EVENING NEWS.

"KILLIN" TATER-BUGS." TRIAL OF SKILL BETWEEN AN EDI-TOR AND A FARMER TO THE LATTER'S DISCOMPITURE. "Seems to me you don't have nothin' to do," said a farmer, walking into the sanetum of the editor the other day.

"Well, I have worked on a farm a good deal of my life, and I regard editing a so-called humorous paper as harder work than plowing corn," the editor replied.

"Oh, shucks!" exclaimed the farmer, "if I didn't have nothin' to do but sit around and write a little, and shear a a good deal, I tell ye I'd be havin' a mighty easy time."

"I'll tell you what I'll do," said the editor. "I'll plow corn a day for you if you'll write two columns to-day for me."

"Done" cried the farmer.

"Done," cried the farmer.

"Done," cried the farmer.

"And I'll bet you $10 you can't write two columns to-day."

"Done agin. An' I'll bet yer $10 more yer can't plow as much as yer orter."

s"I take you." the editor replied.

"What am I to write about?"

"Oh, anything, so it's funny. Remember, now, Mr. Farmer, you are to do the writing yourself. The matter must be strictly original."

"Never mind me, Mr. Editor. But look ye." You have got ter do a good job o' corn plowin'. Do it jest like I would."

"All right." "All right."

"All right."
The editor went to the farm and set a good hand whom he had hired on the way at work plowing corn. The farmer wrote a head-line which read: "Killin' Tater-Bugs," before the editor was out of hearing.

In the evening the editor came into farmer sat at the desk, vexed and worried into anger.
"How do you feel?" asked the edi-"Used up. Hardest day's work I ever done, an' two lines ter show fer Sure enough, he was but one line beyond the head-line. That line read "Killin' taterbugs is funny." "Then I've won the wager." "Yes; but I reckon I've won t'other "No, sir! I have won both. I have plowed several acres of corn, and done it well, and I've written my two columns, besides."

"Creation! How'd ye do it?"

"Just like you would. I hired a man to do the plowing and I sat in the shade; but I wrote while I sat there, and did not sleep as you do. Fork over and did not sleep as you do. Fork over the twenty."

The farmer paid $20 for his information, but the lesson was well learned, and as he went out he said: "Stranger I wouldn't be an editor if I could. It looks mighty easy, but, by Jerusalem, it ain't near so easy as settin' in the shade an' watchin' ther hands plowin' corn. I'm a fool, an' yer kin say so in yer next paper, if yer want to." And that is why we write it, adds the Through Mail.—

Andrew Johnson on the Stump.

sembling came the house was already thronged, and Andy Johnson was on then opened the meeting by saying:
'Gentlemen and fellow citizens,

'Gentlemen and fellow citizeus, it is meet that when free men assemble for the discussion of important business interests everything should be done decently and in order. Now, I have been informed that part of the proceedings on the present occasion is the assassination of the individual addressing you.'

'Here he grasped the pistol firmly with his right hand, threw open his coat with his left, and continued: 'I propose that this little matter be the first business taken up. If any man comes here to-night for that purpose let him not speak, but shoot."

'At this there was a pause and no one replied. 'Ah,' said Mr. Johnson, 'I see I have been misinformed. I will proceed with the meeting.'

'And there was not a ripple of dissent in the hall that night. Johnson was applauded at every period, and he had not an enemy present who dared to groan above his breath." — Cleveland Leader.

What to Teach Girls.

Give your daughters a thorough edu-cation. Teach them to cook and pre-pare the food of the household. Teach them to wash, to iron, to darn stockthem to wash, to iron, to darn stockings, to sew on buttons, to make their own dresses. Teach them to make bread, and that a good kitchen lessens the doctor's account. Teach them that he only lays up money whose expenses are less than his income, and that all grow poor who have to spend more than they receive. Teach them that a calico dress paid for fits better than a silken one unpaid for.

Teach them that a full, healthy face displays greater lustre than fifty consumptive beantles. Teach them to purchase and to see that the account corresponds with the purchase. Teach them good common sense, self-trust, self-help and industry. Teach them that an houset mechanic in his working-dress is a better object of esteem than a dozen haughty, finely dressed ing-dress is a better object of esteem than a dozen haughty, finely dressed idlers. Teach them gardening and the pleasures of nature. Teach them, if you can afford it, music, painting, etc., but consider them as secondary objects only. Teach them that a walk is more salutary than a ride in a carriage. Teach them to reject with disdain all appearances, and to use only "Yes" or "No" in good earnest.—From a Sermon by Mgr. Capel.

The Keely Motor. After the years during which the Keely mountain has labored, and raised high expectations of a phenomenal birth, the attendant accouchers have at last been able to treat the public to a view of the offspring. It is very small; very puny; and none but an enthusiastic and mystified reporter could say of it—as was said in the account telegraphed to a morning paper of yesterday—that "it was highly satisfactory."

The prodigy is a small cannon, connected with which by a wire is a reservoir containing the "mystic force." Into the gun a small leaden bullet is placed, aim is carefully taken at a target 500 feet distant—think of the enormous distance!—the reservoir is touched up, and the small bullet slowly leaves the gunand weakly falls 200 feet short of the target. Several trials were had, and in every case the projecting force of the secret motor was found to be only from a quarter to a third that of powder.

It has neither season, religion, common sense, nor experience to recommend it, while there are reasons, many and weighty, to justify its total abolition. It sours the temper of the children so that one thorough scolding prepares the way for two or three more. It sours your temper, provided it is sweet, which is questionable if you are prone to scold; and thus the more you scold, the more you will have to scold, because you have become crosser, and your children likewise.

Scolding allemates the hearts of your children. Depend upon it, they cannot love you as well after you have berated them, as they did before. You may approach them with firmness and decision, you may punish with severity adequate to the nature of their offences, and they will feel the justice of your conduct and love you notwithstanding all. But they hate scolding it stirs up the had blood, while it discloses your weakness and lowers you in their esteem. Especially at night, when they are about to netire, their hearts should be meited and moulded with voices of kindness that they may are to their slumbers with thousands of love stealing around their souls, and whispering peace. Should Parents Scold?

TORPID BOWELS DISORDERED LIVER

From these sources arise three-fourths of the diseases of the human race. These symptoms indicate their existence: Loss of Appetite, Bowels costive, Sick Headache, full ness after eating, aversion to exertion of body or mind, Eructation of feed, Izritability of temper, Low spirits, a feeling of having neglected some duty. Disainess, Fluttering at the Heart, Dots before the eyes, highly colored Urine, CONSTIPATION, and demand the use of a remedy that acts directly on the Liver. As a Liver medicine TUTT'S PILLS have no equal. Their action on the Kidneys and Skin is also prompt; removing all impurities through these three "seavengers of the system," producing appetite, sound dig ton, regular stools, a clear skin and a vigorous body. TUTT'S PILLS cause no name nor griping nor interfere with daily work, and are a perfect ANTIDOTE to MALARIA.
