Emigration Intelligence.

A dispatch from Elder Levi Taylor, in charge of the coming company of Saints from Europe, states that the company left Kansas City, Mo., at 8 p. m. yesterday. This being the case it is not probable that they will reach this city before Saturday. They may arrive in Ogden in time to come down with the train which leaves here at ten minutes past eleven a. m.

It is learned that in addition to the companies whose respective departures from Liverpool have been fixed for Sept. 1st and Oct. 15th, the last of the season, composed principally of Scandinavians, will start from that port on October 20th.

The Fire Steamer.

The testing of the new fire engine took place yesterday afternoon at the testing place of the City Hall. The steamer is a Sibley No. 4, and was tested by Mr. James B. Taylor, of the Sibley Manufacturing Company, who have built nearly 1,000 of these engines. Mayor Armstrong, Chief Engineer Ostinger and quite a number of spectators witnessed the trial of the new machine, and were highly pleased with the results attained.

In about six minutes from the time of firing up, the register showed 20 pounds of steam, which steadily increased until the limit of 100 pounds was reached, while the "average draught" of the trial was about 100 pounds. The water was first turned on during two lines of hose, connected near the nozzle by what is known as the "Siamese" coupling, which unites the two streams, and a solid stream of water was thrown a distance of 275 feet on a level through a 1 1/2 inch nozzle, while the spray went considerably further. The nozzle was then turned skyward, and the water shot up into the air about 200 feet. The "Siamese" was then taken off, and two 4-inch hoses were attached to two lines of hose, and two streams were thrown simultaneously about 250 feet on a level. The "Siamese" being again brought into requisition, four streams of water were thrown at the same time, each stream being about 200 feet on a level. For the next test, 1,000 feet of hose was run out, and a 1-inch nozzle attached. The water was thrown a distance of 175 feet on a level, but before this trial was finished, two sections of hose burst under the pressure which they were subjected to—200 pounds—due to Chief Ostinger and Mayor Armstrong were thoroughly satisfied that the engine would stand any strain it might be subjected to in actual service, the trial was brought to a close.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

Mr. A. Brim Seeks to End His Life by Sawing His Head.

THE EXCITING INCIDENT OCCURS ON THE PREMISES OF TAYLOR, ROMNEY & ARMSTRONG. At 8 o'clock this morning a man over medium height and of slender build walked into the ground compartment of the wood-working mill of Taylor, Romney & Armstrong, corner of South Temple and Second West Streets. He stood for a moment and watched Wm. Everett, one of the workmen, put a plank to a circular saw and tip it. So soon as the latter turned to seize another board to put it through a similar process, the stranger passed between him and a pile of lumber and, with a sudden movement, seized the saw, turned it towards his chest and cut his eye. The strange man was staggering while blood seemed to be streaming from what appeared to be a gash in his head.

Charles and just a lad who was engaged in carrying the ripped planks for the saw, was a witness of what occurred while Mr. Everett's back was from the moment turned. When the stranger reached the table above which a portion of the circular saw, revolving rapidly protrudes a little over two inches, he gazed at the whirling implement a moment, braced himself and deliberately placed the top of his head against it, sawing into his cranium a couple of inches deep.

Landslides, who was probably fifteen feet from him, made a move towards him, but before he could reach the misguided man he had placed his head against the saw the second time, and again sawed through the skull and into the brain.

An alarm was given, a number of persons were soon on the spot and rendered what assistance to the wretched individual that could be given under the circumstances. He was carried to the north entrance, a bucket of water procured and his head, which presented a horrible appearance, bathed. In the meantime a surgeon and other had been telephoned for. Dr. Joseph S. Richards was soon at hand and dressed the wound or wounds and the victim of one of the most remarkable and horrible attempts at suicide in the annals of this region was soon afterwards conveyed in a hack to St. Mary's hospital.

There is scarcely room for doubt in relation to the result of the mad attempt, which was made shortly after he received the self-inflicted injuries. He is now in a suffering, and his eyes, especially one of them, seemed to protrude, while they were overpowered with a glassy, death-like appearance.

The individual who resorted to this remarkable method of shuffling off his mortal coil, is somewhat tall and slender. He is of light complexion, has a sandy colored mustache, and a bald spot extends backwards from the forehead. He is probably in his thirty years of age, and has the appearance of a man more likely to be occupied in some pursuit requiring the exercise of thought than in an ordinary laboring vocation.

On inquiry it was learned that his name is Alexander Brim, the old-time tanner, of the First Ward, and two of his brothers are married to daughters of Mr. Charles A. Bassett, of this city. He has, for several years of late, been engaged in minor operations in Ogden, Utah, in connection with his brother, Ed. E. Brim, who is his partner. It is stated that he had lately come on a visit to Soda Springs, Idaho, but recently returned to this city and put up at the White House Hotel. The proprietor of that hotel stated today that Brim had been jilted some time ago by a young lady to whom he was paying his addresses, she having married some one else.

This fact had preyed upon his mind, and he had been thinking heavily instead of finding any relief from that miserable recourse it rendered him more desperate and despondent. Seeing his condition, Mr. Podtch sent word to his brother, Mr. Ed. E. Brim, to come in from Ogden, as the latter required watching. The brother accordingly came to town and put up with him at the White House Hotel. They slept together last night and left the hotel this morning to take a walk. In some way they separated, and the next thing that was heard by Mr. Ed. E. Brim concerning his brother, was that he had committed the tragic act at Taylor, Romney & Armstrong's mill as above related.

The principal streets of the city seemed almost deserted this afternoon owing to the general closing at 1 o'clock, and tomorrow afternoon they will be equally so.

COURT HOUSE BURNED.

Disastrous Fire at Beaver—Books and Papers Destroyed.

BEAVER, Utah, Aug. 30. [Special to the DESERET NEWS].—Shortly after three o'clock this morning the Beaver County Court House was discovered to be on fire, and notwithstanding the most energetic efforts on the part of the citizens it was completely destroyed. The fire is said to have originated in Presley Deane's law office, but from what cause is unknown.

The Second District court room and the district clerk's and Judge Boraman's offices, together with their contents, except what happened to be in the district clerk's fire proof safe, are utterly destroyed.

The contents of the United States marshal's, county clerk's and county recorder's offices, together with the city council chamber, all situated on the first floor, were saved.

Mr. Deane's valuable law library and all the contents of his office were entirely destroyed, nothing but the bare walls remaining.

The estimated loss is about $50,000, insurance $10,000.

Reduced Rates.

The different railway companies will issue tickets at reduced rates from all points in Salt Lake County to those desiring to attend the special stake conference to be held on Saturday and Sunday next. The price for a round trip ticket will be one-third more than the regular rate for a single fare.

Barbeaus.

On September 8 and 9 Miss Verona Jarbeau will appear in the Salt Lake Theatre, with a good company, in the musical comedy "Starlight". The lady appeared here with Dufr's Opera Company, of which she was a prominent attraction. She will sing three French songs, the piece, and is said to be the only prominent actress now on the American stage who sings in French. Her manager, Gus Moulton, Esq., is in town, making arrangements for her appearance here.

CLAY COUNTY.

The Old Home of the Saints in Missouri.

Yesterday a gentleman named M. S. Arnold, a resident from boyhood of Liberty, the county seat of the county of Clay, Missouri, called at this office and gave some interesting information respecting that locality. Mr. Arnold resides only four miles from the old home in which Joseph and his brother were imprisoned and which will forever possess a historical interest to the Latter-day Saints. The house in which Mr. Arnold lives is built of logs neatly hewn and framed together, and is, with improvements made upon it since first erected, one of the best houses in the town. The work upon it was done by a member of the Church named Gibbs, who is well remembered by Mr. Arnold.

The old Liberty jail was a two story structure, and had a double wall, the inner one of logs and the outer one of stone. It is now a ruin. The upper story has fallen and the logs and stones of which it was constructed are lying in a heap of rubbish. The spot is lonely and deserted one. The lower story of the building still stands, but it is not used for any purpose.

The town contains a population of about 12,000 and is a thriving place. But a curious obstacle to its permanent prosperity has been recently developed. Ever since the "Mormons" were driven away from that region, at which time their houses and lands were summarily seized by their enemies, it had been customary, until the "boom" of two years ago, for the section, to make transfers of real estate by simply giving an ordinary warranty deed and surrendering possession. The "boom" enhanced the price of land fabulously, and purchasers at high prices began to demand abstracts of title, a custom not before practiced. A pretty state of affairs was thus disclosed. It was found that the title to much of the land in and about Liberty still vested in the old "Mormon" settlers, who had obtained patents from the government against which, of course, local statutes of limitation do not run.

It thus appears that the way has been left open for the Saints to return to Missouri and re-possess their inheritances there, by perfectly natural and strictly legal means, when the time shall come for the fulfillment of the prophecies that have been made upon that subject.

Mr. Arnold visited the city cemetery and found upon monuments there, the names of many persons whom he had known in boyhood, and who were formerly residents of Clay County, Missouri. He expressed great interest in this visit to the city of the dead. He was accompanied by his wife, and they left for San Francisco yesterday.

THE TABERNACLE CHOIR.

Have One of Their Enjoyable Excursions.

The annual excursions of the members of the Tabernacle choir to the different settlements are a genuine treat to all those fortunate enough to participate in them. Everywhere they go they are received with the greatest courtesy. On Tuesday they visited Springville by invitation of the citizens and although they mustered with their friends a strong company, there were many homes that had offered accommodations who were minus visitors. As soon as they arrived at the U. C. depot an army of teams and vehicles were ready to escort them to the city, under the direction of Bishop Packard and his aids. The Springville brass band was also in attendance to give color to the occasion. In a short time the visitors were all disposed of not a soul being left unprovided with homes.

At 2 o'clock p. m. a grand musical treat was tendered free by the choir to the citizens of Springville in the Opera House. The choir occupied the entire stage, the auditorium being crowded to the roof. All the old favorites outbid their former efforts and were received with great enthusiasm. A splendid selection of anthems, songs, and instrumental selections kept the audience spellbound to the echo for two hours.

Not content with the exercises of the afternoon the committee in charge announced a sociable to commence at 8 o'clock in the same building. Bishop Packard, in behalf of the citizens of Springville, made some excellent remarks expressive of the pleasure all felt in doing honor to the choir, and fervently hoped that the interest in music might grow faster as a result of their visit. Other speakers made appropriate speeches.

The Springville choir sang some excellent pieces which with songs and glees filled up two hours more of mirth, music and merriment, when, to cap the climax, a dance was announced in the City Hall. The morning was very young when the dancing came to a close.

All the members of the choir are loud in their praise of the hospitality of the residents of Springville. Each one thought he had the best place to stop at.

The Brass Band deserves special mention as well as the committee, who were untiring in their efforts to make the visit agreeable to all those who enjoyed the out.

One sentiment above all others is the best evidence of the hearty reception; it is the fact that the citizens of Springville were given as the excursionists turned their eyes homeward.

These musical reunions deserve more than a passing notice; they promote good feeling, encourage sociability, and make each one the happier who assists in breaking down class distinctions. In the arts and music Utah is the peer of her sister territories. It is our dearest duty to maintain the lead.

Accidentally Drowned.

The Provo Enquirer of August 28 has the following account of a sad and fatal accident in the funeral of the unfortunate child took place on Tuesday, at American Fork:

A sad case of drowning occurred at Lake Park, Utah, on Sunday evening, August 28th, between 3 and 6 o'clock. The victim was a young boy, a music dealer of American Fork, was visiting relatives there and went for a drive to Lake Shore to view the lake. Two of his boys aged 8 and 10 years accompanied him. The boys were swimming in the lake when the older boy (Thomas), after getting some twenty feet out, suddenly disappeared from the sight of his parents, brother and other relatives. The father, being being called, his father rushed to the rescue and disappeared, but came to the surface with the boy. The father, however, was not able to swim. The father discovered a deep well or spring hole where lay the boy, who came to the surface with the boy. Other men dived in the same place, but who came to the surface with the boy, and six or seven brave men labored for three hours, till darkness set in, but no trace of the body was found. The father reluctantly left him to sleep in the lake. Early next morning a force was gathered under the direction of the sheriff, to dig for the body. The father, being being called, his father rushed to the shore, where the father soon found to be his lost boy. He had floated to the shore and was found with a forty feet of the place where he sank, in about six inches of water.
