BROTHER J. H. NELSON is expected to arrive this morning from Ogden, to serve a term in the Penitentiary, because he refused to renounce a principle of his religion.

This base metal output from this city for the week ending to-day was: 14 car loads bullion, 35,955 lbs.; 18 car loads of ore, 579,800 lbs.; 1 car load copper ore, 25,000 lbs.; total 945,755 lbs.

The funeral of Lovisa Miller, whose death was announced in these columns, will take place from the Tenth Ward meeting house, at 11 a. m. to-morrow (Sunday). All friends of the family are respectfully invited to be present.

LOCAL NEWS.

Stolen Harness.—On Thursday night a set of harness was stolen from the stable of Nathan Young, in the Eighth Ward. Last night the thief was arrested, and on his being arraigned in the Police Court this morning he gave the name of "John Doe." Mr. Young refused to prosecute the offender, who was discharged, on payment of costs, $5.00. It is said that the culprit, who is still young, has been successfully engaged as newsboy, bookbinder, and postoffice messenger, and it was his constant habit to steal youth, and the hope of reforming him, that the charge was withdrawn.

Woolen Mills.—The articles of incorporation of the Deseret Woolen Mills were filed with the Secretary of the Territory yesterday. Wm. Jennings is named as the owner of 500 shares of the stock; Frank W. Jennings, president and manager, 145 shares; Joseph A. Jennings, vice-president, 1 share; James E. Jennings, secretary and treasurer, 1 share; Isaac Priscilla P., and Margie K. Jennings, 1 share each; the total of 105 shares of $100 each amounting to a capital stock of $10,500. The principal office of the company is in this city, the mills being located near the mouth of Parley's Canon.

Fire.—At 15 minutes before 11 o'clock this morning the bell at the City Hall sounded the alarm, the place indicated being the residence of Mr. J. R. Glass, on Second South Street. The fire was discovered by inmates of the house, the rooms being filled with smoke, which was also issuing through the windows. Mr. J. R. Glass, and his wife, Mrs. C. S. Burton, were driving past when they heard the scream of "Fire!" and immediately rendered assistance which proved most valuable. Water was dashed on the flames, and a hole cut through the ceiling to reach the interior of the roof was made. About a dozen hand grenades were brought from the County Court House and thrown in, effecting the extinction of the flames. The firemen then turned the water on, and in a short time the fire was extinguished.

The chief damage done, is, of course, to the furniture. Much of this, as well as the ceilings, was unavoidably soaked with water, and some of it burned. The entire loss will amount to about $250 or $300, but the condition of the house causes very great inconvenience to the family, especially at this cold season. The cause of the fire was a defective stove, or rather a "false chimney," the stove-pipe not going through to the chimney proper.

The Chicken Thieves.—Yesterday afternoon, after a patient trial of the six boys who were charged with chicken-stealing in the Police Court, they were adjudged guilty, and sentence deferred until this morning. The boys being detained in the Marshal's custody. This morning they were brought into court, and severely reprimanded by Judge Speltz for their crime. The Judge also gave them and their parents some wholesome advice. Sentence was suspended on payment of costs, $4.00. In the absence of a reform school or similar institution, the course of Judge Speltz was the only one which could be consistently pursued. It would have been unwise to have thrown those children into jail, among old and hardened criminals, to make them worse than they are. Yet some of them do not receive the benefit that is due to be derived from the leniency shown, and will probably continue in their waywardness unless something is done to check them. Now that the Legislature is in session, this matter should receive attention, and if provision is not made by the Territory for cases like this, municipal corporations should at least be empowered to effectively deal with the question, and make such regulations as will tend to reclaim children of this class, while their numbers in the community are yet few.

Catch County Items.—Our correspondent "R." writing from Logan, sends us the following items:

"This is the most open winter for many years in Cache." "Logan is soon to have the electric light; the poles are set, and the system is being adopted, and the machinery is being put up by Lundberg & Garb, in the city."

"The B. Y. College is in a flourishing condition, and is a great blessing to the youth of this county. The able management of Brother J. H. Stewart, assisted by Brothers Appleby and Stuart, is doing a noble work, as the instructions are practical and comprehensive. The theological classes are of exceptional quality, and the pupils are well equipped for the ministry. They have enrolled about 170 pupils. The next term will begin about March 1st."

"The Knights of Labor made quite a showing here to-day in attending a funeral. I was astonished to see some of the 'old hands' of the order, who have been in the ranks of the 'Gospel' as it has been termed in the papers and spirit and genius thereof. These secret combinations, as they are in direct opposition to the revelations of God."

THE TANNERY.

A PROSPEROUS HOME INDUSTRY.

For a number of years the tannery business was entirely neglected in this district of country, nearly all the hides being shipped to eastern markets, and purchased again at a considerable advance, after having been worked up by outside manufacturers. The lack of wisdom in such a course, when, at the same time, workmen are to be had, was plain as daylight, but for a considerable period no one seemed to take the initiative towards bringing about a change. Finally, about eight years ago, the late President Bishop, Edward Hunter, decided to make an effort to revitalize this important branch of home industry, and with this purpose in view erected a suitable building for a small tannery on Fourth North Street, between First and Second West, in the Eleventh Ward. Brother Robert Morris, of the Eleventh Ward, had been doing a small business on his own account at home, and when Bishop Hunter proposed a partnership in the new premises, he accepted the offer, and began work as the present location. At first but two hands were employed, these being able to supply the demand of the market. At the end of the first year the partnership was dissolved, Brother Morris continuing the business for five years, and gradually increasing it. In November, 1883, another partnership was formed under the firm name of J. W. Sumnerhays & Co., Brother Morris being a partner. In the present year the business has increased to such an extent that the firm have a large trade in wool, hides, pelts, etc., their warehouse being on Third West Street, just south of the Utah Central depot. During 1885 over a million pounds of wool was shipped by them.

At the tannery on Fourth North Street, where by the way fourteen hands are now employed, sheep skins exclusively are handled. Here the wool is pulled from the skins, and the skins are then prepared for market. The skins are then subjected to the different workings in the cleaning and tanning process, and a sufficient quantity to supply the home market in boot toppings, linings for shoes, and for various other uses, is suitably finished and dried, the remainder being shipped in rough to Boston, where a ready sale is found. In the tannery also are cured, and colored to suit the fancy, the "hides" which are sold in this city during recent years.

One feature connected with the business should not exist in this community—a scarcity of materials—and the fact is, the supply is not promptly remedied by those engaged in sheep-raising. It is a well known fact that hundreds of thousands of sheepskins are shipped out of the Territory annually, and sometimes at ruinously low prices to the westward. During the past season large quantities of sheepskins have been sold to the outside market at a figure from 50 to 75 per cent. less than that being paid here, evidently through want of thought, or not being able to get the demand. That such a practice is unwise will admit of no argument, and it is equally true that the home industry should receive the first consideration at the hands of the people, and should never be cramped for lack of stock to work up, at least, when there is such an abundance in the Territory for which a good price will be paid.

Quite a number of additions have been made to the tannery, and the amount of machinery considerably increased during the past seven years, so that much of the work formerly done by hand is performed by machines. Since its inception the institution has steadily paid its way. Of course, as in the case with all new industries struggling for a foothold, no immense profits over running expenses have accrued, but we are pleased to record that each year has been marked by at least a small gain. The business is now established on a firm basis, and in a fair way to attain the prosperity desired.

An Inspector Wanted.—A very large proportion of the fires which have occurred in this city have originated from defective chimneys. So general has this rule been that it has become a byword in speaking of how a fire was started, "Oh, the old chimney; a bad chimney." The fire at the residence of Mr. Glass, this morning, was but another case in point. The building was owned by Mr. H. H. Burton, and was built for Mr. H. H. Burton. On the second floor, a stove pipe was inserted in the wall, presumably into the flue. The space alongside of the chimney had been utilized as a closet, and had been widened a little, leaving a space between the lath and plaster partition wall and the chimney of about eight or nine inches. The stovepipe, instead of reaching to the roof, had simply entered this space, where the smoke was emitted to find its way through the flue; and right here was where the fire was communicated. The inmates of the house, of course, had not the slightest idea of the danger that had existed, and it was most fortunate for them that it was day-time instead of night when the fire broke out. But no credit for that is due to the builder of the fire-trap; so far as the city is concerned, the fire was a warning, and life was in constant peril from a manner in which he had erected this part of the building.

This instance, as well as others which have occurred, affords the strongest reason for the appointment of an inspector of buildings in this city. No one to make a cursory examination of a house, but a competent person, paid for services rendered. There are now too many fire traps in this city, and they should not only be abolished, but the places of such places for dwellings should be made a misdemeanor, and the best possible protection from fire be afforded by removing the chief sources of danger.

Paranormal Exhibition.—A panoramic exhibition of the "High Order, embracing a wide variety of views, and illustrating scenes in various parts of the world—in fact, representing a tour around the world—with local illustrations, will be given in the 16th Ward, at the residence of Mr. L. Rogers, late of Brooklyn, N. Y., on Monday evening next. Brother Rogers has been an extensive traveler, and is well qualified to interest an audience with a descriptive lecture. Part of the proceeds of the exhibition will be devoted to the benefit of the Sunday School of the 16th Ward. Tickets may be purchased at the 16th Ward Store and at Savage's Art Gallery, for adults 25 cts., for children 10 cts. The doors will be open at 7 p. m., and the exhibition will commence at 7:30.

Tax-third term of the Fourteenth District School, with C. E. Wilcox as principal, will commence on Monday, Jan. 19th, at the evening of the same day, a class in book-keeping will be organized.

SENTENCES AT OGDEN.

APOSTLE LORONZO SNOW GIVEN THE FULL PENALTY OF ALL THREE IN DUTHERITA.

NELSON THE BARK ON ONE INDICTMENT.

JAMES TAYLOR "CRAWFISHES," AND IS LET OFF WITH FINE AND COSTS.

To-day being the date set by Associate Justice Powers for passing sentence on the parties recently convicted in the First District Court at Ogden for "cohabitation" with their wives (according to the late construction placed upon that word) they accordingly appeared, before him this morning.

James H. Nelson was the first of the convicted brethren called, and on his stating to the Court that he was not prepared to make promises as to his future conduct and giving his reasons briefly why sentence should not be passed upon him, was sentenced to the full penalty which the law allows—imprisonment for six months in the penitentiary and required to "pay a fine of $300 and costs of suit, and to stand committed until fine and costs be paid."

Brother Nelson's case was then called, and his motion for a new trial was overruled. He was then asked to state his reasons, if he had any, why sentence should not be passed upon him, and he proceeded to read a lengthy written statement, which will publish in full hereafter. He was also asked by the Court if he had any promises to make as to the future, and on his refusing to promise, was sentenced to the same penalty as each of the three indictments against him, that already recorded against Brother Nelson.

Mr. Snow's motion for an appeal to the Supreme Court of the Territory was granted, and a period of ten days allowed him in which to prepare and file a bill of exceptions, pending which he was admitted to bail in the sum of $5,000 on each indictment.

James Taylor's case followed, and his motion for a new trial having been overruled, his attorney, Mr. J. M. Kimball, proceeded to request the Court stating that Mr. Taylor and strictly conformed to the Edmunds law during the past year, and that he intended to do so for the future.

The Court then asked Mr. Taylor if the statement made by his attorney, by Mr. Taylor, and by the Court, was correct, and Mr. Taylor replied: "Mr. Kimball has expressed my intentions."

Judge Powers, who was doubtless immensely tickled at finding one man among the Latter-day Saints whose fear of punishment was not the result of his devotion to his religion or his respect for the sacred covenants which he had made with his wives, and his God, then proceeded to express his gratification at the course pursued by Mr. Taylor, and imposed upon him a fine of $200 and required him to pay the expenses of this suit.

The contrast between the attitude of the last mentioned and the two brethren who preceded him could scarcely be greater, and no comment is necessary on the one and the ability of the others is necessary.

The West Jordan Outrages.—Some of those engaged in the raid on West Jordan a few days ago, are endeavoring to crawl out of the responsibility for their brutal conduct on that occasion, and through their vicious organ deny the whole thing, and proceed to give their side of the affair. It is denied that "Frank" was at the house of Mr. Goff, on the east side of the river, and saw him, and that "Frank" Vandercook and Mix were called there. The only effect of this is to shift the blame of the shameless conduct from one deputy to another, even if parties who saw them, happened to get the deputies' names confounded. The facts remain substantially the same.

The next denial made is that "in regard to what occurred at the store on the west side of the river, the deputies are made to say to the young lady clerk, whom they allege to be 'Mrs. Goff No. 5,' that 'Goff kept there sometimes.' It is alleged that the truth is, they did just what the News claimed they did, and as the young lady insists, and the effort to squirm out of it is so transparent, that no fair-minded person can fail to see through it.

The statement is made in the attempted denial, or rather evasion of the truth, that "they then went to the store across the river;" that is, those who called at the first house. A little farther on those at the store are named as Vandercook and Frank, Mix being then at Emanuel Richards', some distance away. And yet Frank was not there!

The organ of the deputies next asserts that when Dennis' house was visited Mr. Dennis was "roughly reduced to the officers permission to enter, placing his hands on either casing of the door." It then goes on to say that Frank, bending his head, passed under Dennis' arm and passed pleasantly, "You see I am in your house," and that a man standing in his own door, and "roughly refusing permission" to any one to enter, permitting room for a grandiose deputy machine to hob under his nose, and "suddenly" is too preposterous for consideration. Such a thing is not only unreasonable, but impossible in a door of ordinary size, such as that in Mr. Dennis' house. If, as is said, the house under the conditions of the raid, he could not have done it otherwise than by roughly pushing past Mr. Dennis, just as we stated.

The next last fact sought to be cropped out of it is in regard to the sneering language used by Mr. H. H. Burton, Frank says he believes Mrs. Batesman to be a lady, we know she is, and therefore accept her account of the affair in preference to his. He says there was not a word passed that was not "entirely respectful." She states that when he failed to find all the witnesses he wanted, with a sinister smile overspreading his countenance, he asked her to bring over her eight-year old daughter to "testify," and that the "police" fees would be paid her, and made other similar remarks, which no lady could accept otherwise than as an insulting insinuation that the party witness fees were sufficient consideration for the request made. In regard to the whole transaction, we will say that our information was obtained from responsible parties connected with the affair. The facts, as stated by us, when compared with the pretended denial for the "Gospel," still remains undisputed, and we believe, indisputable. There can be no possible doubt that the outrages committed were even worse than published. Whether it was Frank or one of his fellow deputies who only needed an ax for a search warrant, cuts no figure in the case. The occurrence is the same. It is possible that the names of the deputies may have been misapprehended, but in view of the fact that the "deeds" presented on the face so many evidences of falsehood, it cannot be relied upon even in this particular.

Mr. E. GORHAM will make his first appearance in opera in this city as pirate king, in the "Pirates of Penzance," with the Careless Opera Company, at the Theatre, on February 22nd.
