordance with his communication of the kind which came on Founders' night, as follows:

Palm Beach, Fla., Dec. 31, 1899. To My Brother Players: I join with you in the departing hour of the old century in keeping green the memory of our beloved founder, Edwin Booth. And I wish you all a happy New Year. Joseph Jefferson.

In commemoration for the absence from Founders' night, and in honor of women friends of "The Players," he was present and contributed to the pleasure of ladies' day whenever possible. On the 24th of April 1930, he made a very witty and interesting address to the ladies present.

In consequence of Mr. Jefferson's death, the annual ladies' reception day for which cards are out and which was to have been held tomorrow, will be abandoned and the invitations have been withdrawn.

Joseph Jefferson was born in Philadelphia, Feb. 20, 1829, and was looked upon as the dean of the dramatic profession in this country. He first appeared on the stage as a child and during his career he played in a number of foreign countries. His great reputation was made in "Rip Van Winkle," which he played in almost every city of the United States. Of late years he has played but a few weeks of each season.

Joseph Jefferson was also the name of Mr. Jefferson's father and grandfather, and all were actors. The lives of the three were similar in that their early careers were struggles for recognition and almost for a livelihood. Up to 1857 Mr. Jefferson is said to have merely attained the standing of respectable stock actor, but in that year he became associated with Laura Keane's theater in this city, where for two years he appeared with the elder Sothern. Mr. Jefferson became prominent in the role of Assa Fenchurch in "Our American Cousin." Other characters portrayed were Newman Noggs in "Nicholas Nickleby," Caleb Plummer in "The Cricket on the Hearth," and Bob Acres in "The Rivals."

In 1860 Mr. Jefferson visited California, but abandoned that field for London, where he spent four years. London was visited against his own inclination in 1865 and at the Adelphi he played "Rip Van Winkle" for a 150-night run. After appearing in some of the larger cities in England, he returned to New York in 1869. Since 1867, when he married his second wife, Miss Sarah Warren, he has confined himself to a few favorite parts of which Rip Van Winkle is the principal. Several months ago Mr. Jefferson retired from the stage and has since devoted his time between Florida and Cape Cod.

A characteristic trait was displayed in his participation of pleasure upon his tours through New England. He was the recipient of the degree of M. A. from both Yale and Harvard universities and when in Boston or New Haven he was invariably requested to address the student body.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERIES MADE IN BEEF TRUST CASE

Chicago, April 22.—Vice Presidents and cashiers of four Chicago national banks have been subpoenaed by the federal officials working on the "beef trust" inquiry. The subpoenas called for the production of the accounts and records of the Aetna Trading company, and the S. Oppenheim & Co. Sausage Casing company.

The government officials have traced from bank to bank and through the clearinghouse checks which were numbered and are said to bear fictitious names.

The latest move is said to be one of the most important yet made in the investigation, and has caused a stir among the leading packers, who are suspected of having been directly connected with the operations of the Aetna Trading company. It required more than two weeks' hard work on the part of several of the officers and National Bank Examiner Starek to trace the checks, many of which were discovered in trunks recently seized by government detectives.

It was a direct result of the developments regarding the checks that the subpoenas were issued for the officials of the four banks. The person who subpoenaed are: Vice President George M. Reynolds and Cashier I. P. Bowen, Continental National bank; Vice President Don A. Moulton and Cashier Frank W. Smith, First Exchange National bank; Vice President W. T. Fenton and Cashier Robert M. McKinney, National Bank of the Republic; Vice President Joseph P. Talbot and Assistant Cashier Nathaniel Osch, Commercial National bank.

It was found that one of the most complicated methods of bookkeeping had been employed by the Aetna Trading company officials and those of S. Oppenheim & Co. No names appear on any of the books, it is said, which indicate the persons who were in any way connected with the packing industry.

SENSATIONAL CHARGES AGAINST "MORMON" CHURCH

Washington, April 22.—Mrs. Goode of Alabama, at today's session of the congress of Daughters of the American Revolution, brought to the attention of the congress the "Mormon" question in a sensational statement.

She declared that the "Mormon" Church was violating, through its leaders, the laws of the land; that it was a reasonable institution, owing its highest allegiance to its own organization, and that it was a stain on the good name of the United States. She offered this resolution:

"That as daughters of patriots we most earnestly call on the national Congress to pass such remedial legislation as will put a stop to polygamy and polygamous living and political condition of the Mormon hierarchy; and that this congress also urge the United States senate to vote to refuse the right of Utah, an apostle of this church, and one of its highest officers, the right to continue as a senator of the United States."

And that we further urge an amendment to the federal Constitution, making polygamy, under whatever guise or pretense, a crime against the United States."

Mrs. Allen, state regent of Utah, asked that the word "church" be eliminated from the resolution and the word "hierarchy" substituted. The change was made. The resolution was adopted. A recess was then taken at 4 o'clock.

At the night session the congress acted unanimously not to mortgage Memorial Continental hall, but to go ahead with the work of collecting funds for its completion.

Vernon M. Davis, one of the justices of the supreme court of New York, who presided in the criminal branch during the first and second trial of Nathan Patterson, was one of the interested spectators of the proceedings.

Mrs. Donald McLean, the president-general-elect, on motion of Mrs. Murphy of Ohio, was elected chairman of the continental memorial hall committee, the action being in accordance with precedent.

In response to an inquiry of Mrs. Mary Woodswift of California the president-general explained that the chairman of the continental memorial hall committee was not necessarily the president-general, but had to be elected. She then devoted a brief time to outlining the work done by the present committee, of which she is chairman.

At the conclusion of her statement the thanks of the congress were extended to Mrs. Fairbanks.

After the usual resolutions of thanks the congress adjourned sine die.

THE MOST DELIGHTFUL SUMMER RESORTS IN AMERICA

Are in the "Land of the Sky" Country, Western North Carolina.

Asheville, N. C., more nearly than any other city in America meets all of the requirements of a natural sanitarium and health resort. For temperature and climate it is unrivaled. Mildness characterizes the atmosphere of this capital of health at all seasons of the year. Its hotels never close. Situated over 2,000 feet above the sea level, the Asheville Plateau possesses an atmosphere at once dry and bracing. Hills, valleys, rivers and forests abound.

Near to Asheville, which is the center of the beautiful "Land of the Sky" country, are other resorts of fame, such as Hot Springs, Hendersonville, Brevard, lovely Lake Towaway, etc. The "Sapphire Country," as the district around Lake Towaway and Sapphire has come to be called, is within a short ride of Asheville. There are lakes of wonderful beauty several thousand feet above the sea.

The great natural beauty of the "Land of the Sky" country has not yet been marred by the hand of man, his only encroachment upon the sylvan solitude having been the erection of splendid hotels on attractive sites and the construction of excellent carriage roads upon which to reach them.
