

SCHOOL LIMITS NOW DIFFERENT

Boundaries are Altered by Board of Education.

A. O. CLARK TO TEACH AGAIN

Appointed Teacher in Chemistry in the High School in Place of A. H. Beaver, Resigned.

The board of education met as usual last night and discussed business incident to the opening of the schools on Monday. In addition to several minor matters that came before their notice a change was made in the limits of the Summer, Ogilvie, Wasatch and Webster school districts. Prof. A. O. Clark, formerly principal of the High School, was also appointed teacher in chemistry in the High School in the place of A. H. Beaver, resigned.

The members of the committee of the whole, who met and transacted the business that came up before the board, were five in number, and consisted of Messrs. Nelson, Henderson, Glaucus, Humberger and Newman.

In order to relieve the overcrowding and pressure at the Summer, Ogilvie, Wasatch and Webster schools, and to afford greater opportunities to students attending the training school, the boundaries of the districts were changed last night so that pupils residing south of First South, east of Tenth East and north of an imaginary line drawn between Sixth and Seventh South streets shall attend the training school, all students residing on and east of Sixth East street and including Tenth East, between the middle of Second South street on the north and the middle line between Sixth and Seventh South streets, shall attend the Webster school; all pupils living north of the middle line between Fifth and Sixth East streets extending from State to Fourth East streets shall attend the Ogilvie school.

The following appointments, including that of Prof. Clark, as mentioned, were also made:

Eva Mayne of the Ogilvie school was appointed principal of the Ninth school in lieu of Mel Forsythe, gone to Alaska.

The resignation of Louise May Davis of the Grant school was accepted. Lillian Horne was appointed assistant teacher at the Fremont school and Lizzie Featherston was assigned to the Lake Breeze school.

Principal Eaton of the high school and Mrs. William C. Jennings were appointed a special committee to examine applicants for the positions of teachers of French and German in the High School.

It was directed that the schools be closed on Friday, October 5th, to allow the pupils an opportunity of attending the State fair.

Appropriations to the amount of $2,467.72 were made.

"Waste Not, Want Not."

Little leaks bring to want, and little impurities of the blood, if not attended to, bring a "Want" of health. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the one and only specific that will remove all blood humors and impurities, thereby putting you into a condition of perfect health.

IMPROVEMENTS IN OPERATION.

Geography of Tithing Office Block Being Changed.

AVENUES HAVE BEEN NAMED

Large and Up-to-Date Carriage House to be Erected—Transfer of Property.

The improvements in active operation upon the Tithing Office block are rapidly moving apace. The old walls, built by President Brigham Young, have been razed to the ground at the intersections of the two new avenues, and this morning the solid old wall that runs at right angles from the South Temple street entrance to the block topped over in a cloud of dust under the energetic picks of the men who were employed in engineering its removal.

With the sanction of President Snow these two new avenues, that will shortly be completed, will bear respectively the names of Temple and College avenues, the one facing the Temple taking the former, and the one leading from the Latter-day Saints' College to South Temple the latter name.

As soon as the avenues are properly graded work will be commenced upon putting a north front upon the big Tithing house, which is a handsome carriage house, furnished with all the modern and latest furnishings, including electric light, will be erected immediately opposite the stables and on the south side of the block under the personal direction of Bishop Preston.

With the completion of the College building the avenue and the removal of the numerous unsightly sheds that were erected in the old days, the block will assume a pleasing aspect to the eye, and in fact be a prominent place among the show spots of this city.

An arrangement with Mr. Thomas W. Jenkins, who owned a parcel of land adjacent to the Lion House and Tithing House, the authorities have exchanged a similar piece of ground, situated west of the lot in question, with Mr. Jenkins, who is now in the foreground of those who have played a leading part in the development of the Great Northwest.

The tour of inspection will occupy considerable time as it is proposed to make it a most exhaustive one, that will embrace the resources of the country that will become affected by the Canadian Northwest irrigation company, which is such a prime factor in the development of the vast tract of rich country in the Great Northwest.

During the visit of Presidents Cannon and Smith in Canada they will meet with the Canadian officials and the Canadians from eastern cities in the Dominion. Mr. Galt is known throughout the British colony as one of the most prominent and influential men in the Dominion and is regarded as being in the forefront of those who have played a leading part in the development of the Great Northwest.

BOUND FOR CANADA.

Presidents George Q. Cannon and Joseph F. Smith Leave Tomorrow.

Presidents George Q. Cannon and Joseph F. Smith will leave tomorrow evening for Alberta, Canada, where they will thoroughly look into the situation in the various colonies and settlements in that district of the Dominion.

The tour of inspection will occupy considerable time as it is proposed to make it a most exhaustive one, that will embrace the resources of the country that will become affected by the Canadian Northwest irrigation company, which is such a prime factor in the development of the vast tract of rich country in the Great Northwest.

SUGAR FAMINE RELIEVED.

Three Carloads Were Booked to Arrive Today from California.

Dealers One and All Blame the Southern Pacific for Existing State of Affairs.

"The public simply have to thank the Southern Pacific for the sugar famine which has existed here during the past week."

Such was the verdict as rendered by a prominent jobber in this city this morning, and his sentiments were echoed all along the line by a chorus of indignant merchants and wholesalers, who one and all had the same refrain to render in varying degrees of intensity. Continuing he said:

"There was no need for this state of affairs, the various houses forewent that, in all probability, there might be a shortage of sugar for a few days prior to the placing of the Utah product upon the market and accordingly laid their plans. Sugar was ordered from California, and today there are 1,000 bags on the road, but where they are at the present time goodness only knows. It is absolutely shameful consignments of sugar from San Francisco to Salt Lake are taking all the evening from twelve to fifteen days from the time they leave San Francisco until they arrive here."

In the meantime a review of the situation in this city reveals the fact that the majority of the grocers here will only sell sugar to their customers in small lots ranging from 25 cents to a dollar's worth. For the past two days the situation has been unpleasant to the dealers from the fact that the review of an impending famine having leaked out, every housewife has been doubly anxious to stock up against the day of sugarless tribulation, and orders have been coming in over the counters in alarming magnitude.

At the eleventh hour this morning a carload consigned to W. S. Henderson arrived in town—some of the dealers assert that it came down from Ogden on the passenger train over the Rio Grande Western, but when questioned, Mr. Henderson smiled and was non-committal.

As soon as its arrival became known, there arose a prolonged and urgent request on the part of grocers from the four cardinal points of the compass for a share in the relief car. Mr. Henderson came to the rescue of his contemporaries, and, in the words of a Main street merchant, "Whacked up with the boys, although," as he added as an afterthought, "I had an order in for a ton, but only received 50 pounds as my share."

When seen Mr. Henderson stated that he expected two more carloads of Californian sugar in tonight, and that to all intents and purposes, by Monday there would be ample sugar in town to meet requirements until the Lehi product appeared upon the market on the following day or Wednesday.

FREIGHT RATES IN BAD SHAPE.

Rumors Among Merchants That Discrimination is Shown.

RAILROAD MEN SAY "NO."

Situation Said to be Even Worse than in the Days of 1898 and 1899.

Rumors have been rife within the past week that freight rates were again demoralized, and that the cutting and slashing of something over a year ago was again in vogue. Only that the knives, which have been resting in their scabbards, were sharper than ever before. The large dealers and shippers are quiet about the matter, but there are not wanting protests from the smaller ones, who declare that in some instances a 50 per cent cut from tariff has been secured by some favored firms. It was set at the truth of this and from the first source of information that the "News" reporter determined to call upon the various general agents of competing lines. When seen one and all said that the tariff was being strictly maintained. Donald Ross's character, late Scotch district was heard coming out of the office of General Agent Choate of the Union Pacific, and a wait was made until he reached the street. He looked hand and smiling when the question was asked, and said that such a thing was quite improbable, and went on his way down to the Eagle block to the office of the Illinois Central.

Vol. Kooser of the Missouri-Pacific was seen coming out of an alley with Deacon Walker of the Chicago and North Western. They exchanged words, then the reporter asked the latter, who is a well-known and well-liked man, and he walked off down the street while the reporter touched the dawn on the arm and put the all-important question. Walker said that things were going on in the tariff line, but he said that in fact he had broken his knife and wouldn't cut.

Going over the street Dick Neslin of the Burlington was caught coming out of General Agent Choate's office by way of the back stairs, with a smile on his face and he smiled at one of the boys standing on the curb in a way that had a world of meaning. He said that of course tariff was being maintained. In fact, he had never made a rate in his life any way and didn't think he would begin now.

The reporter then went down to railroad row on the corner of West Temple and Second South streets. The first man encountered was Mr. Oglesby, the veteran general agent of the Great Rock Island route. He was found just as he came from across the street, a look of determination on his face. He said, "I don't know a thing about it. Go and see Babcock."

The reporter remembering a reception he had with the general traffic manager of the Rio Grande Western, was somewhat dubious about approaching the official, but as Mr. Babcock had said last year that the only way to prevent a general agent from cutting rates was to kill him, he ventured up stairs.

Mr. Babcock is it true that there is no cutting of rates being done in the freight rates to Salt Lake?

His answer was: "I do not know of any cutting. It is true, however, that we are maintaining tariff."

Going upstairs, Ben Nevins was found at the Santa Fe headquarters, seated with Charley Warren, they straightened up and looked at the reporter when he entered. Neither of them had ever dreamed of handling an ounce of freight at less than tariff.

Just as he came down stairs and turned the corner to Short Line headquarters, a general agent of the Midland was looking out of the corner of his eye as Col. Kooser went by from the Short Line offices with the dignified "Dick" of the Southern Pacific. He said that he had no objection to the question and declared there was nothing in it, and that the calm sea of the tariff was not troubled by even a wave.

Kooser was at last run to ground when he was whirled about in a conversation with Lombardy of the Chicago Great Western. "Of course, we don't cut rates. We have more freight than we have cars for," he said, and Lombardy went on his way.

The reporter had made the rounds and each one knew nothing of any rate cutting. It is truly in some other place that tariff is being cut, he said.

Strange as it may seem, however, half way up the street a group of merchants were talking and the burden of their refrain was that rates had become demoralized. In fact, that for the last two or three days the knives were out and that even in the palmy days of 1898 and 1899, there had been nothing like it known.

SALT SHIPMENTS.

Over Two Thousand Carloads Sent Out of Utah Each Year.

Among the heavy shippers from Salt Lake, the chief of all is the Inland Crystal Salt company, which pays more freight than any other concern, and that ship a commodity out of the State of Utah.

"Of all kinds of like salt shipped out of Utah up to August last, 1899, there has been 1,049 carloads of this the Inland Crystal Salt company has supplied the major portion, and the shipments still continues at the above rate, which will bring the yearly shipments up to 2,000 cars."

Of the huge load of salt, the greater portion is made up of block salt for stock, which is a combination of salt and sulphur, on which the company holds a patent, and which is becoming popular among the stockmen of the entire continent, to be used in ever-increasing quantities.

MAY BE HUNTINGTON.

Vice President Stubbs of the S. P. Thinks He Will be President.

A San Francisco dispatch today says: Third Vice President J. C. Stubbs of the Southern Pacific company has returned from New York. Mr. Stubbs is of the opinion that H. E. Huntington will be elected president of the company.

"Mr. Tweed has been made chairman of the board of directors," remarked Mr. Stubbs. "I take it to be the intention to have a president who will reside in the west, and who will have active management of the property, leaving Chairman Tweed in charge of financial and other affairs in the East. I see no reason why the directors should go outside the company for a president. I believe Mr. Huntington's intimate knowledge of the company's affairs and his ability."

COLORADO RAILROADS.

Preparations for Increased Passenger and Freight Traffic.

The Denver & Rio Grande is making extensive preparations for increased travel, and has ordered fourteen new coaches of the latest design, with all improvements.

Eight of these are handsome passenger coaches, and two of them, having arrived last night, are now out on the road in active service. The remaining six are ordered shortly and will then be six baggage and mail coaches.

These cars are made by Jackson & Sharpe of Wilmington, Del., one of the great manufacturing firms of this country. This increase in traffic is not confined to one line only, but is a general condition prevailing among all roads touching Colorado. Local representatives on many lines have been compelled to work after office hours for many months in order to transact the swollen volume of business. The increase is in both passenger and freight departments. Colorado cattle are being shipped to other States by the railroads, and there is a noticeable demand for them, both at the markets and feeding grounds. Chicago, Kansas City and Omaha are anxious for Colorado cattle, and many of them are going to points in Iowa, where they will fatten for the market.

In consequence there has been a lively demand for freight cars, as stated in the Post a week ago. Some of the lines have found themselves short on this kind of transportation, but special provisions are being made and matters will soon adjust themselves. Roads touching the fruit-raising districts have found it necessary to put on extra cars to supply the demand.

The Rio Grande Southern will probably run special trains from Grand Junction to Durango during the Colorado and New Mexico fair, which will be held on Oct. 9, 10, 11 and 12. Indian dances will form an interesting feature of the fair. Over $5,000 will be distributed in prizes during the four days, and a large attendance is expected. Exciting horse races, a baseball match for $200 between Zephyr and Silverton, two deadly rivals, and bicycle sports are other attractions.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Miss Helen Margaret Ring lectured the Congregational church last night her subject being "Famous Women of the French Revolution," which was delivered in a fascinating manner, holding the close interest of the audience from beginning to end. The lecture was preceded by musical selections, Mrs. L. C. Miller giving an organ solo, and Miss Sallie Fisher rendering "Still like you night," "Bohna," "Valka's Song," "Whisper" and "The Tower" (Novel).

Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Graham and sister, Miss Bertha Bishop, leave today for a brief visit to Portland and other western cities.

Mr. Victor Christopherson left Thursday morning for New York, where he will meet Prof. Stephens on his return home.

Mrs. Joseph Young and son Lee, who have been visiting with friends in Ogden have returned.

Mrs. J. M. Towry, son and daughter left today to spend the coming winter in Boston.

Yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock the funeral of Mrs. Arvilla Harrison took place at the residence of her brother, H. S. Young, the house and grounds being filled with those who desired to pay their last tribute of esteem and friendship for the deceased. The room in which the remains lay was lined with flowers and the casket was buried under banks of beautiful blossoms. The services opened with a prayer by Dr. Seymour B. Young, and James Sharp followed with a touching tribute to the deceased and words of sympathy for the bereaved relatives. A quartette composed of Mrs. Newman, Miss Burrows, and Messrs. Graham and Goddard, sang "Kind Light" and "Art Thou Worthy." Six members of the deceased acted as pall-bearers, the interment taking place in the city cemetery.

The Willards have moved to No. 155 south Temple street, where Miss L. L. Willard will give her exhibition of oil and crayon paintings after the 15th.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Myers gave an entertainment on Wednesday evening at their residence, No. 57 State street, in honor of Mrs. Myers' cousins, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Levi, of Rochester, N. Y., who had just returned from a tour of duty, prior to continuing their studies in the western coast. The evening passed pleasantly with cards and music, interspersed with refreshments.

The dinner room, after which John P. Meakin entertained the guests with recitations and extracts readings. Mr. Levi and his bride, formerly Miss Sterns, of Chicago, left on Thursday night en route for California, where they will be the guests of their many Salt Lake friends.

Mrs. Deal and Miss Clara Deal, who have been spending the past two months in the West, returned to their homes yesterday. Miss Deal has been absent for the past three years, spending the first two years in study at the musical conservatory in Philadelphia, and the last year in Europe and St. Louis. Miss Deal has many friends who will be pleased to greet her after her long absence.

DAILY ORGAN RECITALS.

In order that the general public and the numerous visitors in this city may take the advantage of enjoying a daily musical program in the Tabernacle, it is announced that on every Sunday morning, commencing at 10 o'clock, Prof. Daynes will give a free organ recital in that building during this month. After October 1st Prof. McClellan, who was recently appointed organist of the Tabernacle, will continue the "Church" will continue to entertain all those who may desire to take advantage of the opportunity of listening to classical music as rendered on the big organ.

A LA "MILLENNIUM."

A New England Minister's Comparison. A peculiar remark made by a minister at a New England dinner, caused some comment. He was being served the first time with Grape-Nuts food. He looked up and said, "It was, and being told, said, 'They might as well name it Millennium.'"

The hostess, a lady on the editorial staff of the Boston Woman, further remarks: "Since the first time I ate Grape-Nuts, I have had no more of those nervous, dizzy, vertigo came on and my nerves and temper were in anything but a normal condition."

"I finally had three successive night attacks and I really thought the end had come. I would throw up my hands and the lunch of Scotch porridge eaten the noon previous, unchanged, except that it had turned intensely bitter. Several hundred people have for eight or ten hours and the after-exhaustion was all but deathly."

"I could see plainly that utter breakdown was ahead of me. Just at this time I found the Grape-Nuts and I found the cure. My gastric troubles were relieved, and my sleep sweet again. Aside from the powerful nutritive value of Grape-Nuts food, do you know that it will impart its delicious, nutritive flavor to almost any dish that it is added to? For instance a spoonful or two stirred into a bread pudding before baking gives it a marvelous flavor, far superior to spices, and a little cooked in custard for lunch or supper, not only adds special relish, but special sustenance." Mrs. L. S. Goodwin.
