den to love their neighbors as them-selves and to keep themselves unspotted from the sins of the world, and further that they should offer their oblations and sacraments on the Lord's day. "This chapter," said the speaker, "con-tains the ethics of Mormonism." He said that he was afraid that there was some carelessness among the Saints in keeping holy the Sabbath day. This is not a small commandment, and God's commandments were not given to be arbitrary, but to bless and benefit the child trary, but to bless and benefit the child-ren of men. The idea of making the Sabbath a holiday is one that should not be encouraged by the Latter-day Saints. In continental Europe, Sunday has been changed into a holiday. But England can be commended for her ob-servance of the Sabbath day The Lat-ter-day Saints cannot afford to make a holiday of Sunday, but they should make it a holy day. They should at-tend their meetings. The best way to commence Sunday is to go to Sunday school, it puts us in tune for the whole day. "We should not attend amuse-ments on that day, the lake or any ments on that day, the lake or any place where dancing or the like is indulged in. Nor do we want a Puri-tanical Sunday, we do not believe in long faces, for God wants His children bappy, but we should realize that Sunday is a day for worship and not for pleasure. We read of a man who vent out to gather sticks on the Sabbath day, and the camp of Israel was so shocked that it called upon the Lord to know what to do with the offender; and he was afterwards taken out and stoned to death. "It is preached by some that the This preached by some that the seventh day is the Lord's day and that it should be observed as such, and al-though the Bible seems to be plain on that subject, there are a few hints con-tained in the New Testament to indi-cate that Sunday or the first day was, observed by the Appendix of the Lord observed by the Apostles of the Lord as the Sabbath day." The speaker did not think that the commandment to ob-rerve the seventh day necessarily meant Saturday. He thought that it merely meant that in the circle of seven days one day should be descended to the one day should be observed as the Lord's day.

The speaker went on to explain how The speaker went on to explain how Inconvenient it would be for the vari-ous people in the world to observe the same day. But the Lord had set the thing at rest in the revelation that the speaker had read, which was given on Sunday, the 7th of August, 1831, in which the Lord says that this day the Saints were to observe as the Lord's day. People should not lay so much weight upon the observance of Saturweight upon the observance of Sa day as the Lord's day, for they do of Satur know that Saturday is the Biblical Sab-bath. After all, said, the speaker, it is not any particular 24 hours that we should observe, but we should keep one day holy. The speaker concluded by enjoining upon the people obedience not only in regard to the Sabbath day. but in all the commandments of God. STREET CAR ACCIDENT. Warm Spring Car Collides With Load of Typhoid Patients.

Three typhoid patients, a driver of the vehicle in which they were riding and a street car motorman had a big scare on the corner of Second North scare on the corner of second North and Second West at seven o'clock on Saturday evening. Beyond the smash-ing of the rear axle of the conveyance and the demolition of several panes of glass in the heavy duble-truck street car, no serious injury was done. Taken all in all what might have been a fatal accident was narrowly averted. While there are several versions in regard to the blame to be attached to the responsibe parties it is evident that had the driver of the vehicle stopped to allow the car to pass the accident would not have occurred. It is stated that Soott Bruce, the driver, despite the warning of the gong, drove immediate-ly in front of the car with the result that the rear end of his vehicle was struck and the conveyance and horses were piled up on the teack in picturesque disorder. But for the prompt action of James Davie, the motorman on the big Warm Springs car, in reversing the current, the affair might have terminated fatally. The excursion wagon, which is owned The excursion wagon, which is owned by Bruce, was just returning from the Oregon Short Line depot with three typhoid patients from Mercur, who were going to the Keogh-Hosmer hos-pital for treatment. How the patients, whose names were John Olson, William Brocklebank and Silas Carmen, got out of the wagon they cannot say, They walked to the hespital, however, corted by C. L.
