Eric O. C. Johnson was granted a deed to lot 4, block 104, Salt Lake City survey.

A bill for an ordinance amending section 2, chapter 3, of the revised ordinances of Salt Lake City, was then passed. It is as follows:

Be it ordained by the City Council of Salt Lake City, That section 2 of chapter 3 of the revised ordinances of Salt Lake City, passed February 14, 1888, be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

No person shall be elected or appointed to any office of said city unless he is a citizen of the United States, and has been a resident of said city for one year next preceding such election or appointment. William P. Davis and others asked that a wagon bridge be placed over the canal on Eighth West Street at the crossing of South Temple Street, on the north side of the railway track; also foot bridges over the above mentioned canal. Referred to the committee on improvements.

The committee on irrigation and associates presented the following which was adopted:

Your committee on irrigation, to whom was referred the duty of visiting the sources of water supply in City Creek cañon with the engineers in the employ of the city, for the purpose of examining the work of development of said source of supply, respectfully report that on Monday, November 18, 1889, your committee, accompanied by Mayor Armstrong, engineers Brooks and Jacobs, Surveyor Fox, Alderman McCormick, Councilor Roberts and Recorder Wells, went up City Creek cañon and made a thorough examination of the country. We found the work done there had yielded a good return in water and that the men were engaged in driving a tunnel about a mile above the big spring in the main fork of the cañon. They have developed a good stream of water there, and we recommend that the work be continued for the present.

The result of our examination was that we agreed upon a location about one hundred and fifty feet southwest of what is known as the big spring, about seven and one-half miles up said cañon, at which point we recommend that a tunnel be driven into the face of the hill at least five hundred feet, and that said work be let by contract, to the lowest responsible bidder, after due advertisement in three daily newspapers of the city for a period of at least ten days; and we further recommend that the city recorder be instructed to insert said advertisement in said newspapers and that the mayor and committee on irrigation be authorized to open all bids received and to award said contract."

Mr. Young presented the following resolution, which was read the first time and ordered printed:

Notice.

To whom it may concern:

This certifies that on the fifteenth day of October, 1889, Elder John B. Milner, was excommunicated from the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints by the High Council of St. John's Stake, for not complying with a decision of this High Council rendered June 8, 1888.

SAMUEL D. MOORE,
Clerk of High Council.

Returned Elders.

Elder O. G. Workman, of this city, returned on the 13th inst. from a mission, on which he left on the 16th of January last. He labored the first five months in Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia. He then went to Illinois, where he remained till his release. In the latter State considerable of his time was occupied in gathering genealogy.

Elder W. S. Henegar, of Eden City, returned a few days since from a mission to the Southern States. He started on the 1st of September, 1888, and upon arriving at Chattanooga was assigned to labor in the middle Tennessee conference, where he remained for one year. During this time he had many opportunities of expounding the Gospel, and the satisfaction of baptizing eight persons, besides assisting in the baptism of others. Some little opposition was encountered from mobs, but no violence was used. On the other hand, many kind friends were met with. The latter part of Elder Henegar's mission was passed in Harding County, Kentucky, where there are to be found a number of faithful Saints and others interested in the Gospel.

Elder P. W. Baker, of Beaver City, Utah, has just returned from a mission to England. He started on his journey on May 18th, 1887, arriving in Liverpool on June 10th. He was appointed traveling Elder in the London Conference, in company with Elder Hyer, and labored in the Kentish district. During the summer months the Elders held open air meetings in a number of towns and villages, and were well received by the people. Elder Baker was afterwards assigned to the Norwich Conference, where he labored for nearly a year and a half. Some opposition was encountered but no actual violence. Elder Baker obtained his release on September 17th, 1889, having while in England having taken part in the baptism of twenty-two persons.

November 11, we received a call from Elder Neils O. Mortenson, who has just returned from a mission to the Northwestern States, whither he went on the 18th of April, 1888. Nine months of his mission was spent in eastern Wisconsin, the first six months being among the Oneida and Stockbridge Indians. He was kindly received while laboring among them. Through the hostility of sectarian ministers, however, he was compelled to leave. In February Brother Mortenson was transferred to Johnson County, Illinois, where kind treatment was generally given him. The people are indifferent, however, to the Gospel. Since April his labors have been in Southern Indiana. His mission was somewhat shortened by having to accompany Brother B. A. Stringam, of Holden, Millard County, home. The latter has been sick for a month past with chills and fever. Brother Mortenson returns in good health and spirits.

Elder Benjamin Stringam, of Holden, Millard County, returned home November 9, from a mission to Southern Illinois and Southern Indiana. He left Utah on April 17th, 1888, and first labored in Hamilton County, Illinois, in company with Elder John L. Wrathall, of Tooele. In this part the two Elders made many friends, but there was not much disposition among the people to investigate the Gospel. Next Elder Stringam proceeded to Perry County, Illinois, having as his traveling companion President O. L. Packer. Here again the efforts of the missionaries were not attended with any great measure of success, Perry County, like that of Hamilton, being an old mission field. In company with Elder Chas. G. Hyde, Elder Stringam subsequently labored in Gallatin County, Illinois. In this district they were followed, on two or three occasions, by a small party of men and youths, armed with sticks and clubs. Threats were liberally used, but no violence was resorted to. During the past summer Elder Stringam was located in White County, Illinois, and also spent a short time in Southern Indiana. He had as a co-worker Elder John H. Davies, of Garfield. Elder Stringam was released a few weeks ago owing partly to ill-health.

November 18, we had the pleasure of meeting our old friend Elder Duncan M. McAllister, who returned November 16, from a mission to England. He left home on the 9th of May, 1887, and was consequently absent two and a half years. His labors were exclusively centered in the emigration and publishing
