TERMS—IN ADVANCE.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

FROM TUESDAY'S DAILY, AUG. 15.

Stoves in Stock.—Z. C. M. I. announce in a new advertisement that the stock of stoves carried by them is unexcelled by that of any other house in America. They present by name a few of the many lines of that class of goods handled. They also sell at prices that cannot be competed with successfully. Read the advt.

Ogden Burglaries.—On Sunday night the saloon of Adam Johnson, on Fifth Street, was broken into and burglarized. The thieves stole a quantity of tobacco, some liquor and a number of bottles of beer.

The same night the business place of Mr. H. Cary, next door west of the Chamberlain House, was also burglariously entered and a number of rare coins, which Mr. Cary had been years in collecting, were taken away. A number of other articles were stolen, among which were the old gentleman's false teeth. We understand that most of these articles have been recovered—including the teeth.—Ogden Herald.

Home Manufactures.—Yesterday morning Mr. Joseph C. Cutler left this city on a business trip through the eastern and northern portions of Utah, and the southern part of Idaho, in the interest of Mr. J. C. Cutler's Commission House, Old Constitution building. The goods carried by Mr. Cutler are all of home production, and have gained such a reputation for excellence as to insure the success of the present tour. The Provo woolen goods are eagerly sought after, being generally preferred to importations in the same lines, as they are proved to be of better quality.

The "Instructor."—No. 17 of the current volume of the Juvenile Instructor is at hand. Its contents are as follows:

Pride (illustrated), History of the Church; Jottings by a Young Missionary, by Streben; Topics of the Times, by the Editor; Conversation, by J. E. Carlisle; Apostasy of the Early Church, by J. H. W.; Editorial Thoughts; Scenes in Germany, (illustrated); Internal Evidence of the Book of Mormon, by G. R.; Travels in India, by Wm. Fotheringham; Summary of correspondence; A Dialogue by James A. Little; Chapter for the Little Ones; Double Chant—The Ten Commandments, by A. C. S.; Lessons of Life, by Hope.

The Exponent.—We have received the Woman's Exponent of today's date. The contents are: "Our God is great, and nature is His Prophet," A. T. King; "Letters on Plural Marriage," Nancy A. Clark; "Letter to a Friend," H. T. King; "A Plea for our Kindred," M. L. M.; "A Representative Woman," continued; "Political Situation," Editorial; "Home Affairs," Our Hospital; "Letter of Instruction," "Association Intelligence," "Scenes and Incidents in Nauvoo," E. M. Whitney; and a large amount of selected matter. On account of the genuine information and bright thoughts it conveys, the Exponent should be a welcome visitor everywhere.

A Mail Grievance.—James B. Halladay, of Kanab, Kane County, writes to inform us that he and all other subscribers to the Weekly News are subjected to the most vexing annoyance by its frequent non-arrival on time. It should reach its destination every Saturday, but instead, about every alternate week it fails to get to hand till the Tuesday and is then seven days old. Our correspondent says he does not believe the fault lies at this office, in which he is correct, as the packages are invariably made up and dispatched on time. He is of opinion that the irregularity is due to the doings of some post office official between Salt Lake and Kanab, which is more than likely. He asks that the matter be remedied, and we hope it will be, and for this purpose call attention of the proper parties to the existence of the grievance.

"Modern Miracles."—A religionist named Dr. Cullis is making a great stir in Maine by what are called faith cures. The Boston Herald thus describes what is claimed to have taken place at a religious convention at Old Orchard Beach:

"Among the great faith cures of yesterday was that of an aged lady who had not walked one step in 18 years. Immediately after the prayer and anointing by Dr. Cullis, she walked to her chair, and was at camp meeting to-day, having walked from the house where she was boarding. This modern miracle threw a mantle of belief over the most sceptical. Another instance was three old gentlemen who had been lame for years, and who entered the tabernacle on crutches. They, too, arose perfect and whole."

Zion's Camp.—In this issue of the News will be found a notice published at the instance of President Wilford Woodruff, the Church Historian, and directed to all surviving members of Zion's Camp. We sincerely hope that the living veterans who belonged to that brave body will not fail to comply with the request that is made of them.

The history of this Church since its inauguration is fraught with thrilling incidents of the deepest interest, prominent among which will stand the mission and travels of the Camp of Zion, the men comprising which were ready to lay down their lives, if necessary, to establish the name of the Lord in the earth, and He accepted the sacrifice. The circumstances connected with the travels of the camp, if compiled would make a most interesting and instructive work, and it is due not only to the generation of to-day, but to those yet unborn that the details be written. This is a task which Brother Woodruff has it in his mind to perform before he puts off mortality, and it will greatly aid him in the commendable undertaking, if those who are familiar with any facts connected with Zion's Camp, whether they be now noted in writing or treasured up in the archives of the memory, will forward him the information, that the story may be made as complete as possible in all its connecting links. The survivors of the camp of heroes should consider this matter in the light of a sacred duty to God, His Church and to posterity.

FROM WEDNESDAY'S DAILY, AUG. 16.

Sophia Schultze.—If Sophia Schultze, who embraced the Gospel in Stockholm, in the spring of 1879, and emigrated to Utah the same year, will send her address to L. M. Olson, Ephraim, important matters will be communicated.

Information Wanted.—Information is wanted of the whereabouts of W. A. Richardson, who went to Arizona in the fall of 1880, from Goose Creek, Box Elder County, Utah. The address of the above will be thankfully received by the undersigned, at Robins' Camp, Tomkin's Springs via Blake City, Utah.

Yours respectfully,
I. A. KIMBALL.

Fire at Beaver.—A dispatch from Beaver, dated yesterday says:

A fire occurred at 3.45 this afternoon, destroying the adjoining stacks, corrals, stables and other outbuildings belonging to Franklin Harris and John Muir. A cow and litter of ten pigs were burned to death. Total loss estimated at about $300. It is supposed that a ten year old boy of Mr. Muir's set fire to one of the stacks by playing with matches.

Terminated Fatally.—Two or three weeks since the News gave the details of an accident to a young gentleman named Kettle, at the Denver & Rio Grande Western R.

R. depot in this city, he having been struck a severe blow on the head by a falling tie. Immediately after being hurt the young man bled at the nose, eyes and ears, and manifested other serious symptoms, but there was a general impression that he would recover. His condition continued to fluctuate between better and worse until Sunday last, when the patient expired at Provo. The remains were conveyed to American Fork, which was his place of residence, where the funeral was conducted.

Mobocracy in London.—One of the leading London papers, of a late date, has the following paragraph:

Last night another riot took place at Hackney. About nine o'clock a Mormon preacher took his stand opposite the surgery of Dr. Miller, in the Stoke Newington Road, and began expounding the doctrines of Mormonism. In the course of a few minutes a crowd of 500 persons had collected, and for a time listened in silence to the speaker. After a few minutes, however, he began to attack the Salvationists, the Baptists and the Wesleyans, upon which a cry was raised; "Over with him!" and the next moment the enthusiast was turned topsy-turvy. He was picked up, hustled and buffeted, and again thrown down at the cry, "Over with him!" That had been repeated several times, when suddenly an elderly gentleman in plain clothes called out, "Let the man go. I am superintendent of the police, and order you to disperse." Shouts of derision and cries of "don't believe it," "Pitch into him," "He's another Mormon," &c., greeted the announcement, but Mr. Superintendent Green, who is a tall, powerful man, forced his way into the centre of the crowd, and, followed by one or two persons who knew him, succeeded in restoring order and setting free the Mormon preacher, who was ordered to quit the place or go to prison. The man obeyed, and went off towards Hackney-downs, followed by the hoots and howls of the crowd.

A FEARFUL FATALITY.

DAVID G. BIGLER ACCIDENTALLY
CUT IN TWO BY THE CARS.

At one o'clock this morning, about five miles north of River Side station, on the Utah Central R. R., David G. Bigler, caboose brakeman, running between Juab and Milford, was, in company with James Bringham, passing from the engine to the caboose, when his lamp went out. Bringham, who was only a short distance behind him, saw Bigler's head and shoulders suddenly disappear between two cars. He immediately ran forward and gave the signal to John Russell, the engineer, to stop, at the same time shouting in a tone of great distress, "Bigler is killed."

The train was stopped in about three train lengths. Running back they found poor Bigler gasping his last. His body was between the rails, face down, the legs being outside of the track. Seven cars of ore and four coaches had passed over his groins, nearly severing him in two.

By this lamentable accident the company lose a faithful servant, who was ever ready to obey any call, and to his associates a whole-souled companion and friend. But the greatest loss is to his invalid wife and five fatherless children, to whom he was a devoted and kind husband and father. He was about 35 years of age. His home was at Nephi, being the son of Hon. Jacob G. Bigler of that place. The accident casts special sadness over the running department of the road, as none can feel more keenly than they the loss of a fellow-laborer, knowing as they do the dangers of their vocation.

Conductor Chase and Brakesman Bringham were deputed to perform the delicate task of breaking the distressing news to the family of the deceased. The company have given instructions regarding the caring for the body.

NO SMALLPOX.

IT WAS MERELY THE EFFECT OF TOO MUCH MELON.

A feeling akin to a sensation was created in town to-day by a report that a genuine case of smallpox came down on the train from Ogden this morning. We are pleased to be able to state that the whole matter was a mistake.

It appears that a man came down from the North this morning who was taken ill on the road, one of his symptoms being violent vomiting. Conductor George Chugg thought the individual exhibited some of the symptoms of smallpox, with which he is from personal experience, somewhat familiar. He telegraphed his suspicions from Woods Cross to Supt. Sharp, who promptly communicated with Mayor Jennings, who with equal promptitude, notified Dr. Clinton, the quarantine physician.

Dr. Clinton was at the depot when the train arrived, and took charge of the supposed smallpox patient. On close examination he failed to discover any indications of the disease, the fact of the whole matter being that the man had, last night, partaken with unreasonable liberality of melon, which brought on an attack of colic, causing him to be, for a time, a melancholly spectacle. He had been in the Wood River country and came down to take a glimpse at our city before going to his home in California, for which part of the country he left by the 3.40 p. m. train to-day.

The vigilance of the railroad officials and city authorities in this matter is commendable, and, although the reported case was fortunately not well grounded, the incident shows that the public safety, regarding the appearance of small-pox here, will be cared for by them with all possible vigilance. Notwithstanding it was subsequently proved that the man supposed to be infected, did not have small-pox, the car in which he traveled was fumigated or disinfected immediately after its arrival.

FROM THURSDAY'S DAILY, AUG. 17.

Married.—To-day, August 17th, in this city, Mr. George Shorten and Miss E. Ellis, both of Ogden, were united in marriage, Counselor D. H. Wells performing the ceremony. Mr. Shorten is late of London and now employed at the Ogden branch of Z. C. M. I. The happy couple have our best wishes.

Results of the Concert.—It appears the Deseret Hospital benefit concert did not turn out as largely successful financially as was anticipated. The gross receipts amounted to $848.70, including a donation of $50, generously tendered to the committee by Mr. Elias Morris. The expenses amounted to $118.65, leaving a net balance to the Hospital of $730.05. Of this amount $599.45 was cash and the balance ($131.60), was in orders.

Storm at St. George.—Last Saturday, August 12th, about 4 p. m., St. George was visited by a violent gust of wind accompanied by hail and rain. It came so suddenly as to do serious damage to various loose property, as well as wire doors, gates, etc. The porch in front of the warehouse of Messrs. Woolley, Lund & Judd was instantly carried away, taking the posts off close to the ground. Huge streams of water soon took their way down the roads and sidewalks, doing them much damage.

On the following day there was a similar deluge, except that the wind was not so high. Fruit by the ton lay strewn over the ground in and about the orchards. Several large trees on the sidewalks turned their toes to the sun, and things generally wore a demoralized aspect. However, the farmers are not displeased at the prospect of good crops, incident to the ground-moistening.

Accidentally Injured.—On Monday, an accident happened on the Oregon Short Line Railroad, to a man, a German, named Isadore Stanberg. He is about 22 years old. He left Denver about two weeks since to work on the Oregon Short Line road. The young man was not hired by the railroad company, but was engaged by a sub-contractor to work on a big washout on Snake River.

Stanberg had not yet commenced to work. He was on one of the flat cars riding near the end of it, when by some accident he was thrown between the two cars. He fell across the "buffers" and injured his back and the lower part of his body. He was taken up, placed by some persons in a cattle car and sent to Ogden, where he arrived last night. This morning he was visited by Mayor L. J. Herrick and some others. His Honor made arrangements for proper care and attention to be given to the unfortunate young man and he will be properly cared for.—Ogden Herald.

THE GENERAL'S EXPERIENCE

Perusing a recent copy of the Chicago Times, we observe the following statement from Genl. Leib of the Chicago Democrat: "St. Jacobs Oil, is the remedy for rheumatism and neuralgia, without any manner or doubt; and people who suffer from these diseases ought to be made acquainted with that fact. Whenever I had occasion to use the Oil I found it all its proprietors claim for it."
