CAN THE INDIAN BE RE-

CLAIMED? "THE only good Indian is a dead Indian," and "the best use you can make of an Indian is to shoot him," they did to me at Hampton I mean make of an Indian is to shoot him," are aphorisms in vogue among people called "Christians" in that part of the United States known as "The West." The were both founded on ignorance of Indian character and ignorance of Indian character and built upon the worst kind of motive

The worst kind of motive they did to me at Hampton I mean all the good things that I learn. I am teaching the children now I read the Bible and say the Lord's prayer with all the boys and the girls, and then sing one hymn. I am going to do best I can to all the children and to the Indian people that I learn. I am teaching the children now I read the Bible and say the Lord's prayer with all the boys and the girls, and then sing one hymn. I am going to do best I can to all the children and to the Indian people the children and to the Indian people the children and to the Indian people to the Dead Letter Office. built upon the worst kind of motive material. The idea that the Indians are irreclaimable and unimprovable is entirely erroneous. Degraded, bloodthirsty, dishquest, and under and to the indian and now I am not going to discourage about anything, yet I want to learn more so I am going to trying to go up and not going down, but I am going standstrong like a man. I want to be industrial man; I am Bessity I crafty and cruel, as they are, as a lidid at Hampton. I like to talk to branch of the human family there my poor friends and teach them all is within them a trace of the divine, can be cultivated and developed until in many instances it will over come the evil and make the good predominate.

This has been demonstrated in the work which has been accomplished by "Mormon" missionaries when they have been permitted to labor undisturbed among the red men, teach them the arts and habits of industry, and impart to them the principles and epirit of the general second product the good people that kind to us and teach us with your own money. "

" I am Indian I got to live same as they live but my taught is different, now so I am going to live some where out East and be a good man, so I want help. I think I can be a good so you all know, but I want to get through this that I am Davis Mada the principles and spirit of the gospel of Christ. Similar results of the boys in the government have been achieved by other school. I can go through all this laborers for the welfare of the just as well as anybody else; after I am done the best thing I am doing Indians, and we have take pleasure now I want to learn more about the on several occasions on drawing Bible and natural philosophy and attention to the success attending some other thing that the good peo-Indians, and we have take pleasure the efforts of training schools and other agencies employed for the elevation of the race supposed to hear the brand of total depravity.

The New York Graphic of a recent date, publishes an illustrated article on the Indian training school article on the Indian training school at Carlisle, Pennsylvania. It is very interesting and proves conclusively that the Indian character is not all bad but may be trained so as to shine out in all the better who live with Indian, never help Indian never help Indi lights of civilized humanity.

The Carlisle school, it appears, is three years old, and from a doubtful experiment has grown to a satisfactory certainty. It now contains 295 Indian children, among whom are the sons and daughters of White Eagle, head chief of the Poncas; and of Black Crow, American Horse and White Eagle, head chief of the Poncas; and of Black Crow, American forget soon, that is reason I want in thing to do Indian. I teach Indian Anderson Adler J Adams J Anderson Magasie J Anderso The Carlisle school, it appears, is Horse and White Thunder, noted chiefs of the Sioux.

Arapahoes, Cheyennes, Pueblos, again I think that best way. * * Apaches, Menomanees, etc., twenty-four different tribes in all, which aggregate a population of 70,000.

The education is industrial as well as literary. The boys are taught to be shoemakers, jailors, tinners, bakers, printers, carpenters, blacksmiths, wagon makers, saddlers, etc.; the girls to do all kinds of housework, sewing, e.c., and all receive a good English education-During nine months just past the following articles made by the pupils have been shipped to various Indian agencies, viz., 8,929 tin cups, coffee boilers, palls and pans; 183 sets of double | harness; 161 riding saddles; 10 halters; 9 wagons and 2 carriages; of the total value of $6,333.46. Many of the scholars have made profession of the Christian religion; they are spt to learn, and have considerable money in the savings bank, and there can be little doubt that when they grow to maturity the influence they will exerclse will be of a salutary effect.

We have previously made mention of the Hampton Institu-Since 1878 there have been 166 pupils received, from many different tribes, who are instructed in the same manner as the children at Carlisle, and with similar results. Gen. S. C. Arm. strong who is in charge says:

"Indian students have good men-

"Indian students have good mental capacities, and as a rule have bright, clear minds and excellent memories. They have earnest purpose, but are fickle as to the means of pursuing it. They have a strong sense of truth and honesty. They appreciate fair and reasonable treatment, yet have shown no marked signs of a revengeful spirit. They are apt at the trades, but lack in perseverance and endurance. As a material incentive they are paid a small sum for their labor, but they are expected to buy all their clothing excepting that which they wear when on school duty and at work."

A number of persons were taken his arrival. There is no disturbance, though about 1,200 men have quit work. Representatives of the manufacturers are here. Seven men are in consultation with them. It is impression is that they will be ordered to go to work on Jarret's arrival.

Chicago, 1.—The brickmakers are starting up again and refusing to take workmen who belong to the union. They have suffered considerable loss of time by the atrike and do not propose to be dictated to further. They say the wages paid have been large for that kind of labor and the men had no cause for complaint. A number of firms be-

Twenty-five of them were young men and five young women. Places had been secured for them in advance, and on arriving there they immediately went to work. Their conduct since then has been closely clusively, and two mills which are watched through agents and miswatched through agents and missionaries, and correspondence with them has been sedulously encouraged by their former teachers at Hampton. After the lapse of nearly eight months the results reported to General Armstrang appears to to General Armstrong appear to him to be entirely sati-factory. They show that the students retain the impressions received at the Institution and endeavor to impart them to others. The report from a Yesterday the French cabinet promissionary near the Yankton posed, and England agreed to re Agency in regard to six of them is similar to that received from others and may be considered indicative of question on the basis of statu quo,

"So far they have all done well, they are all employed at something—the boys at teaching school, shoomaking and clerking, and the girls at home. Perhaps the girls might do something more, but it is difficult here to find employment for such girls, and if they really improve their homes that is the first and greatest step towards civilization."

From the Grow Greek Agency, where three of the boys and one girl were sent, an excellent report was received. Two of them roomed together, and as a guide to visitors made out and posted up in their room a placard, of which this is the says and the basis of statu quo, namely, to resistant the sovereignt two resistant the sovereignt two resistants in the sovereignt ty of the Sultan; the position on the basis of statu quo, namely, to resistant the sovereignt two resistants in the sovereignt two of the Sultan; the position on the basis of statu quo, namely, to resistant the sovereignt two resistants in the sovereignt two resistants as guaranteed, by a firm and prudent development there in all stations, and the observance of international agreements.
