DESERET SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION.

The semi-annual conference of the Deseret Sunday School Union will be held at the tabernacle Sunday evening October 6, 1907, at 7 o'clock. Sunday school officers and teachers are especially requested to attend and the public is cordially invited.

A special meeting of the stake superintendents and boards will be held Sunday Oct. 6, at 8 a. m. at Barratt Hall. A full attendance is requested.

JOSEPH F. SMITH
GEORGE REYNOLDS
DAVID O. MCKAY,
General Superintendency.

SEVENTIES' CONFERENCE.

A general conference of the seventies will be held in the Assembly hall on Friday, Oct. 4, 1907, at 7:30 p. m. All Seventies throughout the Church are cordially invited to be present, and a representation from each quorum is urgently requested.

Matters pertaining to the inauguration of the Seventies' class meetings on Sunday morning will be fully discussed, and instructions will be given as to the manner of conducting same.

"The Seventies' Course in Theology," already in the hands of the printer, will be ready for distribution.

SEYMOUR B. YOUNG,
In behalf of the First Council of the Seventies.

WE BEG TO DIFFER.

We beg to differ with our esteemed contemporary, the Salt Lake Herald, in the opinion it volunteers, that:

"There would have been no 'American' party if Reed Smoot, apostle of the dominant Church, had not been elected to the United States senate. There would be no excuse for the 'American' party, and it would dissolve automatically now for lack of support if Senator Smoot were to resign either his apostleship or his senatorship, or if he were to retire from active control of the Republican party in this state."

If that were true, why do not the party organs confine themselves to the discussion of that point, instead of raising all kinds of questions foreign to legitimate American politics?

The agitation against the seating of Senator Smoot in the United States Senate, which emanated from the chief originators of the so-called American party, was not based on the mere fact that the Senator is an apostle in the Church. That fact alone would, of course, not have justified them in raising a storm, or laying the foundations for a new political party, since there is no law, written or unwritten, against the election of any American citizen in good standing to the office of a United States senator, because of any ecclesiastical office he may hold. The agitation was therefore based upon a number of charges against the Church and the Church leaders, and the American party was raked together for the ostensible purpose of correcting the evils of which the Church was accused. But that was only the ostensible purpose. There was another.

The allegations made were principally that the Church had broken certain pledges relating to plural marriages; that the leaders claim authority to control the belief and conduct of the members, and that they use this authority to teach polygamy; that the Church controls the politics of the State, and that Senator Smoot was not elected by the proper electors but was elected by the Senate as the representative of the Church. Such were, in substance, the charges made and such are the allegations by which the originators of the party of strife sought to justify their assaults upon the people of this State and City. Such are the grounds upon which they are still trying to justify the existence of the party.

But all the charges made in justification of that agitation were utterly false, as was proved before the Senate, to the satisfaction of all who are capable of discerning between truth and error. It was proved that the Church has kept whatever pledges were made in its behalf to the American people. It was proved that the Church is not interfering in politics. Even ex-Senator Dubois was quoted as a witness to that fact. It was proved that Senator Smoot was properly elected, and that he is the representative of the people and not of any faction, religious or political. In brief, every allegation made was proved to be false, because not sustained by the evidence, and the accusers were finally driven to the extremity of adding that the Constitution be set aside for the "unwritten law," which in this instance would have been no better than mob law. That is the kind of Americans they are. Everything considered, the truth seems to be that the election of Senator Smoot was but an excuse for the attack that had been planned for entirely different reasons.

And these are no secret. We firmly believe that if Hon. Kearns had had his ambition gratified, there would have been no American party. The party was financed in the hope that it would gain the control of the State legislature and, we presume, send Mr. Kearns back to the Senate. That, we take it, was the only reason why it was asked together. Whether it would dissolve automatically if Senator Smoot were to resign, may be doubted. It will dissolve as soon as the conservative citizens of this City conclude that they have served as tools of unscrupulous politicians long enough, and are determined to end strife and contention by the election of good, honest men for office. That will disarm the gang that banded themselves together to rob the people and deprive them of their rights as American citizens.

That it is ex-Senator Kearns who is responsible for the existence of the so-called American party, and that his chief mission is to take revenge upon the Church leaders because the people of Utah refused to elect him, is a proposition for which we have no less eminent authority than Mr. Elliott Kelly, manager of the evening Twin brother of the Salt Lake Tribune. Mr. Kelly told a representative of the Louisville Herald that Kearns "refused to bow down before the priests, and was defeated by them for the United States Senate." This is a notorious falsehood, but it represents nevertheless the real foundation for the party of Mr. Kearns. Mr. Kelly added: "Senator Kearns is a Republican of the true blue stripe, and Smoot and his priests will know they have been to a fight before Kearns gets through with them."

That is all there is to the principles for which the Kearns party is kept together. Take revenge upon the "priests" for the failure of the people to re-elect Kearns! Whether this "principle" is worth the sacrifice of the peace and prosperity of a large community; whether Mr. Kearns' services to the people are worth the price, is for the citizens to consider.

THE NEW STATE.

President Roosevelt is reported to have expressed his views on certain provisions of the Oklahoma constitution in rather vigorous language, but notwithstanding these provisions are said not to be to his liking he has decided to proclaim the admission of the new state. This is good American doctrine. Oklahoma has a right to make laws to suit the people there, and when they are satisfactory to the people the President has no responsibility for them and no authority to exclude the new commonwealth from the Union because he does not agree with the legislation on certain points.

We have a suspicion that political influences were brought to bear upon the President, to refuse to make the proclamation. As soon as it appeared certain that the new State would be Democratic in its political complexion, politicians of other parties began to look around for reasons for refusing admission. These they affected to discover in various features of the constitution which were thought to be "populist," and so antagonistic to the "republican form of government." But such have not availed to lead the President into the commission of a wrong against Oklahoma. The people of that new State will get a square deal.

PROOFS THAT FAIL TO PROVE.

The anti-Mormon organ makes a desperate effort at proving that the Church interferes in politics. The remarkable part of it, however, is its feebleness. There is no originality, no force in it. Hear the "proofs."

The Church attempted to foil upon this nation as its political representative in the Lower House of Congress, Elder Brigham H. Roberts. The Church elected and defended in his seat in the Senate of the United States, Reed Smoot. "The truth is," according to the organ aforesaid, "that Reed Smoot was commanded by his political bosses to take the senatorship."

This is not only an "absolute, bald, naked, conscienceless, falsehood and fraud in fact, in spirit and in letter," it is, in addition, silly, idiotic, and, to suppose that anyone will accept it as true is an insult to his or her intelligence. The "Mormon" Church had no more to do with the election of Hon. B. H. Roberts to the House of Representatives, or Hon. Reed Smoot to the Senate, than any other church in Utah had. "Mormons" and non-"Mormons" voted both for and against them, and the elections were political affairs entirely. So much for that.

Another "proof" offered for the assertion that the Church interferes in politics is, that Elder Milton Musser last year wrote a letter to one of the local papers advising citizens to vote the Republican ticket. So that is "Church" interference, is it? What is it then, when a prominent official of another church stands up in a public meeting and advises the citizens to vote the bogus "American" ticket? But, it is perhaps best not to probe too deeply into that wound. It always makes a difference whose ox is being gored. We know nothing about Elder Musser's letter beyond what is known to the general public, but our opinion is that it was written by himself, on his own responsibility, as his private views of what he considered best for the Community, and that it would have had no more effect upon anybody than any communication from a reputable citizen, but for the fact that the anti-Mormon press, without any reason, gave it out as the expressed sentiment of the First Presidency of the Church. Anti-Mormon misrepresentations, it seems to us, gave more prominence to the letter than the author ever dreamed of attaching to it. So much for that.

Another "proof" is that the Deseret News is in politics. The organ says: "Read the utterances of the Deseret News today—the Deseret News being the official organ of the whole church organization and the spokesman for Joseph F. Smith—and its entire effort is at political interference. It mixes its politics and its religious sermons that neither can be forgotten in the other."

This gives us a welcome chance of saying that the "News" is not interested in PARTISAN politics. We are absolutely impartial as between Republicans and Democrats, Socialists or Americans, etc., even if we exercise our right to discuss current topics and issues from our point of view, in a purely academic manner. But when a supposedly political party makes the Church an issue, as the so-called American party has done—urging practically the disfranchisement of American citizens because they are adherents of a certain Church; if a party, to gain its ends, makes war upon one class of citizens, of all manner of falsehoods and misrepresentations, to have them deprived of all political rights, from the right of a seat in the halls of legislative assemblies, to the humble right of occupying the position of an officer on a police force, we would be remiss in our duty if we did not enter a protest and point out the danger to our free institutions of the prevalence of such un-American principles.

And let us say right here, that it makes no difference to us what church is assailed. We would defend the Catholic church, or the Baptist, or the Methodist, or even the Presbyterian church against such un-American attacks, as gladly as we defend the "Mormon" Church. We stand on the American Constitution in this, and also on the "Mormon" creed, for that teaches us to battle for the rights of our fellow-men and defend them whenever assailed.

If the anti-Mormon organ, then, desires the "News" to retire from the field of political discussion, let it stop its assaults upon the Church and the Church leaders. Let it cease the unholy practice of dragging religious issues into its contaminated politics, appealing to the prejudices and passions of the masses. Let the paper become a decent, American newspaper, and the party for which it pretends to speak a purely political party. That is all we ask. And then we will gladly devote time and space to other questions which we deem of much greater importance. But not till then. So much for that.

WHY SUPPORT PARASITES?

Everywhere there is a demand for the elimination of partisan politics from the administration of the affairs of cities. According to a recent magazine article describing what has actually taken place in Houston, Texas:

"Now began the work of elimination of politicians from the rank and file of the city employees. Numbers of men were found holding office purely because they had political 'pull' or influence. Many of them did not do enough work in a month to entitle them to a day's pay. Mercilessly, and so promptly that the headsmen's basket could not hold them, the heads of these parasites were cut off. There was wailing and gnashing of teeth, and it was astonishing the number of men who were quickly seeking work elsewhere. Of course, such action engendered a great deal of enmity, but the good citizens rejoiced, and the taxpayers grimly smiled when the beheaded ones picked their heads out of the basket and began to curse and swear, and—land laboring jobs fitted to their capacity."

The Los Angeles Express commenting on this, says, in part:

"Whenever the people of this town realize that every dollar wasted in payments to political parasites, who are fastened on to the salary roll like barnacles on a ship, comes out of their pockets, that the city hasn't a dollar not paid by them, that it is their own hard cash these tax-eaters swallow, there will be just occasion for Los Angeles to stand before the world's eyes just as the Texas town does. Meanwhile, it won't help the credit of the city any to have its council advertise itself to the world as foolish or corrupt, and one of the two a council must be that continues to provide place and money for ward heelers and political loafers."

The sooner the citizens of this City realize what other cities have paid dearly to learn, that the affairs of a community cannot safely be entrusted to the management of parasites who regard office in no other light than "spoils," the better for all interested.

"A model husband" is usually as soft as wax.

If the cap fits, wear it. Anything but a straw hat.

"Misery loves company." But the company doesn't reciprocate.

"I told you so!" is but another way of saying "I'm glad of it."

"The Water Babies" do not owe their paternity to the Father of Waters.

In the matter of rebates these days it is neither blessed to give nor to receive.

In favoring a deep waterway canal from the Great Lakes to the Gulf, isn't the President getting into deep water?

Mr. Gompers is writing five column editorials against Secretary Taft. If he wants them read, he should reduce them to five line paragraphs.

"The St. Gaudens coins are coming right along just the same. They might appropriately be christened 'colleens,' says an exchange. Yes, colleens bank.

President Roosevelt's advice to the Egyptians was to read "Martin Chuzzlewit." Splendid advice and should be followed by all who care for a first class satire.

While the country is congratulating itself over the distinguished and warm welcome given Secretary Taft by the Japanese, it is just as well to remember that the Japanese are orientals.

President Roosevelt has ordered that all army officers between the grades of captain and colonel shall prove their horsemanship by fifteen-mile rides at varying gaits. A much harder task for many than riding hobby horses.

The Borah trial ended as it should and as people who took any interest in it expected it would. Against the Senator there was not the shadow of a shade of evidence. Why he was ever indicted is a grave question and should be answered.

"Patience, Utah! Our big navy will probably be bigger. Every state in the Union will ultimately be used for warship christening purposes, as well as our territories, outlying possessions and cities," says the Boston Herald. Utah long since learned to labor and to wait.

The suggestion, made by the president of the Colorado African Colonization society, that the solution for the race problem is to send the negroes to Liberia, is no solution at all. American was not the original home of their ancestors, nor was it that of the white man, but it is their native country now and here they will stay. The solution of the negro question is a higher civilization and a nearer approach to genuine Christianity.

APPEAL FOR THE FARM.

Gov. Hughes in Leslie's Weekly.
When you go out where a man has a little elbow room and a chance to develop, he has thoughts of his own. His thinking is not supplied to him every night and every morning, and he is less of a machine and more of a man, so that I do not think that the farmers need to be looked upon, or want to be looked upon as dependents of the State. They do not come to the State government asking alms. They are self-reliant, they are intelligent. What we want in connection with agriculture is what we want in connection with every other field of noble effort. We want training, we want intelligence, we want scientific method, we want direction, we want the way shown, and then the man can walk in it. There is no reason why the same care and intention and skill and scientific consideration should not be devoted to agriculture as to industry and the technical trades. The men who are running away from the farms are frequently making a mistake, and some day in New York—and the day is rapidly approaching—our young men, in large numbers, will wake up to the fact that they have a pretty good chance on the farm, and that they may be a greater degree independent and happy in life if they stay where their happy lots were cast in connection with their fathers' farm or ranch, which they may be able to procure.

TEMPERATURE OF STATESMEN.

New York Evening Post.
People will listen to burning orators gladly. A North Carolina mountaineer was heard to say of Gov. Glenn: "I like to hear that man make a speech. He do sweat so powerful." But fervent heat is, after all, not the first quality which the voters should look for in a man or of perplexity they look for a man to lead them. Ability and conscience steadiness and a strong sense of justice will then take precedence; and consequently the folk for the most part, citizens will not too curiously inquire whether his temperature is above or below normal.

MONUMENTS TO BOTH.

Springfield Republican.
The cathedrals of thought among religious liberals in our day, have reached a point where it becomes entertaining. No one can read the report of the proceedings concerning monuments for John Calvin and Michael Servetus at the international congress of religious liberals in Boston without a sense of the drollness of the admirable conclusions reached. First, there was the resolution in favor of the proposed monument of John Calvin at Geneva. Calvin may be estimated from different points of view. It is certain that Calvinism has not been popular for many years in our most liberal circles of religious thought. But he was a great man, a very great man, judging him according to the time in which he lived, and it did credit to the international congress that it entertained no small and mean prejudices against him. The resolution, therefore, went through with a small majority, and it was then that the supplementary resolution in favor of a monument to Michael Servetus, how appropriate this was! For Servetus was the great "modernist" of Calvin's day, whom Calvin caused to be burned at the stake on account of a book which Calvin deemed heretical. There were certain phases of the Servetus episode which seem rather atrocious to our 20th century intelligence, but no doubt Calvin acted with wisdom in betraying Servetus's confidence, or at least in turning against him. Monuments all around, finally, seem to be the lesson of the action of the religious liberals in Boston. If they are followed up the Calvin and Servetus resolutions with one favoring a monument for a great pope of Rome, it would have been necessary to have adopted it with enthusiasm. The surprise comes in at this point. Why stop with Calvin and the man whom Calvin burned at the stake?
