terest in education. The very idea of 'Mormonism' is education. The Prophet Joseph Smith, at the outset of career, declared that the glory of 1 is intelligence; that a man is God saved no faster than he gets knowledge; that whatever principles of intel-ligence we attain to in this life, they will rise with us in the resurrection; and that if men by their diligence and fathfulness here acquire more knowledge than other men, they will have that much the advantage in the world to come. If we do not get knowledge, said the Prophet, we will brought into subjection by evil powers in the other world, who will possess more intelligence than we do. And yet the man who uttered these sentiments is supposed by many even to this day to have been opposed to education. Josoph Smith founded schools in the early days of the Church, when its headquarters were at Kirtland, Ohlo, and setting the example, went to these schools as a student—for he was an unlearned man—went with all the humility of a child to receive instruction. The Apostles whom he had chosen also attended these schools. Upon this stand today sits a venerable Apostle, who was one of the stu-dents in the Hebrew school at Kirtand attracted thither by the fame and epute of that institution. Probably President Snow own his conversion to Mormonism in part to the fact that Jo-seph Smith established such schools. At Nauvoo one of the first projects of the leaders of the Church was to rganize a university, and had there been time for its development prior to he exodus of the Saints into the the wilderness, it would have become just such an institution as this, wherein are taught principles of intelligence pertaining to this life and to the life to "For precisely the same reason that we are taught to seek after intelligence for the future life, should we seek after intelligence for the present life-that we may have the advantage over evil, in whatever form it appears. Moreover God does not intend that his people shall be hewers of wood and drawers of water for the Gentiles. The youth of Israel must prepare themselves for that time foretold by the prophets when Zion shall arise and shine, the joy of the whole earth, when the Gentiles shall come to her light and kings to the brightness of her rising. "Following the example of Joseph Smith, Brigham Young was also a staunch friend of education. The Brig. nam Young Academy at Provo, the Brigham Young College at Logan, and the Brigham Young University that would have crowned yonder hill had he lived a little while longer, all speak for him in this connection. What other people, driven a thousand miles from confines of civilization, in the midst of a desert, surrounded by savages and beasts, battling with crickets witd rasshoppers and drouth, warred against by the unpropitious elements, would have founded schools as quickly as did the Latter-day Saints? And do not work for self; work for God and glorify Him in arate compartments, with combination locks, at low rates; also Merchandise, Cases and Miscellaneous Goods, weight all that you say and do. A friend of mine had a dream, or vision, in which President Brigham Young appeared to him and said: "Live your religion, for to it is what you do for God that counts when you come where I am." Nothing could be truer than this. The man who fails is the man who works for self; the man who succe is the one who works for God. When men are jealous of each other and seek to pull each other down, unwilling that any one should be great but themyou may set it down as a fact that they are working for themselves There is no room for jealousy, for hatred, for strife-there is no room for anything but love, kindness and benevolence in a heart wholly given up to the service of God. Seek first His kingdom and His righteousness and all else shall be added unto you. And in all your teachings teach the truth, for truth will endure. It is the truth thing, whether in religion, science, philosophy, music, painting, poetry, or any other art, that causes it to live. Nothing false can endure. Truth alone lodge.

The commencement exercises of the Collegiate institute were held at the First Presbyterian church last evening. The interior of the church was decorated in beautiful style with palms, evergreen and cut flowers. Those who rediplomas of graduation were Miss Mary Edna Hamill, Wells, Nev. Albert Clemenson Blohm, Palestine Ore, Robert Amos Graham, Salt Lake Caleb Creed McClain, Smithfield, Utah;

George Alvin Sperry, Nephi. Thère was an arch of evergreens over the front of the rostrum and underneath it were the class colors fashioned nto the letters: "Class of 1901." into the letters:

The exercises were all very pleasing, and were opened with a song, "Song of the Vikings," by the pupils of the school. The invocation was offered by Parsons of Mantl, after which the following program was ch the following program was ren-ed: "Andrew Carnegie, the Philan-opist," Albert Blohm: "Monarchy in Nineteenth Century," George Sper-"Queen Victoria," Miss Mary Ham-chorus, "O Hush Thee, My Eaby," s' chorus: "Benjamin Harrison," sert Graham; "The Rise of Russia," ered) McClain; "America as a World," Theodore Hauerbach.

The effort of young Hauerbach was cially meritorious. Miss Florence Underwood sang two seautiful solos, and the diplomas wer then presented by Professor Caskey. The pupils sang, "The Old Guard," and the benedletion was pronounced by Rev. Dr. McNiece. Whooping Congh.

My little son had an attack of whooping cough and was threatened with pneumonia; but for Chamberlain's alkaline soll, schools were taught in the old fort on what is now Pioneer Square, Julian Moses was the first male eacher, and Mrs. Mary Hammond the first female teacher in the pioneer col-ony. They taught in tents and wagon poxes, with parts of logs for chairs. These were the beginnings of education in Utah. Seven months after the arrival of the pioneers the University of Deseret, now University of Utah, was established. Within a stone's throw of this building an early school was taught by my own father, Horace K. Whitney one of the pioneers; a school estab

ished by my grandfather, Heber C Kimball another of the pioneers, and this was but one of several schools ounded upon the same block by the self-same man, of whom it was recent said in derision, "What in h-- did Heber C. Kimball ever do for educa-tion?" He was but one of many leaders who did likewise, wherever the settlements of the Saints were located. hood, will confront it and put it down. It will then be known that the much maligned Mormons are not and never have been the foes of education. "There is an education that we dis-

WIND BREAKS THE RECORD.

Attains a Velocity of Seventy Miles an Hour-Some Damage Done.

The wind storm that visited Salt Lake last night seemed to have only one object in view. That was to break all previous records for velocity in this city. It took it about ten minutes to accomplish that feat and then it went on its way contented leaving everything qulet in the city, but considerably disarranged. About 7:30 a gust of wind came up a little stronger that usual and the atmosphere was filled with dust and paper and most everything else that was loose. Some of the pedes trians were not prepared for the impromptu young cyclone and their hats joined company with the swirling re-fuse and dirt in the gutter.

The wind after a few moments died down, but it had only backed up to get a better start. It seemed to have got it all right, for the next time it came it looked for a few moments like is was going to take everything before it. The storm only lasted about ten minutes, but it used that time to show what it could do. For five minutes it maintained a velocity of sixty-four miles an hour, and one mile was blown at the rate of seventy miles an hour. This beats all previous records. On April 6, 1893, and again on February 6, 1900, the wind attained a velocity of sixty miles an hour.

Most of the damage that was done oc curred at Agricultural Park, where several of the stables were blown over and one horse was slightly injured. The path of the storm through the city was marked by broken limbs of trees and in some instances the trees them. selves were uprooted.
