LOGAN.

Both Sides Confident—Licensed to Wed.

Special Correspondence.

Logan, Cache Co., Nov. 5.—On the eve of election both parties are humming in Cache. Both parties are putting forth one last supreme effort to reach the people and win every vote and hamlet in the county one or two rallies will be held.

As to the probable result locally the "News" representative the following estimates:
Chairman Blair, Democrat—"I have maintained all along that we will carry the county by a majority of 1,000. We are confident of the State and county tickets."
"Whichever party wins in this county, the margin will be close. We think we will carry the city and county for McKinley and Wells, and that we will carry the county ticket, but the majority will be small."

LICENSED TO WED.

The following marriage licenses were issued today by the clerk of the county: Sarah A. Holliday, both of Leavitt; Brigham Monson, 23, and Matilda Anderson, 21, both of Richmond; Wm. E. Altred, 26, and Libbie Wallentine, 20, both of Paris, Idaho.

How to Treat a Troublesome Corn.
To remove a troublesome corn or bunion: First soak the corn or bunion in warm water to soften it, then pare it with a sharp knife, being careful not to draw blood and apply Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice daily; rubbing vigorously for five minutes at each application. A corn plaster should be worn for a few days to keep the corn from the shoe. As a general liniment for sprains, bruises, lameness and rheumatism, Pain Balm is unequalled.

GUNNISON.

Beet Growers' Convention—New Creamery—Interesting Gossip.

Special Correspondence.

Gunnison, Sanpete County, Nov. 5.—Near upon seventy families are reading the Deseret News now and your agent, J. A. Newcom, Esq., is looking out for a few more to help attain the 50,000 mark.

BEE GROWERS' CONVENTION.

A beet growers' convention is to be held at Manti on the 20th inst. and is to be supplemented by another convention at Richfield for the benefit of those interested in the beet industry living in that vicinity. It is expected that there will be a heavy attendance on the part of the representative men of the two counties. Thomas R. Cutler, manager of the Lehi plant, is expected to attend.

NEW CREAMERY.

Mr. Bishop of Fillmore is about to start a creamery here, having purchased the old separator stand. He purposes to import the necessary machinery and work up a first class business. The milk industry is being talked up, with a view of encouraging the production of milk.

Axel Elmarson of Willow Creek is preparing a portion of his large estate, for the planting of beets for producing seed.

The masons and carpenters have resumed work on the solid rock building being put up by the Co-operative Institution. It is a fine corner, but situation being very inviting for the trade of this fast growing city.

It is understood that although the farmers have been successful in best raising this season, the Rio Grande Western people have intimated that they will ship beets the coming season at the same low prices per ton that they have charged heretofore.

The brass band of Gunnison has made rapid strides in their studies and are becoming quite proficient musicians. A new house for the popular R. R. agent, C. A. Storm, Esq., will be constructed by the R. O. W. company on its grounds for his use. The station being so far from town made it quite inconvenient.

A young man named William Cowan of Mount Pleasant was in the custody of the sheriff yesterday accused of forging the name of Orange Aldrich to a check for forty dollars.

Bishop reports some five marriages in happy contemplation for the near future. Thus Gunnison is in-

WHAT CAUSES DEAFNESS.

The Principal Cause is Curable but Generally Overlooked.

Many things may cause deafness, and very often it is difficult to trace a cause. Some people inherit deafness. Acute diseases like scarlet fever sometimes cause deafness. But by far the most common cause of loss of hearing is catarrh of the head and throat.

A prominent specialist on ear troubles gives as his opinion that nine out of ten cases of deafness is traced to throat trouble; this is probably overstated but it is certainly true that more than half of the cases of ear troubles are caused by catarrh.

The catarrhal secretion in the nose and throat finds its way into the Eustachian tube and by clogging it up very soon affects the hearing and the hardening of the secretion makes the loss of hearing permanent, unless the catarrh which caused the trouble is cured.

Those who are hard of hearing may think this a little far fetched, but any one at all observant must have noticed how a hard cold in the head will affect the hearing and that catarrh if long neglected will certainly destroy the sense of hearing and ultimately cause deafness.

If the nose and throat are kept clear and free from the unhealthy secretions of catarrh, the hearing will be greatly improved and anyone suffering from deafness and catarrh can satisfy themselves on this point by using a fifty cent box of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, a new and certain cure, which in the past year has won the approval of thousands of catarrh sufferers as well as physicians, because it is in convenient form to use, contains no cocaine or other drugs, and is pleasant for children as for their elders.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets is a whole-some combination of Blood root, Guaiacum, Eucalyptus and similar antiseptic sprays, which in the past year has won the approval of thousands of catarrh sufferers as well as physicians, because it is in convenient form to use, contains no cocaine or other drugs, and is pleasant for children as for their elders.

As one physician aptly expresses it: "You do not have to draw upon the imagination to discover whether you are getting benefit from Stuart's Catarrh Tablets; improvement and relief are apparent from the first tablet taken."

All druggists sell and recommend them. They cost but fifty cents for full sized package and any catarrh sufferer who has wasted time and money on sprays, salves and other remedies will appreciate to the full the merit of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

creasing and its broad domain being built up and inhabited.
The Christensen House is well patronized by the traveling public; during the past month it has had a big run of business, and the management is well pleased. Uncle Theodore with his dry humor makes the guests feel at home and anxious to reach his hospitable place again.

Scotfield, Utah, Nov. 5.—Andrew Johnston, driver in No. 1 mine, was badly hurt this afternoon. He fell from the front of a trip of cars which ran on him, bruising his head and left leg, and his right arm is supposed to be broken.

PARTIES IN CHINA.

he Emperor's Alliance with the Liberals.

"There are just two parties in China, the liberal and the conservative. The latter is the outgrowth of centuries of domination over Eastern Asia. It is the party that is selfish and self-sufficient, the party totally ignorant of the world outside of China. The word China in the original Chinese means the center of the plane surface of the earth. The liberal party is the offspring of the present generation, and the official head of this party is the young Emperor or Kwang Hsu. He is a man that has been judged of less than average ability. Despite this, he is in fact, one of the most remarkable potentates, William of Germany not excepted, on the stage of the world today.

THE REFORM CLUB AT PEKIN.

"Outside the walls that confined Kwang Hsu the reform movement was begun by the founding of the Reform club at Peking. Not long after the club had been put on a permanent basis, one of its energetic members called on me to learn the names and addresses of the leading magazines and newspapers published in the United States, I gave him the required list. Soon I ascertained that other members had likewise secured lists of English, German, French and Russian publications. This reading matter was subscribed for by the club but members might keep in touch with the outer world. Hardly had the proselyting influence of the Reform club begun to spread when the cautious conservative party caused it to be suppressed because it was a menace to the government. But although the doors of their club were shut, the reformers to the minds of young men had been opened for always to the light of new knowledge.

"During the summer of 1898 I was engaged with Han Lin, a noted literary graduate in the last year translating a book on mental philosophy into Chinese. One day we heard that the emperor had issued an edict to abolish the examination essay as part of the great examinations.

"What will be the result of this edict?" I asked Han Lin.
"Some will like it, and some will not," he answered, disconcerted for by a few days later the emperor issued another edict, allowing all officials to memorialize him in sealed memorials on the provisions of the first edict.

"Again I asked the opinion of Han Lin.
"Some will approve of it, and some will not," was all I could draw from him.

"Then one after another those wonderful edicts came forth from the palace in such rapid succession as to take our breath away. Indeed, they almost took the emperor's breath away definitely. In a few weeks when the emperor returned from the summer palace, Kwang Hsu was put in that confinement from which he has not yet been liberated.

REFORMS ALREADY MADE.

"It must not be supposed, however, that these reforms were the result of reform but results. The emperor had succeeded in establishing in a few weeks a university which still stands, and which is under the influence of Dr. W. A. P. Martin, one of the best educators that has ever been in China.

"The principal departments of the university are for the study of the languages of the Allied Powers. In addition, are the departments of law and of medicine. Also there is the gymnasium, which was a revelation to the students. The gymnasium was directed by a Frenchman, a very accomplished athlete. While most of the apparatus was imported from Europe, many things were turned out by Chinese mechanics. All the bicycles that could be bought were procured, and a bicycle club was organized by the students. It was not long before I heard of a broken arm or of ten cases of the new wheel enthusiasts.

"In addition, there is a university at Tien Tien, which is on a very firm base. Still another is at Nankin. There is a college in Shanghai and other institutions of less note in various parts of the country. Thus, although the conservative party is still in power and has almost destroyed the source of its anti-foreign principles and conduct, these young reformers are continuing to prepare themselves to carry out the reforms they know will come in the future."—T. T. Headland in Almingle.

THE ROOM AT THE TOP IS GROWING.

Daniel Webster said a great many good and true things, in his time, but he never said anything better or truer than: "There is always room at the top." There is more room there now than ever before. The room is growing, and it is to be occupied, not by people born to it as tenants, but by those who have the courage to believe in themselves, and the ability to struggle until they reach it.

The great hunger of the time is for men. There is a great need of men enough good men to go around. There is competition for those that are available. There is plenty of room, plenty of opportunity, no matter what business you enter, if you have the courage to come in contact with men. Your wits are sharpened. You meet cranks and peculiar men of all kinds, but you must learn to put up with their peculiarities. Always keep your feet on the ground. If a man is cross, don't get cross, but make him feel small by being good-natured. Success comes with good nature; remember that, and always stick to your guns. If you look dark and are apparently against you, do not be discouraged. If you are, you will begin to feel that everything is designed to keep you down, and all are against you. They will be, if you let them feel that master you. Concentration of thought and action wins. A purpose, definite and fixed, rallies the whole man, and he goes for his object with his whole soul. It is the man who attempts to do a dozen things who fails. He scatters his forces to such an extent that he accomplishes nothing. He hits nothing hard, his best blows do not amount to much; they may amuse or entertain, but that is all. He needs to localize his efforts. It is the human element of power that carries great reforms, achieves mighty revolutions, and makes the world better. It is the power that is now pushing the world forward in its marvelous progress.

One lesson I want to impart, and fix in your minds. You must say no to your desires. It is the man who says no to his desires who succeeds. Find out what kind of capacities you have, [everybody has some], and work those for all they are worth. If you do this, you will be successful. You may not be able to write an opera, fight a great battle, or paint a great picture, but you will succeed in that thing which you have undertaken. You will be a success. Life has no greater prize for any man.—H. H. Vreeland in "Success" for November.
