

THEY NOW MAKE ANSWER.

The Three School Trustees at Bingham Reply to Serious Charges.

After the State went to press yesterday, Messrs. P. L. Cochran, H. Bowdoin and J. J. Gregerson, the three trustees of the $2,000,000 Bingham school district, have recently placed before them the "Third District Report" by Miss Geneva Johnson, the commissioner of education, which was published in the Standard a few weeks ago. The trustees have already read the report and will shortly make their answer to it. The trustees are trustees, and the allegations are based on charges and denials of charges.

In their capacity as school trustees, the trustees have a duty to see that the money of the district is properly expended. They have a duty to see that the money is expended for the benefit of the district. They have a duty to see that the money is expended for the benefit of the district. They have a duty to see that the money is expended for the benefit of the district.

People visiting the city seem to think it a matter of necessity to visit Woodfield. The report is generally regarded with interest. The trustees are trustees, and the allegations are based on charges and denials of charges.

Field for Housebreaking. A. J. Smith, a young man who lives in the Ninth ward, was arrested in the police court yesterday afternoon on a charge of housebreaking. He was charged with breaking into a building and stealing some property.

Mr. H. D. Egan, of Bingham, brought in last night from the Standard, a fine gold brick valued at $100.00. The brick is a fine specimen of the metal.

Mr. C. D. Harkness, of Hesper, Neb., one of the directors of the Bingham school district, returned last evening from a visit to that valuable property. He is immensely pleased with the results of his visit.
