LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

FROM TUESDAY'S DAILY, APRIL 19.

Lost.—Edward Trimble, of Fillmore, lost a sack of sugar not far from Salt Creek (Nephi), several days since. He would like to have it returned to him.

"Mormon Battalion."—The surviving officers of the "Mormon Battalion" are urgently requested to send their names and postoffice addresses to Lieut. Elam Luddington, Sugar House Ward, Salt Lake County, Utah. They are wanted at Washington, and Mr. Luddington wishes to transmit them as soon as possible.

Theatrical Company Going South.—Mr. Phillip Margetts, the favorite comedian, starts with a talented company of ladies and gentlemen on a theatrical tour through the Southern settlements on the 25th of this month. They will call at Lehi, Pleasant Grove, Provo, Spanish Fork, Payson, Nephi, and the settlements of Sanpete, and will go as far as Frisco and Beaver. Our southern friends will have a treat.

Fifth Ward Floods.—The water is having it all its own way in the Fifth Ward. One man's field, garden and orchard are entirely submerged and a canal in front of his house is pouring a muddy stream over its banks almost into his very door. Every canal is running quite full and there is no immediate prospect of improvement. Something should be done to protect the property of citizens in that locality, as this annual deluge is to them becoming a trifle monotonous.

Cancer Removed.—Daniel M. Bell, of Hoytsville, a gentleman 77 years of age, writes on the 15th inst., respecting a cancer of which he has recently been relieved. He was previously a cripple from a paralytic stroke, but to add to his misery, the cancer commenced forming, about a year ago, under one of his eyes. It grew to one inch in diameter and rapidly increased in size until it became so large that a silk cord could be put around it. This was done in order to cut and pull the cancer out. It was accomplished by the tightening process within a week. The two side roots bled a little when cut. The crown root was parsnip-shaped and had six fibres. The one who did the work of removal, and to whom Mr. Bell gives much credit for skill, caution and brotherly kindness, was a boy named Freeman Mailen, a son of Samuel Mailen, of the 12th Ward. The next day after the success of the operation, he pulled out the side roots of the cancer, measuring an inch in length, and then dressed the patient's face.

Nancy Cady Wanted.—Mayor Little has received from Van R. Cady, of Kribb's Farm Post Office, Marion County, Pennsylvania, a letter of inquiry regarding the whereabouts of Nancy Cady (maiden name), a relative, supposed to be in Utah. She is the daughter of Frederick and Polly Cady, both deceased, and was born in Duanesburg, N. Y., in 1817 or 1818. After the death of her father, which occurred when she was about ten years of age, she lived with her sister Zilpah, wife of James Houghton, who resided near Albany. They removed to Michigan when Nancy was about 12 years old, and her sister dying, she was left to take care of her two boys. Nancy married James Houghton, went to Missouri, and thence to Salt Lake. James Houghton was a Mormon preacher. The whereabouts of Nancy Cady (Houghton) wanted, Jefferson Cady, her brother, having died and left property in which she has an interest. Address Van R. Cady, as above.

The Hooper Murder.—Last evening we published an account of the murder of James Drysdale, a man about 60 years old, by Peter Moore, Jr., aged between 25 and 30, at Hooper, on Sunday morning about 10 o'clock. We have since received further particulars. The following is an excerpt of the testimony given at the coroner's inquest:

"Samuel Drysdale, being duly sworn, said: 'I and my father and brother started down the road to tear down our fence. Peter Moore, Jr., and his father came over and sat down near, and Peter told my brother not to go too far. I told him when I came to his land to let me know. Joseph, my brother, said to let me know, and then Peter Moore, Jr., turned around and called my brother a —, and then took off his coat and struck my brother on the nose; so I spoke up and said I wouldn't take that, and he made for my brother again and caught him. My brother said, "My Christian friend, I don't want to fight," so he (Peter Moore) walked away and turned around, and pulled a pistol out of his pocket. My father turned toward us and told us boys to let them alone, and with that he shot at my father. He was about six feet from him when he shot. My father then leaned over and Moore shot the second time, the ball entering the back of his head. He was going to shoot the third time, when I jumped and grabbed the pistol with my right hand. His father pulled me away and I jumped behind him. The father then held me out for Peter to shoot me, and Peter drew the pistol on me. I then jumped behind his father the second time, and Peter put the pistol in his pocket and walked off."

Joseph Drysdale, being duly sworn, testified: I have been working for L. B. Adams, in Ogden and came home last night. This morning my brother and father and I started to take down the fence, and Peter Moore came up and told me not to come too far. I told him when I came too far to tell me, and with that he called me a — Irish —. I told him that I was a Christian and did not want to fight, and with that he struck me in the face, and at that I struck at him and then I took him by the collar. I let him go and he walked away and put his coat on, and then walked up to within six feet of my father. I was about ten feet from my father when Moore fired the first shot. My father bent over and Moore shot the second time the ball entering the back of the head. My father never straightened up. After the shot I sent my brother after the officers, and then Mr. Moore and his son went home, and Mr. Moore got his gun and walked about the house on the outside; this was Peter Moore, senior."

Besides this evidence, was that of Robert Todd, the man who ran forward and was threatened by Moore, after the murder, and John Hardman, who heard the threat and corroborated Todd's testimony. The coroner's jury returned the following verdict:

We, the undersigned jurors, do state that James Drysdale, whose body now lies before us, came to his death from a pistol shot from the hand of Peter Moore, Jr., of Hooper, the ball entering the back of the head about two inches from the right ear.

FROM WEDNESDAY'S DAILY APRIL 20.

Excommunicated.—William G. Heberhart, the druggist, was excommunicated from the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, on Sunday, the 17th inst., for embezzlement of funds belonging to Zion's Co-operative Mercantile Institution. All who are concerned should take notice of this announcement.

West Jordan Notes.—The Board of Directors for the West Jordan Woolen Mills effected the following organization on the 18th: President and Treasurer, Jos. Harker; Secretary, B. W. Driggs; Superintendent, John G. Wright.

Bishop A. Gardner moved upon the West Jordan (Big Canal) yesterday with a large force of men and teams, the intention being to have the water out on the bench in a very short time.

The North Jordan ditch is being pushed ahead with a will, and altogether the outlook is very encouraging for a plentiful supply of water this season.

European Missionaries.—Following is a list of the missionaries who left Ogden yesterday morning en route for Europe:

John Stoddard, J. O. Stevens, D. M. Stevens, J. L. Jensen, Joseph Graves, D. K. Jensen, T. Israelsen, A. Perry, J. P. Jensen, J. Jorgensen, G. C. Parkinson, J. E. Carlisle, O. M. Fullmer, J. M. Beus, D. McKay, R. Christofersen, W. Barker, Jens Frandsen, J. B. Thatcher, J. T. Hammond, H. H. Tracy, W. H. Apperly, D. J. Evans, J. Wadley, A. Halladay, A. C. Larsep, B. M. Roberts, W. Asper, J. Hasler, H. Jorgensen, J. M. Christesen, L. P. Christensen, R. Olsen, J. Jacobsen, T. J. Steed, G. O. Noble, J. R. Linwall, D. M. Evans, C. Wallenston, A. Alder, F. B. Woolley, C. Wilkinson, C. H. Greenwell, R. McFarland.

We are indebted for the above list to Apostle F. D. Richards. The Elders, as will be seen, number 44.

Items from Smithville.—Brother H. Weech, writing from Smithville, on the 9th, gives an encouraging report of matters in general in that part of the country.

The second anniversary of the pioneers to that region was celebrated on the 8th instant, in fine style.

The settlement is laid out in 16 blocks, 32 rods square, four lots to a block, with streets eight rods in width.

The community at first numbered but 28 souls; now it has 60 families, and numbers about 225 souls.

Irrigating canals have been dug and others are in progress; grain is planted and up.

A good day school is taught by Alfred Cluff, and a thriving Sunday School is under the superintendence of B. A. P. Newell.

The settlement has a Co-op. store kept by H. Weech, with successful results.

Horse thieves have preyed some upon the community.

The health of the colony is generally good.

FROM THURSDAY'S DAILY APRIL 21.

Promising.—"Our special artist," by name "Argus," has lately visited the Roseville Precinct of the Brighton Ward, and found the industrious grangers buoyant with expectations of a bounteous harvest. The old settlers stated that prospects were never brighter for that ward. Lucern crops are simply immense. The mushroom harvest is about ended. One gatherer of this vegetable made $15 in one day as long as the harvest lasted.

District Court.—Proceedings in the Third District Court on Thursday, April 21st, 1881, Chief Justice Hunter presiding:

People, etc., vs. Eli B. Hamilton, grand larceny; on motion of prosecution dismissed.

People, etc., vs. Edward Bird, embezzlement; defendant moves for a continuance, principal witness not present. Opposed by prosecution. Set for 28th inst.

High Water.—The floods in the southwestern part of the city are assuming alarming dimensions. The several canals are overflowing and in order to save the Fifth Ward, ditches are being dug to carry the aqueous surplus off in other directions. A ditch two blocks long is being made to connect two of the main aqueducts, and take the water in the direction of the river. As a consequence, the 7th Ward pasture is entirely under water. Supervisor Chas. Lambert with Watermaster Wilcken and a gang of 80 men, are working like beavers to save the property of citizens residing in that locality. The water gets higher day by day. Yesterday morning, a portion of the dam of the Deseret Paper Mill was swept away by the booming stream of Canyon Creek, and farmers contemplate with alarm the impending inundation of the Big Field and the lands in that vicinity. It is to be hoped this can be obviated as great loss would result. The turning of the streams into the Seventh Ward pasture is looked upon as a future benefit. The sediment carried along and deposited in the low lands around there, will make the country more level and enhance its value materially.

Wood's Enclosed Gear Mowers.

I would call special attention to the new Enclosed Gear Mower. It has less machinery, easier draft, higher drive wheels, wider on axles, noiseless in operation. Ninety farmers can testify to the above who used them last season; no farmer should purchase a mower until examining the above.
