

The national holiday dominated the chief attention of the week, and its colors were predominant in decoration in all social functions as well as in the special celebrations of the Fourth. Another special feature of the week has been the return of bridal couples from their respective tours, a number of the early June brides and grooms having arrived home. Social interest during the next two months will probably center in the summer resorts, a large number of well known people planning to leave next week for Wasatch, Brighton and other local canyon retreats.

A charming event of the week was the wedding of Miss Lyle Young and Dr. Claudius W. Gates, which took place on Tuesday night. The home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Young, was the scene of the pretty affair, and was beautifully decorated for the occasion, the front parlor, in which the ceremony was performed, being bright with white roses, carnations, sweet peas and hollyhocks, the latter being used effectively in a bow, arrow and heart above the window above, in which the bride and groom stood, and on the chandeliers. A network of snailx formed a curtain and canopy for the window, the vines being twined with white ribbon. In the dining room pink and green prevailed, the table having a centerpiece of sweet peas and carnations, with sprays of plumosa and ferns strewn about, and sideboard and mantel having vases of the flowers, while festoons of ferns on the curtains completed the pretty effect. The ceremony was performed by Dr. James E. Thimane, and Miss Frances Young was bridesmaid, Mr. Arthur Gates, the brother of the groom, acting as best man. The bride wore a dainty gown of white mull trimmed with beautiful point lace, the handwork of her mother, and carried a shower bouquet of white stock. The bridesmaid was gowned in pink organdie and carried sweet peas. Assisting in receiving were Mrs. Walter Nebeker, Mrs. Lynn Haymond, Mrs. Joseph T. Jenkins, Miss Lucile Badger and Misses Louise Peery and Mary Harrington of Ogden. Refreshments were served by Misses Vida Fox and Sibyl Watzel, and punch by Miss George Young and the Misses Margaret and Ella Harrington. Dr. and Mrs. Gates will be at home after August 15th, at 688 east Twelfth South street.

Mrs. Hubbard Reed entertained at a delightful piazza party yesterday afternoon, the amusement of the afternoon being cards. The decorations were in the national colors, the house being carried out in flowers and flags, the latter being used for counters, and placed about the rooms. A number of the tables were placed on the piazza, and the arrangement made a delightful innovation from the usual indoor parties. The guests were: Mrs. Amy, Mrs. W. Hogue, Mrs. T. B. Beattie, Mrs. J. Beattie, Mrs. Joseph, Mrs. Frank, Mrs. J. Johnson, Mrs. Lowe, Mrs. James Miner, Mrs. M. McClure, Mrs. D. S. Murray, Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. Powers, Mrs. Spencer, Mrs. Geo. Tuttle, Mrs. G. Y. Wallace, Mrs. Fisher, Mrs. Dorey, Mrs. Woodward, Mrs. Nell, Mrs. Harkness, Mrs. Hanauer, Mrs. Kenneth Kerr, Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. Younger, Mrs. G. P. Holman, Mrs. McCormick, Mrs. Geo. Nye, Mrs. Lyons, Mrs. H. V. Brown, Mrs. Oswald, Mrs. Chas. Read, Miss Crawford, Miss Park, Miss Lowe, Miss Murray, Misses Mason, Misses Sherman, Misses Geddes, Misses Harkness, Misses Hanauer, Misses Keogh, Miss Nye.

Mrs. A. S. Day was the hostess at a delightful reception on Tuesday in honor of her guests, Mrs. Geo. Crabbe and Mrs. M. C. Smith. The decorations throughout the house were in red, white and blue, sweet peas being used in profusion, and flags forming draperies between the rooms. In the dining room festoons of smilax stretched from the chandelier to the four corners of the table and were caught with candelabra shaded with red. Sweet peas and ferns were strewn over the table, and the electric globes which lit the darkened room were also shaded in red. Mrs. Chas. Quigley served punch and Mrs. Frank Harris, Miss Mary Siddoway and Miss Evelyn Thomas served refreshments. About sixty-five were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Sprague gave a delightful Fourth of July party to a number of their grown friends and their children. There was a seven o'clock dinner, and display of fireworks in the evening, the time being delightfully spent. A charming feature of the occasion was the decoration of the rooms being bright with flags and the lawn with colored lanterns. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Fisher and children; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Reid and daughter; Mr. Bidwell, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kerr and daughter; Mr. and Mrs. D. Sharp and children.

Another pretty wedding reception of Thursday was that of Miss Mary J. Walker and Mr. Paul W. W. which took place at the home of the groom, 878 west First South. The ceremony had been performed at noon at the home of the bride, Rev. Frank Burnett officiating, and Miss Ruthie and Mr. William Wisner acting respectively as bridesmaid and best man. The bride was tastefully gowned in white organdie with lace trimmings and carried bride's roses. The room was prettily decorated with flowers and vines and the lawn was lit with colored lanterns. Refreshments were served

READY FOR CONQUEST.

The summer girl can never be more charming than she is this season. She has discovered the value of black and white contrasts and uses them lavishly. For her dress hat she selects a large black straw of the finest kind. She, or rather the milliner, ties a black velvet ribbon around the crown and veils the brim with one or two phenomenonally rich and long black ostrich plumes. Her wrap consists of a huge, soft, fluffy boa with long knotted black velvet ties. Her gloves, her collar, and waistband are black velvet. Her gown is white silk mousseline tucked and skirted wherever possible. She has a number of dance gowns, but one, at least, also carries out as far as possible the black and white effect. This one of cream silk gauze with embroidered black dots is trimmed with a skirted flounce of the plain material and ruffles of the same edged with black lace. Irregular lace insertion forms a yoke to the low bodice and relief at intervals to the skirted flounce. Large floral sprays in natural colors are hand embroidered on the front of the skirt, thus giving a novel and chic effect. Of course, both these gowns are made up over white taffeta.

bons being used. The guests were: Mrs. D. S. Murray, Mrs. J. H. Johnson, Mrs. J. T. Harris, Mrs. Walter Tuttle, Miss Murray, Miss Ivers, Miss McMillan, Miss Bird, Miss Laura Bird, Miss Park.

BEAUTIFUL WASATCH.

The above cut shows a picture of the hotel at Wasatch, one of the most charming summer resorts in Utah. The building stands on the north bank of the stream, and is surrounded by shade trees, while a rustic bridge spans the water, which dashes picturesquely over great boulders, and leads to an idyllic grove on the opposite bank, where innumerable cottages stand under the branching shade. On either side lofty granite cliffs rear their white summits into the blue sky, their jagged sides touched here and there with the verdure of pine and cedar. Above and below the hotel the stream forms into innumerable deep pools, the abode of silver-breasted trout, and creates picturesque nooks—the dream of artists, and the delight of those who while away the summer days in the sylvan spot. Amidst the little colony of cottages nestling under the shade of the over-arching trees, tiny rivulets creep, and garden plots with brilliant-hued flowers give a paradisaical hint to the charming retreat. The place with its beauty, and pure, bracing air is well nigh idyllic, and figures among Salt Lake's most popular resorts.

OGDEN SOCIAL NEWS.

Ogden, Utah, July 6.—Alex. Nobley, of Baker City, Oregon, reached Ogden Thursday, June 27th, on his homeward journey from a two and a half years' mission in the Netherlands. He was met here by his mother, and they were the honored guests at the beautiful home of Hon. David Eccles.

On Friday evening the pretty home of J. W. F. Volker, who was the first president of the Netherlands mission, and still has a great interest in the same, was thrown open to the missionary companions and friends of Elder Nibley and his mother. At 9 o'clock in the evening the spacious parlors were well filled with the invited guests, and the meeting of Mr. Nibley and his companions can only be appreciated by those who have passed through the same experience. The evening was very pleasantly spent in relative missionary experiences, and in singing the favorite tunes and popular airs so dear to all Hollanders. Mrs. Edith Volker, the estimable hostess, prepared delicious refreshments which were enjoyed by all present. Those present were Alex. Nibley and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. F. Volker, Mrs. David Eccles, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Denkers, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. De Bley, Mr. and Mrs. G. J. S. Ables, Mr. and Mrs. A. Van Dam, Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Kammeyer, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard, Mrs. Gertie and Katie Meyers, Janie Melboe, Dina Schippers, Mrs. Meyers and Messrs. J. Melboe and John Drayer.

A farewell surprise party was given Monday evening, July 1st, at the home of A. L. Kohn, No. 614 Twenty-fourth street, in honor of his son, George, who with his parents, is soon to leave Ogden for Oakland to make their future home. The evening was spent in music, games and other pastimes, after which a delicious lunch was served in the dining room. Those present were Misses Emily Fowler, Annie Hancock, Edith Wetherpoon, Winnie Wetherpoon, Ellen Poulter and Cora Farr, Messrs. Arthur Westwood, Fred Burdett, Arthur Shreve, Will Poulter, Bert Poulter, and George Reader.

One of the leading social events of the week was the marriage of Miss Lillian Langsdorf to Mr. Fred Wheaton, Justice of the Peace Wardright officiating. The affair took place Monday afternoon at the office of the Justice, and was strictly private, not even the relatives of the contracting parties being let into the secret, as it is understood that the parents of both parties are opposed to the union. The bride is the pretty, accomplished daughter of Major J. M. Langsdorf of Salmon City, Idaho, with a bright future before him. Mr. and Mrs. Wheaton will make their future home in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Bibelow and Gus Becker returned Tuesday from Walla Walla, Wash., where the two gentlemen participated in the northwestern states shooting tournament, carrying off second prize.
