IN THE WORLD OF WOMEN

The past week has had a fair social record, the majority of events, however, being of a comparatively quiet nature. The opening and most notable event was the reception given by Senator and Mrs. Kearns on Monday night, the details of the affair making it one of the most brilliant of the season. Decorations, music, refreshments, were of the choicest and the event in every way a success.

* * *

An unique and enjoyable event of the week was the dinner given at the Kenyon by O. R. Young on Thursday night to the directors of the Dalton Mining company. The table was laid in one of the private dining rooms and space was reserved in the center of the room for lounging chairs for an after dinner smoke. The unique features of the affair were the decorations which were miners' implements—shovels, picks, etc., —and the menu was printed on ore bag cards with characteristic witty mots interlining the announced delicacies. The event was enjoyed by six guests, and a cover was laid for Dr. Garrison who is in New York.

The Dancing club enjoyed the second of their delightful series of parties at the Ladies' Literary club on Thursday night. The music was excellent and the event attended by nearly all members. The latter number Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dale, Mr. and Mrs. Shelp, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Rood, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. Hague, Mr. and Mrs. Brink, Mr. and Mrs. Bogue, Mr. and Mrs. Griswold, Mr. and Mrs. Hyde Dale, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Lynch, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Terry, Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. Bartling, Mr. and Mrs. Tracy, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Grant, Mr. and Mrs. Tuttle, Mr. and Mrs. Pearl, Mr. and Mrs. Stowe, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Knox, Mr. Alviras Snow.

The Opal club ball at Christensen's last Tuesday evening was one of the most delightful affairs yet given by that popular organization. About two hundred were present, and the event in all details was most successful. A pretty feature of the affair was the ball program, which was daintily embossed and printed in the club colors. Present were:

Those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Berry, Mr. and Mrs. Zeno Barnes, Mrs. Olson, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. B. Brady, Mrs. Geary, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Angell, Dr. and Mrs. Root, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. OGDEN SOCIAL NEWS.

Ogden, Feb. 2.—Monday evening the home of Mr. George Lochhead Jr., at No. 735, Twenty-sixth street, was the scene of a very delightful surprise party, given in honor of Mr. Lochhood by his parents. At an early hour in the evening about forty of his friends took possession of the home, without his knowledge, when he entered the parlor and the brilliancy of the electric lights revealed the many faces, he was greatly surprised. An evening of much enjoyment was spent by all present in playing games, singing songs and other pastimes. At about midnight the merry crowd adjourned to the dining room, where a sumptuous repast was served, and at an early hour, after singing "Auld Lang Sine," the merrymakers dispersed. Those present were Misses Mollie Woods Clara Brown, Dora Snow, Leona Woods, Gessie Holther, Milla Stevens, Sarah Jane Larkin, Lizzie Rackham, Lizzie Lochhead, Emma Anderson, Mrs. Elijah Larkin, Annie Fowler, and Lillias Lochhead. Messrs. Elijah Larkin, Mervin Russell, Wm. FEMININE FLOTSAM.

WEDDING CAKE SIX FEET HIGH

The Marvelous Sugar Castle Wilhelmina Has Ordered.

At the wedding of Miss Elsie French and Mr. Vanderbilt a stalwart and beautiful wedding cake, that measured four feet and a half from the base to topmost flower, was one of the interesting features of the bridal breakfast. The little queen of Holland, though she doubtless heard nothing about this towering sugar castle, has broken its record by ordering one a foot and half taller. These two brides, on their respective sides of the water, have therefore set the fashion in favor of lofty cakes.

The one made for Miss French was set upon an exquisite base of open-worked silver gilt. On top of the plaster and sugar monument stood a charming vase of transparent sugar crystal and from this flowed down a wonderful shower bouquet of natural orange blossoms and smilax. Clear-se tinted sugar crystals and naturnl flowers are not the only materials for decoration used in the making of the grand new wedding cakes. Painted and spangled panels are let into the four or eight big facets of the sugared base very often, and at the wedding last autumn of a well known American heiress the whole cake was cast in plaster and carried triumphantly to her new home by the bride and set up under a glass case, to serve as a monument and memorial of the bridal day.

The queen of Holland's wedding cake is built six tiers or terraces, on the sides of which, in sugar, her christening, her review of the fleets, her opening of the exposition, her coronation, her betrothal, and, finally, about the base of the small sixth terrace, her wedding is illustrated in high relief. The likeness of the queen and her husband, done in icing, are said to be exact, but beside the sugar castle a special round loaf is to be made for her wedding, as is the fashion nowadays at our own weddings. Into the loaf a ring, thimble and a gold heart are slipped and only the bride and her maids and ushers and nearest of kin eat of this cake.

For the wedding guests it is still the fashion to prepare cake boxes. At Miss Pierpont Morgan's wedding the boxes were covered with white watered silk and on the top of the cake that lay inside each pretty receptacle the entwined initial of the bride and groom were written in white sugar. For this beautiful wedding celebration the great cake was a double story white sugar temple of the purest classic model, an exceedingly perfect expression of confectioners' art, but a very costly one as well.

For one gorgeous cake, designed and executed by a Chicago firm, $600 was paid, and this did not include its transportation.

INTERIOR GLIMPSES OF SALT LAKE HOMES.

DRAWING ROOM IN RESIDENCE OF THOMAS WEIR.

The residence of Thomas Weir, the wealthy mining man, on the corner of South Temple and F streets, is one of the handsomest structures recently erected in Salt Lake. The outside of the building is entirely of stone with the exception of the porches and window casings, and the architecture, though simple in design, is dignified and pleasing. The interior is done in rich woods and is handsomely furnished. The entrance is on the south and leads into a large hall, from which open the principal dwelling apartments, drawing room, library, dining room, etc., and on the two floors above are the billiard room and sleeping apartments, each tastefully furnished and conveniently arranged. The cut above shows the interior of the drawing room, a spacious apartment, with the woodwork in white and gold and the furnishings in pale green. The other rooms are in keeping with the simple elegance of the above illustration.

PURE WHITE DANCING FROCK.

The Ideal Debutante's Gown, an Exceptionally Dainty Combination of Filmy and Graceful Effects.

Lines of white satin ribbon alternating with lines of lace insertion form the entire fabric of this charmingly dainty little evening frock. The foundation of the gown over which this airy affair rests is of white glace taffeta. The corsage is adorned with a little bolero of the lace and ribbon bordered by a chiffon frill. The chiffon, falling again, appears as a berthe around the open neck and a jabot in front, the bottom of the skirt being also adorned with a wider frill of the same.
