The education of girls in Vienna is somewhat peculiar, and perhaps worthy of note. Up to 15 years of age, they are kept at their studies, but are not deprived of society. They dress very simply, rarely wear a silk gown till the day they leave the school-room. After they leave school they go through a year's or even two years' teaching in the pantry and in the kitchen, under some member of the family, under trained cooks. They may never be required to cook a dinner, but they are thus rendered independent of cooks and servants, as they learn how to do everything themselves long before they begin housekeeping on their own account. When married they are the most affectionate wives and mothers.
