

STRANGE CASE OF PENSION FRAUD

James Cunningham, 1 Plaintiff
G. A. R. Man, Offered to Plead Guilty.

YET FOUGHT FOR THE UNION.

Too Young to Enlist, Followed 100th
New York to Front and Saw Actual Service.

New York, May 6.—One of the strangest cases of pension frauds on record was revealed in the federal court, when James Cunningham, for years a prominent Grand Army man, offered to plead guilty to the charge of wrongfully accepting money from the government as a civil war veteran.

The odd feature was that Cunningham, who is well to do, sought a small pension out of pride and not because he wanted the money. Proud of his reputation as a Grand Army man, his theory was that with a pension he would gain certain recognition as one who had fought for the Union.

According to statements by the attorney, Cunningham was 17 years old when the civil war started. He was unable to enlist, but was so eager to get into the fighting that he followed the One Hundred and Sixty regiment, while not regularly enrolled, he actually fought with the regiment and also saw some service as a follower of other commands.

Returning home at the end of the war, Cunningham told of his war experiences in battle. In time he became a Grand Army man and year after year on Memorial day, marched with the veterans in Brooklyn. Several years ago he was elected commander of Devin post.

LEGAL STANDING OF COLD STORAGE EGGS

Los Angeles, Cal., May 6.—A suit is now being prepared in this city to determine the exact legal standing of a cold storage egg. It is to be a test case and doubtless will go to the state supreme court.

Dealers in produce say the new pure food law requires that cold storage poultry and eggs must be labeled and labeled before being offered for sale, but the law does not designate what a cold storage egg is. Inspectors threaten to arrest dealers who place fresh ranch eggs in refrigerators over night and then offer them for sale as fresh eggs. Dealers say the law makes no distinction between an egg that has been in storage a month, but declare that the consumer can distinguish the difference in a minute.

RESPONSIBILITY FOR MES- SAGES IN SUIT FOR DAMAGES

New York, May 6.—The right of a telephone company to transmit messages which might reflect on the character of a person is to be tested in a damage suit, which has been brought by Mrs. Mary Blair Brokaw, wife of W. Gould Brokaw, against the Western Union Telegraph company. The suit for divorce instituted by Mrs. Brokaw some time ago contains sensational allegations concerning the young millionaire's treatment of her both in private and in public. She now alleges that her husband sent many messages not only to her, but to her relatives and friends derogatory to her character.

When the telephone company was informed of the suit it dug up from the files several hundred messages which had been sent by Mr. Brokaw. These telegrams, Mrs. Brokaw contends, constitute libels on her, not only because of their contents but because the company accepted them and transmitting their contents through its agents disseminated the libel.

The telephone company declared that it was not worried by the suit, as no one as yet had been able to recover on similar allegations.

These were made up by the chiefs of the various bureaus of the war department, and are divided into four classes, the civil establishment, the army proper, public works and miscellaneous.

The totals are approved in each case, but in a number of instances certain details are held up pending the personal consideration of Secretary Dickinson, who is expected to return about May 22.

SMUGGLERS PLOT TO OUTWIT OFFICIALS

San Francisco, May 6.—Details of a plot to outwit the federal officials of this port and to evade the heavy duties which have been levied on opium into this country have come to the knowledge of the local surveyor. As the result more elaborate precautions have been taken against smuggling than have been used here in years. Under cover of the general impression that there would be no attempts made to smuggle opium into this country as long as the present bountiful supply of the drug held out, a well-organized and generously financed ring, according to the customs officials, was formed with agents in San Francisco and the intent to conduct an illicit trade in the contraband. The first indication of the conspiracy to evade the new law was conveyed to Surveyor of the Port Edward F. Woodward by the regular opium dealers of San Francisco, who feared that the dumping of a mass of contraband would reduce their present enormous profits. A number of plain clothes men and special surveyors have been placed at work on the case, but how far their investigations have proceeded is not known at the present time. It is generally admitted, however, that the headquarters of the alleged ring is in China, with agents throughout the United States.

SIGNAL CORPS WILL TRY SOME EXPERIMENTS

Washington, May 6.—The aeronautical division of the signal corps, which will resume the aeronautical tests and experiments at Fort Meyer today, is contemplating a number of experiments in connection with the signal corps. Experiments in the use of balloons to place messages daily until autumn. Gen. James Allen, the chief signal officer, although he places more faith in the motor-balloon type of aircraft, is expected to have the officers detailed to aeronautical work make an exhaustive test of aerial motors for aeroplanes, provided these can be obtained without much cost to the division.

Congress failed to appropriate anything for aeronautical work by the signal corps and the plans for the tests are therefore indefinite. It is generally conceded that the Wright brothers will be able to fulfill the conditions of their contract with the government. They will receive $25,000 on compliance with the tests for their aeroplane.

The aeroplane which A. M. Herring has constructed for the signal corps probably will be the greatest interest in the Wright machine, the privilege of viewing it having been accorded to few people.

In order to familiarize themselves with air currents, the officers of the aeronautical division have planned a series of flights in the motor-balloon, army dirigible No. 1.

The first flight of this season is to be made today. A flight will be made from Fort Meyer across the Potomac river to the Capitol, to impress the members of Congress with the danger which would attend the attack of a foreign airship in time of war.

BAKERS' STRIKE RESULTS IN MURDER

Chicago, May 6.—A strike of bakers resulted in the murder here of Henry Teitbohm, who was employed as a bakery wagon driver. He was shot three times and fatally wounded while on his wagon.

A policeman, who had been riding with him to protect him from slugs, had left the wagon half an hour earlier.

Teitbohm was found lying unconscious in the street by detectives of the city and was taken to the county hospital, where he died.

Four members of bakers' union were arrested. One was identified as the wounded man as one of the assailants.

U. S. CONSULAR SERVICE.

Is a Great Big Government Machine To Sell Goods.

Chicago, May 6.—"A great big government machine to sell goods," is the way Mr. Allen C. Squires, president of the National Business League of America defines the United States consular service. Mr. Squires urges young men to take advantage of the opportunities this service is offering to men of intelligence, energy and ability.

"The great business openings today," he asserted, "are in the selling and distribution of manufactured goods. The big manufacturing plants are turning out more goods in six months than the country can consume in a year and a half."

"What is the result?" The manufacturers have got to find a market for their products, either by making people in this country use more goods or by finding a foreign market. The finding of new markets is the work of the consular service.

"President Roosevelt made a regulation that prospective appointees should pass an examination and are now working to have this regulation enacted into law. At present, however, 60 per cent of the men in the consular work are foreigners."

We need not discuss the reason for this here. It's enough to say there is one, and that Hood's Sarsaparilla gives strength and endurance, as thousands annually testify.
