AMATEUR LEAGUE MAY BE FORMED

Fans Meet Thursday to Take Up Final Action of Proposal

FIVE TEAMS MAY ENTER.

Salt Lake, Ogden, Provo, Logan and Murray Will Probably Want to Try For State Championship.

It begins to look as if Utah is to have a real amateur baseball league after all. Just what fate a movement, under way for some time, is to meet will be known Thursday night for on that date fans from this and other cities will meet in the Commercial club to bring the matter to a head. From word being received from the live ones throughout Utah it is highly evident an amateur league consisting of teams from Salt Lake, Ogden, Logan, Murray and perhaps Provo may be organized. All these cities are anxious to come in and all have the necessary timber. They also have the requisite jingle stuff so necessary in all matters. Provo wants to get in the league if one is organized, and will hold a meeting tomorrow night for the purpose of finding out just what it can do. Upon the result of this meeting depends the representation at Thursday night's meeting in this city. It is not believed for an instant that Provo will not be on hand Thursday night with delegates instructed to say "yes" to anything that would help get a cracking good league started in this state.

Each town is to put up a thousand dollars which goes into a sinking fund. This is the first step and with $5,000 in a sinking fund before a game is played the league would start out in fine shape. The gate receipts of the league would go into this sinking fund from which money for expenses would be taken. In this way the whole league stands back of every town; the whole earnings are divided evenly so there would be no danger of the smaller towns going buey in the middle of the season. Small leagues are usually broken by small towns being unable to keep up their end, but under the arrangements planned for the Utah league this would be assured a long and successful career and with four or five enthusiastic towns represented by good teams the league's career would be considerable more than merely successful.

U. TRACK TEAM RETURNS HOME

What Coach Maddock Has To Say About the Boulder Fiasco.

DR. J. B. ACKEY RESPONSIBLE

Seems to Have Been Some Misunderstanding as to What Rules Would Govern the Meet.

Back from fields on which they met no enemy came the Utah University track squad yesterday. With a state meet scheduled for May 16 the bunch goes into hard practise. This will help to get a little soreness over the Colorado trip out of the men's systems. Coach Maddock has something to say about the fiasco. He blames one Dr. John B. Ackey for the failure of the two states to get together on the field. "The Colorado team and students were all right; they treated us well and did not appear to have frigid pedal extremities, but under the contract the meet was to have been held under Utah rules. These are different from the Colorado rules in this way; we let preparatory students in our squad, Colorado does not; we have a two-mile run, Colorado doesn't. We felt we could yield the two-mile point, thus giving Colorado the 8 points the race represented and still come out victorious.

ACKLEY ASKS QUESTIONS.

"Everything had been arranged when this Dr. John B. Ackley came on the field and wanted to know what Brinton was; who he was, why, when and all about him. We told the doctor Brinton was a "prep." A cry went up and the doctor became greatly agitated. There was nothing doing in the pacifying line so I told the boys to come off the field. We had had enough talk and back talk and uncalled for talk. We went to Colorado to eat them alive and had the team been permitted to contest that is what would have happened.

"You see there being no contest there were no receipts so our trip was paid for out of our own pockets. The boys wanted to get in and tackle Colorado even after Brinton, the two-mile run and numerous other events had been scratched. I simply would not let them. Colorado explained we had been told Brinton would not be permitted to participate. If such a letter was ever mailed it was lost.

LACKED TWO HOURS.

"Ackley conferred with Brinton about the subjects he was taking and the learned man, who seemed to be an unathletic member of the controlling board, was shown that Sam lacked just two hours of being eligible under their rules but Ackley seemed determined to show authority or exercise his trouble-breeding propensities. Why, they even tried to "Cuddy" Russell out by counting his first year preparatory work against his college record. They changed their tune when I asked them about their captain, Farnsworth.

"It was an ideal day for a meet; the crowd and enthusiasm were there and the boys for both states were impatient to get in and do things. It's too bad."

Prof. Byron Cummings is another University man who says no letter was ever received from Colorado about Brinton. It seems to have been a case of too many little men overloaded with authority.

Humphrey, who owns a large general store at Omega, O., and is president of the Adams County Telephone Co., as well as of the Home Telephone Co., of Pike County, O., says of Dr. King's New Discovery: "It saved my life once. BOARD CONSIDERS FREIGHT INCREASES

New York, May 12.—Committees of the Merchants' association and of the board of trade and transportation held meetings yesterday to consider the proposed freight rate increases in the trunk line territory, which, it is said, have practically been agreed upon, to go into effect Oct. 1. The management of the produce exchange also has under advisement the attitude which that association will assume toward the movement. In neither case, however, has any definite decision been reached.

The executive committee of the Merchants' association had before it the invitation to a joint conference on the matter, issued last week by the Illinois Manufacturers' association, and a special meeting of the board of managers has been called for tomorrow to consider the subject.

The committee on railroad transportation yesterday decided that the proposal to advance freight rates had not yet been placed in sufficiently tangible shape for formal consideration, and yet another meeting will be held on May 22, by which time the committee thought more specific information might be had as to what railroads propose in the way of freight rate increases.

While in neither case was a vote taken, it seems probable that the board of trade committee is opposed to any increase, while the executive committee of the Merchants' association is inclined to regard the question as an open one. It is known that some individual members of the associatio regard the proposed increases as reasonable.

Many business men, it is said, in well-informed quarters, are impressed with the claim of the railroads that the business of the country at large would be greatly improved by a moderate advance in freight rates, which would add materially to the purchasing power of the railroads and enable them to order freely all classes of supplies, which they are buying now only in hand to mouth fashion. The railroads, it is estimated, purchase at least half of the iron and steel output of the country and more than half of the rough lumber.

New York, May 12.—The school board has decided to establish two new varieties of schools in New York schools for incorrigible boys and schools for the deaf.
