General Manager of the Utah Construction Company Returns From New York.

CETTING OUTFITS ALL READY.

Confirms the Statement That Work Will Commence at This End of The Line.

(Special to the "News.") Ogden, Utah, Sept. 5.-W. H. Wattis, general manager for the Utah Conatruction company, returned yesterday afternoon from New York, very much pleased with the success he had schieved in securing for his company the immease contract for the construction of the greater portion of the Western Pacific line between Salt Lake City and California.

Mr. Wattis states that there were many bidders in New York, endeavoring to secure the work, many of whom remained until after the contract was awarded the Ogden corporation, and congratulated Mr. Wattis on his success.

The immensity of the contract has The immensity of the contract has not been exaggerated, states Mr. Wattis. There is no question but it is the largest contract ever awarded a construction company in this western country. Concerning the time when the work is to be commenced, Mr. Wattis stated that his company is taking the preparatory steps in getting their men and outfits ready to begin work just as quickly as the engineers decide where they are to commence making the dirt fly, and the making of the road bed will be pushed with every possible haste. be pushed with every possible haste. There is no question but the line will ommence at Salt Lake City and will be built around the south end of the Great Salt lake. That was the route mapped out on the plans prepared by the Western Facific company, on which Mr. Wattis figured his bid.

DOUBLE TRACK U. P. Seventy Miles to be Built Between Rawlins and Laramie.

General Manager A. L. Mohier of the Union Pacific was banqueted at Lara-mie last week. During his speech Mr. Mohier stated that the Union Pacific had decided upon the construction of 10 miles of double track between Laramie and Rawlins next year, and that while men occupying official positions while men occupying official positions should not make positive statements in the absence of certainty, he would say that the re-opening of the rolling mill at Laramie upon an enlarged scale was being considered by the company; that an official had investigated the project, made a favorable report, and that no stone would be left unturned by the management to bring about the desired management to bring about the desired

The Denver & Rio Grande passenger department has got out a series of pos-tal cards illustrative of the observation service through the canyon of the Ar-kansas river, or Royal Gorge. The en-

AMUSEMENTS.

The fall and winter season at the Grand opened last night. A house that packed the building from orchestra to garret was in attendance and sniffed with satisfaction the comfortable atmosphere that always follows a season of renovation and thorough house-cleaning. The place had been newly decorated and everything bore the appearance of sple-span newness, clean-liness and order. The ushers newly uniformed, moved with lightning celer-ity, and all the other appointments told of the installation of the new told of the installation of the new brooms that sweep clean.

The ententainment was pleasantly opened by the appearance of Manager Smutzer of the Denver Theater company, the new proprietors. In a few hearty words of greeting Mr. Smutzer bade the audience welcome, thanked it for the liberal outpouring, thanked the press for the welcome extended, and said that they would do their share not only to make the Grand a popular resort, but to see that all the newcomers it had brought to Sail Lake made good citizens sentiments which popular resort, but to see that all the newcomers it had brought to Sait Lake made good citizens—sentiments which were applauded by the audince.

The bill of the night, named for some unfathomable reason, "The New York Girl," went with a whirl of laughter, music, color, and dancing from heginnig to end. The skit is liberally copied from Weber & Field's conglomeration, the fun centering around two Dutch comedians, one Hebrew, and one or two singing girls. In the present instance the Hebrew comedian, Mr. Burkhardt, easily carried off the honors. He is a natural cornedian and his lines, his make-up, and his sliding feats all tickled his audience to a hearty degree. Of the two Dutchmen, the shorter one, Mr. Green, was by far the biggest in ability. Miss Howell, the New York Girl, did her work with sprightliness and was generally applauded throughout. The dancing of the chorus rather than its singing was a feature, but candor compels the statement that the chorus will never set the Jordan allre with its looks.

chorus will never set the Jordan ailre with its looks.

The same bill runs tonight, tomorrow night, and for a Wednesday matinee.

Prominent in the orchestra at the Grand last night was noticed the figure of Cal Carrington, who had been thought to be as much a fixture of the Salt Lake Theater as the walls in the foundation. Mr. Carrington, however, has been engaged for the Grand, and will oscilate between the piano and the calle all the sasson. cello all the season.
