Augusta, Maine, Aug. 15.-A great mass meeting was held in the City Hail this afternoon, to express welcome to Hon. J. G. Blaine, 3,000 persons were present. When Mr. Blaine appeared in the corridor of the building a great shout went up from the crowd outside, and was re-echoed by throngs in the hall, the men cheering and the ladies waving their handker-

General Leman ascended the plat-form, and General Henry B. Clewes was called upon to preside. He spoke briefly on introducing Blaine, who in response said: Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen:—I should not have left my home for a day after my arrival but for my desire to feel myself once more in touch with those whom I have previously fought in many a good republican contest [cheers], and once more to compare notes with those mpon whose wisdom the party has always relied—namely, the republican masses—as to what should be done in a crisis in the political affairs of the country and in the history of the party which is its great defender. When President Cleveland delivered his message he had something to say to the American peohad something to say to the American peo-ple about the danger of "trusts." I shall venture to say they are altogether advantageous. They are largely private affairs, with which neither President Cleveland nor any private person has a particular right to interfere, and it is from that point that I wish to impress upon you that trusts are not the outgrowth nor in any way the incident of the protective policy as the President charges. The protective policy no more breeds what the President considers as a postilence, than does the veriest

The very day before I sailed for home, just a fortnight ago, I clipped from a London journal an item stating that all manufacturers of coffus and the undertakers of the United Kingdom had gone into trusts (laughter) that if consisted of $2.00.000 capital which, in the language of $2.00.000 capital which, in the language of a large number of "preferential" bonds, and that the yearly death rate might be expected to yield a semi-annual dividend of 12 per cent. (Laughter.) Now, I think, my friends, that we might safely bury all the President's predictions of evil from trusts in this country in the grave where these coffus are about to go, preferential bond and all, and we might to this safely by showing that so far from a pretective policy generates thus I leave the question.

In Maine we are not able to devote ourselves wholly to national elections, but primarily, to state election, and I am glad that both parties have nominated gontiemen of unexceptional personal character and respectability, standing high in their community, against whom personall had glad to say so (Dheers) for it leaves the contest where it should rest—on principle. Mr. Putnam, I judge from a speech of his which I hold in my hand, and which I read in the Portland Argus of August 9th, is very uneasy in regard to the charges that have been brought against him concarning the very disadvantageous treaty he aided in making, giving away, as I thin in a large de-citle right of the provided of the making, giving away, as I thin in a large de-citle right of the provided it would be sheer presumption in the read in the restant has been brought against him concarning the very disadvantageous treaty he aided in making, giving away, as I thin in a large de-citle right of the provided in the season of the seminary and the restant of the first provided in the season of the seminary of the seminary of the seminary of the semin

(Great applanse.) I said to myself then, as I say to you now, that in my judgment the United States would dishonor itself for all time if by any negotiation or for any consideration it should surrender one jot of the rights of those gallant, generous and brave men. The American National Convention Have a Grand Split up. WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 .- At the secand day's session of the national convention of the American party the temporary officers were made permanent. The committee on platform made a majority and a minority report. Both were received with great applause and finally recommitted with instructions to report this afternoon. Recess.

When the convention reassembled the committee on platform made a further report recommending toat each state and territory represented be allowed one vote in the convention for each congressional district and two at

Judge Church submitted a minority dissenting report. The New York dele-gate vigorously protested against the adoption of the report. Governor Sharp offered a resolution pledging the convention to nominate independent candidates for President and Vice-President. A long discussion followed during which it was intimated that the New York delega-tion was in somebody's pay. The pre-vious question being called for, Gov-ernor Sharp's motion was put and carried by an almost unanimous vote.

A substitute motion that New York e allowed one vote in the convention for every two delegates present from that state, was lost by a vote of 30

A republican conference of senators A republican conference of senators has been called for this evening to decide upon the order of business for the rest of the session. It is generally expected the Senate tariff bill, especially the several points held in reserve by the committee, including salt, lumber and wool will furnish the texts for the main discussions. The republican senators held a conference this evening at the residence of Chandler, at which all but two or three republican senators now in the ity were present. Senator Allison was authorized by the caucus to make a statement to the press. "We had a conference," he said, "on order of business, and arranged so far as we are concerned, the order in which the measures are to be taken up, which order we shall submit to the democratic capture to provide the capture of the cratic caucus tomorrow. I can't recal the order, but will give it to you in the morning. It comprises all the important measures now pending. Then we had a formal talk about the tariff but took no action."

"Well, are you going to pass a tariff

Why, nothing new was determined. "Was there any proposition to revise the action of the former caucus?"

"No; the subject was not discussed."

Any appropriation bills which may be awaiting action will then be taken up and disposed of. When these are out of the way Senator Chandler's Jackson (Miss.) outrage resolution will be brought forward and there is likely to he a debate on the election franchise in the South in general. Bills for the admission of North Dakota, Washing-ton Territory and Montana into the Union of States will next be in order.
