

GREAT PROBLEMS ARE WORKING OUT

Union Pacific Stockholders Watch
Latest Development Closely
As It's Important.

PROPOSE HOLDING CONCERN.

Harriman Has Scheme Wherby Shareholders Can Get Increased Dividends—Involves Millions.

The plan on foot whereby a holding company will take over the Union Pacific's stocks in other companies except in the Union Pacific and Oregon Short Line and steamship lines considered part of the system, is receiving no end of attention and consideration. More than $100,000,000 worth of stocks will be brought into the hands of the holding company if the plan goes through and Union Pacific stockholders will receive a dividend from the transfer in the shape of certification of participation in the new company.

FOR STOCKHOLDERS.

A statement issued Oct. 29, said: "Upon the call of President Harriman a meeting of the directors of the company was held today. At his suggestion the question was raised as to whether the plan of holding the securities of all companies held by the Union Pacific so that the beneficial interest therein should best accrue to the Union Pacific stockholders and their interests be accorded best protection. A special committee was appointed to take the matter up in conjunction with the president and the head of the Union Pacific board such committee to report to a subsequent meeting of the full board of directors. When a plan is decided upon it is intended to submit it to the stockholders for their approval."

The full committee is as follows: E. H. Harriman, H. C. Frick, Marvin Hughes, James L. Jones, Sullivan, Oliver Ames, P. A. Valentine, and Robert Walton Goeler.

The committee will be left to devise a scheme satisfactory to each of the three classes of stockholders, directors and stockholders. It is expected the scheme will be in operation before the adjourned Illinois Central meeting is held Nov. 10.

Harriman has also set that whatever is done or not done the $75,000,000 worth of convertible bonds will be fully protected. The Boston News bureau has this to say of the general plan:

Financial circles are wondering how various phases of the Union Pacific segregation are to be solved. One of these is the question of the convertible debenture author. I last May.

E. H. Harriman has already announced that the rights of the holders of these debentures will be taken care of. They can, of course, be taken care of in various ways, any one of which would be likely to prove acceptable to the debenture holders.

ONE GOOD METHOD.

For instance, the Union Pacific might request the holders of the debentures to surrender their securities and take in exchange therefore $100 par value Union Pacific common as it will stand after the segregation, and also $100 par value of the capital of the new corporation.

This is probably the simplest way. The question is whether the ratio of exchange originally contemplated should be modified under agreement with the debenture holders; that is to say, whether the ratio of exchange to be made in the new corporation should be on the basis of $175 of debentures for $100 Union Pacific common and $100 in the new corporation's capital, or whether the ratio of exchange should be reduced.

This settlement of the convertible debenture problem appears simple and most probable. On the other hand, the exchange might be deferred and an arrangement entered into with the debenture holders, whereby their rights would be preserved in the two corporations, the Union Pacific and the new corporation, and they would be given the privilege of exchanging into the new status of the securities whenever they desired so do.

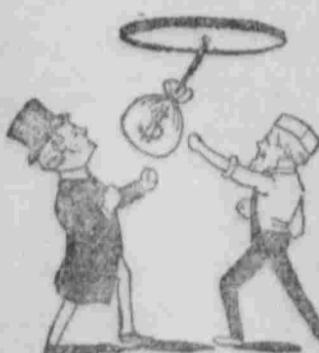

TO SHAREHOLDERS.

The central idea of this segregation seems to be to divert from the Union Pacific railroad the $35,000,000 of net earnings from investments in other properties and establish this as the source of the earnings from which it is derived in a new corporation the capital of which is to be distributed amongst the security holders of the Union Pacific, who are entitled to it.

This must be done without impairing the integrity of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific railroad systems, and probably with the view of making the Illinois Central and possibly also the Baltimore & Ohio an integral part of a new and greater Union Pacific.

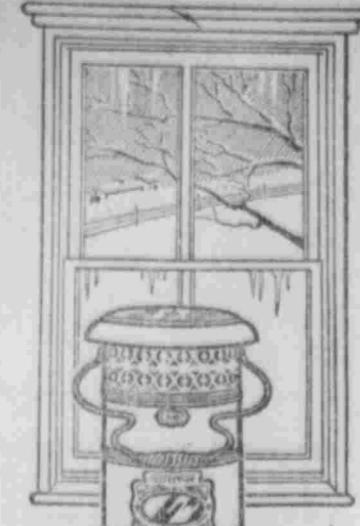

The earnings of the Southern Pacific and Illinois Central may be diverted to the new corporation, and yet the Union Pacific and Illinois Central remain vested in the Union Pacific by capitalizing the Southern Pacific and Illinois Central stocks now held in the new corporation, while retaining the stocks in question themselves in the Union Pacific treasury.

An important point to consider is that of the preferred stockholders and where they stand. If the segregation takes on the radical scope looked

THE LATE MRS. PRISCILLA SMITH TAYLOR.

Beneath a wreath of flowers the remains of Priscilla Smith Taylor were consigned to mother earth yesterday, Nov. 6.

The funeral services were held in the Fifth ward chapel of Provo, commencing at 11 a. m. Music was furnished by the ward choir with Bishop Manwaring presiding.

Condoling remarks were made by Prest. David John, Patriarch John Smith, Apostles Reed Smoot and Francis M. Lyman and Bishop Manwaring.

A large number of relatives and friends followed the remains to the cemetery where the grave was dedicated.

BANKERS' ACTION ENDORSED.

Salt Lake Real Estate Association Passes Approbatory Resolution.

At the regular meeting of the Salt Lake Real Estate association held yesterday afternoon, the following resolution was passed:

"Resolved, that the action of the Salt Lake Clearing House during the present temporary money stringency in New York in every way meets with the hearty approbation of this association."

Secy. Perkes says:

"It is the subject for community consideration that the actions of the Clearing House in casting the slightest suspicion upon the conservation and financial soundness of the Salt Lake City banks which continue to enjoy the universal confidence of our people."

DISLIKES HER HUSBAND.

Charles Brandley hardly ever comes home and when he does he is rarely sober, according to the allegations made by his wife Edith Brandley, in a complaint for divorce filed in the district court yesterday. During the time that he is away from home, he furnishes no money for the support of his wife and children, and for the above reasons she desires to get rid of him in a legal way. They were married in this city Nov. 13, 1892. Besides her bill of divorce, she asks that she be awarded the custody of her minor children and reasonable alimony.

D. Sinclair of the Scientific American was also present and spoke. His theme was "Some Things Which Have Helped Me Sell Goods." "The first essential and inclusive qualification for successful salesmanship is to hold to the rule, 'Dominate the other man.' Salesmanship is a conflict. You must conquer or be conquered. If you are conquered a few times too often the hog will not need your services. In order to dominate and conquer you must have good health. Feed well every minute, do not lose. Do not complain about your hands, about your products in general. I don't believe a word of the report that we are on the verge of a financial depression. It is all humbug, according to my observations over the country. And my faith in the continued prosperity of the country helps me to sell goods. If the customer with a dyspepsia asks for a special diet, of course I could not concur him that he could use my goods. You must know more about the article you are selling than the customer by 1,000 per cent. You must impress your customer with the fact that you know your article without seeming egotistical. Your customer expects you to know. Remember that customers are the king of the kingdom, but remember also that the difference between the dog and the master is character and intelligence."

The next meeting of the salesmanship class will be held at Greenway's furniture store Wednesday, Nov. 13.

Strange what a little thing will upset a man and keep him so all day when he ought to be alert and cheerful. A heavy, hot biscuit for breakfast has been known to create a scrap between life-long friends.

If you want a peaceful day eat a dish of Grape-Nuts (chew it slowly) and cream. The deliberate chewing of the crisp, nutty granules, which have a delicious flavor with cream, will not only put you right but give you strength of mind and body for the morning's work at the office. Try it. "There's a reason." Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville" in pkgs.

MAY TAKE FUSION INTO THE COURTS

"Americans" Declare "Fusion"
To Be Illegal and Will Make Strong Fight.

FIRST STEP WITH COUNCIL.

Hobday, Payne and Harris Will Ask
For Certificates of Election and Falling Will Go Higher.

When the city council meets to canvass the returns of the election of Tuesday, it will be asked to issue a certificate of election of Frank Harris, "American" nominee of the Fourth ward. It will also be asked to issue similar certificates to Alden E. Payne and Thomas Hobday of the First ward. This will be the first step to be taken to upset the fusion plans of the Republican and Democratic parties. If the "American" managers fail in this attempt, they will probably take the matter into the courts for a settlement, questioning the rights of the two parties named to consolidate. The three councilmen named above were defeated by the "fusion" candidates, L. E. Hall of the Fourth ward and Oliver Hodgson and John D. Murdoch of the First ward.

Yesterday the study section of the Daughters of Utah Pioneers met at the Lion house and interesting papers were read by Mrs. Eddie Enders Merrill and Mrs. Monte James Whitney respecting the captivity of the Jews and the time of Christ. Mrs. Susa Y. Gates, the president, gave an entertaining description of the opening meeting of the Logan branch of the Daughters where the greatest interest was manifested in the enterprise, a hundred members being present for enrollment. A feature of yesterday's session was the presentation to the society of a most excellent portrait of President Brigham Young done by Major J. C. Johnson. In addition, the painting of a valuable replica belonging to the society which is constantly being increased. The genealogical society meets tomorrow in the dining room at the Lion house at 3 o'clock. The board council convening an hour later. The next meeting will be with the "Reminiscence" section on Nov. 20. As this date is the birthday anniversary of the late Isabella M. Horne, one of Utah's prominent pioneer women, the reminiscences will deal with her life.

Those who contemplate the contests believe that there is no legal way by which the votes of both parties may be consolidated and their fight will be along this line. If there is no legal way, they contend that the "American" candidates are elected, and that the certificates of election must issue to them.

OTHER WARDS UNCHALLENGED.

In all other wards there will be no contest made, for in all except Fernstrom's case, the "American" received more votes than the "fusion" candidates.

Fernstrom received more votes on either the Republican or Democratic tickets than did McGinty, the "American" candidate.

The council will meet next Monday night to canvass the returns and at that time the demand for certificates of election for the "American" defeated will be made. If the council decides that it has no legal right to issue them, then the matter will fall in all likelihood to the district court to determine the legality of "fusion."

It is asserted that the filing of the protest which was overruled by Recorder John D. Murdoch was done in order to make the proper showing in court when the matter may come before it for determination. It is intended to show that every means was taken to prevent the "fusion" before election.
