SOCIAL CHAT

The week has been dominated by the spirit of the new year, festivities celebrating its approach commencing in watch parties on the previous night and continuing in suggestion at least during the remainder of the days. A few affairs are scheduled for next week, but it is safe to predict that for a time social as well as other affairs will suffer the reaction which follows the holiday rush.

One of the most interesting of the many watch parties was that given by Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Riter following the Schumann-Holm concert, these events being annual ones with the general hosts. Among the many pleasant features was an informal program of music, the soloists being Arthur Shepherd, Horace Eshign and George Pyper, while a number of old-fashioned songs were given by the Pyper-Whitney-Eshign-Spencer quartette. As the bells tolled the stroke of midnight the entire party joined in singing the old hymn "Come, Let Us Renew." Refreshments were served after the hospitable fashion of the hosts.

Among those who gave watch-parties on New Year's eve were Misses Juliet and Lynn Knowlton, Estelle Langford, Elizabeth Allen, Florence Clark, Margaret Werner, Lola Prott, Lucile Jenkins, the Misses Fitch, Russell Rossiter and others.

Judge O. W. Powers entertained at an elaborate dinner on New Year's eve, the decorations being in red and green and covers were laid for a dozen guests.

Miss Alberta Galatin of the "Dorothy Vernon" company was guest of honor at a large reception on Monday at the Kenyon parlors, given by the Daughters of the Confederacy, the members and guests afterwards attending the matinee in a body at the theater.

Among the pretty New Year affairs was the informal reception given by the Misses Pearl and Nora Van Cott at their home on New Year's day.

The Alta, University, Commercial and Ellis clubs kept open house on New Year's day.

Col. and Mrs. B. C. Lockwood entertained informally at the post on New Year's.

Miss Blanch Kimball entertained at a delightful musicale on Tuesday at her home, which was beautifully decorated, the rooms being almost embowered in garlands and baskets of vines and flowers—holly, roses, carnations and red-shaded candles being used with charming effect. The program was given by Miss Edna Dwyer, Miss Cecilia Sharp, Miss Agatha Berkhoel, Miss Beatrice O'Connor, Mr. H. Brines, Hugh Douglas, Karl Schied, Harry Shearman, The accompanists of the evening were Mrs. Frank Jennings and Jack Berkhoel. Mrs. Iglehart gave some delightful readings and assisting in various ways were Mrs. Ledyard, M. Bailey, Mrs. Kimball, Mrs. Russell C. Woodruff and Mrs. Joseph H. Young, and a number of men, including whom were Harry Shearman, George Lawrence, L. M. Bailey, John Weir, Will McCrea, Karl Schied, Rob Walker and Will Lawrence.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Armstrong entertained on New Year's night, in honor of Mrs. T. B. Hunter of California, the affair being in every way delightful.

The home of Governor and Mrs. John C. Cutler was thrown open for an informal reception on New Year's day. Unfortunately Governor Cutler was detained by a washout in Nevada on his return trip from California, but Mrs. Cutler, ably assisted by her daughters, Mrs. Ed. E. Jenkins, and Mr. and Mrs. John C. Cutler, Jr., hospitably entertained the large number of callers. The rooms were handsomely decorated for the occasion with beautiful roses and carnations in vases, while Christmas garlands and holly adorned the parlors, library and hall. Among those who called were the state officers and governor's staff, Col. Lund and staff, and officers of the National Guard, and the First Regimental band, which gave a number of selections. During the evening a telegram of good wishes was received from Governor and Mrs. John C. Cutler.

One of the prettiest affairs of the week was the luncheon given by Mrs. A. D. Meyers of Goldfield for her daughter Ada, who is a student at Rowland Hall, the event taking place at the Knutsford and covers laid for about 16 of the young girl's friends. The table was decorated with a profusion of flowers and green, the centerpieces being a basket of carnations and ferns, and pink-shaded candles lighting the table, while favors in the way of tiny baskets of flowers were at each place. Bridge followed in the parlor. The guests were: Mrs. J. L. Franklyn, Mrs. Sam Park, Mrs. A. H. Bird, Mrs. W. Mont, Mrs. E. S. Bascom, Mrs. O. W. Powers, Mrs. E. S. Ferry, Mrs. C. H. Post, Mrs. Grant Hampton, Mrs. Union Worthington, Miss Crawford, Miss Webster, Miss Nason, Miss Kiesel of Ogden.

Judge and Mrs. J. C. Royle, Mrs. Martha Royle King and her son, Royle, are at home to their friends in the Brown apartments, No. 243.

Miss Allie Smoot was guest of honor at a dinner party given by Mrs. M. L. Barnes on Christmas day.

Miss Mildred Mayne entertained at a pleasant home party on Monday night in celebration of her sixteenth birthday, about 16 guests being present.

Miss Clara Colburne entertained at a New Year's dinner, her decorations being in the season's colors and covers laid for about a half dozen.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kearns entertained at an elaborate dinner on Wednesday night, the decorations being in American Beauty roses and covers laid for about a dozen guests.

The Delta Sigma fraternity of the university will give an informal dancing party at the Museum building next Friday night, the guests to include members of various sororities and fraternities and a few invited friends. The chairpersons will be President and Mrs. J. T. Kingsbury, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Merrill, Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Ebaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maddock, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Spencer and Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Whitney.

Mrs. Arthur Pauley entertained at dinner on New Year's day, the table being decorated in Christmas greens and the room in bells and holly. Covers were laid for 12 guests.

Mrs. Sarah Harrop celebrated her birthday anniversary this week in a dinner at her home, the table being prettily decorated in evergreens and about a dozen guests being present.

Mrs. J. M. Rensselaer entertained informally at cards yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Percival O. Perkins gave an informal musicale for her pupils on Wednesday night, the rooms being bright with reds and greens, and an excellent program given by the pupils, followed by social pastimes.

An elaborate affair of the week was the dinner given by C. W. Whiteley at his cafe on Monday night, the table and room being handsomely decorated in the prevailing holiday colors, and an orchestra furnishing musical selections during the event. Covers were laid for 18 guests.

Mrs. Grant Hampton was hostess at a luncheon on Thursday in honor of Mrs. George L. Nye of Denver. The table had for a centerpiece a large bell of asparagus fern and smilax starred with clusters of pink carnations while pink ribbon streamers reached from the bell to the places of each guest and were caught with dainty calendars for place cards. Covers were laid for about a half dozen. The party afterwards attended the matinee at the Orpheum.

On Thursday Miss Virginia Shannon entertained informally at cards, in honor of her guest, Miss Taylor of Idaho Falls, the room being bright with Christmas bells and greens, and Mrs. Shannon and Mrs. Winsness assisting. Those present were Misses Ethel Shepherd, Margaret Dunn, Irma Simons, Marion and Madeline White, Helen

"LOST HEIRESS" VICTIM OF PLOT.

A sensation which is yet far from solution and which involves the mysterious disappearance of a Philadelphia heiress, her trip to Ireland and subsequent alleged "contract" marriage to Dr. Rolando Keuhn, has started two continents and enmeshed in its meshes many persons of prominence. Mrs. Keuhn, who was Ida May Miller, has charged a weird conspiracy to defraud her of her fortune and says that she married Dr. Keuhn to secure a protector from the machinations of her mercenary enemies. A secret code of signals arranged by the pair is not the least interesting feature of the peculiar case, which will have its finale in the courts.
