THE STREAMERED CHAPEAU.

One of the strong features of the new spring milliner is the prominence of streamers and ties. These may be of velvet ribbon from 2 to 3 inches in width, as is more often the case, or wide, soft silk ribbon, looped and draped over the hair at the back and side, and ending in long streamers, which depend several inches below the waistline or drape gracefully over the shoulders as the picture illustrates. This hat is of buff-colored Jap straw trimmed with black velvet ribbons and a yellow and black ostrich plume becomingly disposed.

SPRING AND EASTER OPENING

Commences Monday Morning, March 18

THE LADIES of Salt Lake City are cordially invited to be present at the Z. C. M. I. Spring and Easter Opening, which commences Monday morning. The heavy winter days are rapidly waning into oblivion. The beautiful and invigorating sunshine—with its life-giving breath—encourages nature to cry aloud, "Off with the old, on with the new." Hence it is appropriate to remind you of Spring and Easter Clothing necessities.

The Spring Suits, Coats and Waists you will see displayed are arrayed in all the splendor that newest styles and latest fabrics can give them. We are showing the popular Eton Suit, the jaunty Tailored Jacket Suit, all stylish models, and a decidedly smart and becoming line of Suits. The new Spring Waists, beautiful sheer materials, handsomely trimmed, are exceptionally pretty. Again we extend to you an invitation to view the cleverest ideas in the most attractive and becoming styles we have ever shown.

A SIMPLE JUMPER FROCK.

A modish street costume is this one-piece jumper frock in brown and white checked surah silk, accompanied by a delicate net guimpe frilly with lace ruffles. Bias pieces of the silk are used to model the girly empiement shaped in circular yoke style over featherbones and piped with plain brown silk. The folds trimming the skirt are also piped with brown, as are the bias bands outlining the V-shaped yoke and defining the wide sleeve openings in artistic fashion.
